A Lion in Four Hours.
Tell 'Em Quick and Often.
Flirtatious Gangster.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

CHICAGO, May 27.

YESTERDAY WAS straw hat day in Chicago, warm summer weather which was appropriate, a heavy rain storm at noon, bad for straw hats.

Chicago takes "our depression" cheerfully. A Chicago man will tell you:

"I don't know whether we have reached bottom or not, but I know the bottom is there, won't run away, and I am not worrying."

George Buckley, of Wall street, New York, who absorbed business cheerfulness in Chicago, passing through to visit the folks in Iowa, expressed the feeling of many Chicagoans:

"There is nothing the matter with me that a million dollars would not cure."

This building, with 4,000,000 feet of floor space, should be duplicated in other big cities when times get better. The railroad runs under it delivering goods, and there is a private freight platform for trucks, 700 feet long. The railroad owns the ground, the building owns the air and the small amount of ground in which its supporting columns are buried.

JAMES SIMPSON is away showing Africa and Asia a few samples of Chicago efficiency. His son was shooting in Africa. James Simpson took an airplane in Egypt, flew down to the country where lions roar and bite, and shot his first lion four hours after he landed. Thence he proceeded to India to shoot tigers and will be back in a week.

Greater efficiency hath or could have no man than this, unless he should bring his live lions to Chicago and shoot them on the lake front.

P. K. WRIGLEY, carrying on the business of his father, the late William Wrigley, Jr., is a good thermometer of business conditions. Everybody that sells anything also sells his product. His father used to say he had 110 per cent distribution, 100 per cent of those that ought to sell chewing gum, and 10 per cent that had no business selling it.

Two hundred thousand small distributors have folded their tents like the Arabs and no longer distribute. But Mr. Wrigley says business conditions satisfy him, thanks to the fact that he lives up to his father's advertising motto:

"Tell 'em quick and tell 'em often."

Other advertisers might borrow that slogan.

DR. RICHELLE YARROS, intelligent young woman who supervises family consultation for the Illinois Social Hygiene League, asserts positively that husbands do not want to be flighty and uncertain.

They want to settle down permanently, they want to be faithful, they are at heart almost as monogamous as the wild gander that never takes a new mate when the goose dies, but spends its life mourning, although eating heartily.

In fact, Dr. Yarros says, men that have not found the right woman and settled down to permanency, are pitifully lonely.

MR. GUS SANGER, kidnaping gangster, has made a discovery important to kidnapers, namely, that the kidnaper should attend to one thing at a time. He and his comrades kidnaped Dr. Max Gecht and wife. They deprived the wife of all her clothing and chained her to the foot of the bed, that she might not escape, but offered no other violence.

Foolish Gus Sanger mixed lovemaking with kidnaping and arranged to meet Mrs. Gecht on her return to private life.

That intelligent lady, who believes in punishing wrongdoers, encouraged him sufficiently to secure his arrest and that of his gang. One escaped, two will go to prison for life. The susceptible Mr. Sanger turned state's evidence and got off.

MANAGUA REPORTS that United States Marines have killed 17 Nicaraguan rebels. Airplanes helped in the killing. Doubtless the Nicaraguans had done something that justified our going down there to punish their brigands.

Might it not be a good idea to have other marines sent to our big cities to interfere with the activity of homegrown brigands? We have some.

ROY KNIGHT and Edward Nelson, convicts in the Statesville prison suffering from painful burns on face and arms, illustrate the fact that it is difficult to enforce prohibition.

They had a little soup can and a length of rubber hose in their cell and made "fairly palatable" alcohol out of sugar and potatoes, until their still exploded and burned them. Warden Hill explained:

"Sometimes the boys get pretty thirsty down here."

MR. RUFUS DAWES is cheerful about the big "century of progress" exposition now sure to open on time June 1, 1933. That will be a good thing for Chicago, and the two political conventions next month have caused all hotel rooms to be engaged and will put a great deal of money in circulation.

Politicians have money and make it circulate.

SALES TAX PLAN PRESENTED IN SENATE

WALKER'S TESTIMONY ATTACKED

Park Commissioner Asserts He Delivered Stock to N. Y. Mayor's Secretary

NEW YORK, May 27.—(AP.) — Park Commissioner Walter R. Herrick testified before the Hofstadter Legislative Committee today that in the fall of 1926 he bought 300 shares of Interstate Trust Company stock and paid for them with $39,000 which was sent to him from the City Hall by either Mayor James J. Walker or his secretary, Edward Stanton.

Mayor Walker, while on the stand yesterday and Wednesday, denied he had ever owned "directly or indirectly" any Inter-State stock. The Mayor testified a block of the stock had been laid aside for him when the company was organized, and that he told several of his friends, including Herrick, they might buy some of it, but that he had never bought any himself.

DELIVERED STOCK

Harrick said today that whether the $39,000 came to him from the Mayor or from Stanton, there was no doubt in his mind that the purchase was made for Mayor Walker. He said he delivered the stock to Stanton, with the understanding it was to go to the Mayor.

Herrick testified that some time later he asked the Mayor if he still had the stock. He said the Mayor replied:

"No, I put it up for collateral on a loan, and it's all gone."

Walker denied on the stand yesterday he had ever held any such conversation with Herrick. Herrick testified today:

"Either my recollection is wrong, or the Mayor's is wrong. I don't know which."

Just before Herrick took the stand, Samuel Seabury, counsel for the committee, in reply to a motion of Democratic members of the committee that all testimony taken since April 26 be stricken from the record, declared that Walker's testimony had been "vague on all points" and that Russell T. Sherwood's "flight in the face of accusation is some evidence of guilt."

Seabury said:

"There is no reason why Sherwood should fear investigation if he were the agent of others. He knew he was being

COSTS OR JAIL FOR O'MALLEY

If Pat O'Malley, Republican chairman of the Second Ward, and three of his political followers haven't paid $572.10 they owe the county by 3 p. m. today, Sheriff Frank I. Gollmar said he'd ask Judge Elder W. Marshall to jail them until the bill is paid.

But O'Malley's attorney, Edward G. Coll, assured Gollmar that the bill will be paid today.

The sum represents the costs of prosecuting O'Malley and his friends on charges of violating the election laws. They were acquitted in February, but the verdict directed them to pay the costs.

The other three are Michael McMahon, William Gallagher and James Lardo.

Walsh Gets Year in Jail, Appeal Stays Sentence

Constable Paul Walsh, son of Police Supt. Peter P. Walsh, was sentenced to one year in jail and fined $300 today by Judge Davis W. Henderson, of Fayette County. He was convicted of conspiracy to violate the election laws in the September primaries.

The sentence carried a proviso that he be paroled after 60 days if his behavior justified. His counsel, Charles B. Prichard, immediately filed a supersedeas in Superior Court for a new trial, which automatically delayed execution of the sentence and Walsh's forfeiture of office.

Sol Klein, battalion fire chief, convicted with Walsh, will not be sentenced until the September term of court. The stay was asked by his counsel to permit him to retire on a pension in August.

Both men were charged with furnishing 900 ficticious names to former Subordinate Tax Assessor Frank Alpert. Alpert turned state's evidence. He will be sentenced later.

Miss Orcutt in Lead With 73; Mrs. Reed, Local Star, Out

SAUNTON England, May 27.—(AP.)—Maureen Orcutt, long-driving American woman golfer from Englewood, N. J., today shot a 73 in the first qualifying round of the British women's golf championship to lead the field.

Mrs. Rene LaCoste, of France, was second with a 75, and Virginia Van Wie, American star, and Mrs. J. B. Watson, British internationalist, followed with 77 each.

Mrs. Leona Cheney joined the ranks of American low-scorers with a nice 78.

The British internationalist, Mrs. J. B. Watson, and her American teammate, Virginia Van Vie, both scored 77s.

Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare, former American champion, posted an 80 for her first round; Mrs. O. S. Hill, of Kansas City, had a shaky 88, and Virginia Holsderber, of Baltimore, practically stroked her way out of the tournament with a score of 102.

Mrs. Earl Reed, of Pittsburgh, withdrew because of a foot injury.

Mrs. Harley Higbie, of Detroit, the sixth American to finish, posted an 84, but Helen Hicks, the American champion, required 88 strokes for her first 18, necessitating much better golf tomorrow in the final 18 if she is to qualify.

It had started to rain when Miss Hicks went out and she had to play around in oilskins, considerably hampering her strokes.

FEAR OF SPLIT OVER DRY LAW ROCKS G.O.P.

Borah's Threat to Bolt If Party Favors Referendum Worries Hoover and Aides

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—The dread specter of a prohibition controversy so keen and so bitter that it will split the party as it has not been split since 1912 rose up to haunt Republican leaders today as they debated the wisdom of putting a resubmission plank in their 1932 platform.

A fortnight ago, after Ohio had plopped into the anti-dry column and the drys had experienced defeats in other normally Republican states, it appeared virtually certain that the moist Republicans would have their way at Chicago and write into the party platform a plank calling for resubmission. Eight members of President Hoover's cabinet favored it, and so did the leaders of most of the larger states.

President Hoover himself was variously reported as wavering and as having been won over to the idea.

BORAH THREATENS

The situation was entirely different today. For that strangely influential figure in Republican councils, Senator William E. Borah (Rep.), of Idaho, has set his face uncompromisingly against it. Moreover, he has served notice on the White House and upon the party leadership generally that if the party attempts to deal with the question at Chicago by adopting an anti-dry plank he will take the stump against it—and those who stand for it—in the ensuing campaign.

It is the Borah idea that a constitutional question should not be made a party issue. It has been attempted, he pointed out, only twice in history—once on the issue of slavery, and now on prohibition.

Borah's ultimatum—and it can be called that—was served upon Mr. Hoover personally. He went to the White House last week, not upon his own initiative, but at the President's request, and after a group of dry leaders had informed Mr. Hoover that they were willing to accept any prohibition plank that was agreeable to the Idahoan.

HOOVER'S FAITH SHAKEN

It was after Borah's visit to the White House that the President called in a group of leaders from

COL. COULTER HURT IN CRASH

GREENSBURG, Pa., May 27.—Col. Henry W. Coulter and R. H. Jamison, of Greensburg, were injured this morning, when Coulter's auto skidded on a sharp curve on the Lincoln highway, east of Ligonier. The men, en route to attend a trustee's meeting at Mercersburg Academy, were brought to a hospital here.

Col. Coulter, an officer in the 110th Infantry during the World War, and identified with coal and industrial companies of Westmoreland County, suffered a broken arm, two fractured ribs and possible head injuries. Jamison, president and director of numerous coal companies and banking institutions, was injured only slightly.

According to reports the automobile turned over three times.

Police Use Oxygen, Save Woman's Life

Four tanks of oxygen were administered to Mrs. Katherine Knapp, 79, of 829 Suismon street, reported "sinking" early today after a long illness of hardening of the arteries. Although still dangerously ill, her condition was reported as "fair." The oxygen was administered by Wagonmen Harry Bush and Ephriam Retchlous, of the North Side Police Station. It was the second time in two weeks they have been called upon to perform a similar duty.

PROBE EVASION OF PAYLESS FURLOUGHS

Kerr Threatens to Withhold Month's Salary From All Employes Dodging Layoff

A sweeping investigation to reveal whether city employes have been evading the month's furlough without pay, as ordered by City Council, was started today under the direction of Controller J. P. Kerr.

Probability that the payless furlough, ordered to reduce the cost of city government, has been ignored was seen in this statement by Dr. Kerr:

"In looking over the salary list several days ago I observed there was little difference in the amount paid out this year and for the same period last year. I have asked for data as it refers to the payrolls of the police and fire bureaus, with a view to checking up not only those payrolls, but the payrolls of all other departments."

Kerr's statement followed this charge, made yesterday by J. W. Bamford, of the Building Owners' and Managers' Association:

"The furlough system is a failure because there is cheating under the system. The furloughs have saved some money, but not sufficient to keep within budget estimates."

In setting up the 1932 budget Council insisted city employes take one month without pay as a step to balance the budget. Today Kerr threatened:

"If the plan arranged by Council is not followed, the final month's pay of all employes affected will be withheld."

Lang Urges Cuts To Meet Budget

Public Works Director E. G. Lang, in conference today with bureau heads, urged them to cut all expenditures to the limit, and eliminate all non-essential activities, men and materials to keep within the 1932 budget. He asked each submit a summary as to bureau appropriations and expenses.

MRS. ANNENA ELLIS FRIESELL

ARREST WOMAN BANK CLERK

Mrs. Annena Ellis Friesell, 35, of 4901 Friendship avenue, former bookkeeper and accountant of the closed Bloomfield Trust Company, was arrested today charged with making false entries.

Information was made before Alderman T. A. Flanigan by Hill Burgwin, Special State Deputy Secretary of Banking, in charge of the closed institution. The amount involved was said to have been around $3,900.

Mrs. Friesell, was released in $1,500 bond for a hearing June 2.

Mrs. Friesell's bond was provided by Walter F. McQuiston, as agent for the Maryland Surety Company. The name of W. F. McQuiston appeared in the list of nine accounts in connection with which the alleged false entries were said to have been made.

SPONSORS CLAIMING MAJORITY

Walsh Offers Amendment; Awaits Opportunity to Bring Issue to Vote

WASHINGTON, May 27.—(AP.)—The 1.75 per cent sales tax amendment was introduced today in the Senate by Senator Walsh (Dem.), of Massachuetts.

The Massachusetts Senator awaited an opportunity to bring the issue to a vote.

Walsh has carefully withheld the sales tax proposal until the special excise rates were voted upon. He wants to substitute the general sales levy for the excise rates.

The sales tax proposal, for which its sponsors were claiming a bare majority, would exempt food, clothing, medicine, farm implements and publications.

Senator Smoot said after a morning visit to the White House that he believed sentiment was growing in the Senate for a general sales tax.

Another Senator who called—Copeland (Dem.), of New York—said he told Mr. Hoover he also believed sentiment was growing for the sales tax.

LEVIES WRITTEN IN

The Senate yesterday wrote some $60,000,000 of miscellaneous excises into the bill. This paved the way for a contest over the sales tax, since opponents of the special taxes protested against alleged discrimination and demanded that all industry share the burden of a moderate manufacturers' tax.

A pledge to balance the budget was made last night by Senator Watson, Republican floor leader; Senator Robinson, Democratic floor leader; Senator Smoot, Senator Harrison, ranking Democrat on the Finance Committee; Senator Reed, of Pennsylvania, and Senator Walsh (Dem.), of Massachusetts.

Sales Tax Approval In House Indicated

WASHINGTON, May 27.—(INS.)—Approval of a manufacturers' sales tax in the House is virtually assured if the Senate writes it into the tax bill.

This declaration was made privately today by a Republican member who is conducting an active canvass of House members who rejected the tax on the first vote.

A switch of 36 votes in the House would be sufficient to approve the levy.

Acting Chairman Crisp (Dem.), of the Ways and Means Committee, declined to predict House action but said many Democrats had come to him voluntarily and offered support. He said he was advised that about 30 members had indicated they would change their vote.

A Republican member, who made a canvass on support for a 1 per cent manufacturers' levy, said that on the basis of his check thus far enough members would change their vote to assure passage.

ERK PLAN TO SPEED RECOVERY SUBMITTED TO HOOVER

CONGRESSMAN URGES JOINT ACTION

Estep Joins Colleague in Proposing Committee to Map War on Depression

WASHINGTON, May 27.—(AP.)—Representatives Erk and Estep (Reps.), of Pittsburgh, carried to the White House yesterday Erk's plan for a joint congressional committee to map out a gigantic campaign against depression.

After an hour's discussion with Walter H. Newton, secretary to President Hoover, Erk said he had received no discouragement and was invited to return to the White House today. He refused to say whether he would see the President today.

MEETS HOOVER'S VIEWS

In a formal statement issued after he returned from the White House, Erk said the President's assertion "a larger and more effective relief to unemployment can be secured by increased aid in income producing work" was in line with his own suggestion made when he introduced a resolution calling for establishment of the committee. He said:

"This is the main feature which is hoped will be accomplished through actio on my resolution—the centering of all government aid, encouragement and activity toward restoration of business and industry.

"This is an extraordinary procedure. It has never been done before, but the leaders of both the Republican and Democratic parties in Congress, while they declared the plan is amazing, agree that it should be done.

DARING ACTION NEEDED

"These are abnormal and perilous times, and the problems before us are so extraordinary that they call for extraordinary methods in their solution."

Estep joined Erk, the latter said, to "meet the desired ends" of both without delay.

The committee, Erk proposed in his resolution, would include 26 Senators and 28 Representatives representing both major political parties.

BONUS MARCH NEARS PENNA.

The vets, on their way to Washington to demand a cash settlement of their adjusted service certificates, unloaded from Indiana National Guard trucks and climbed aboard a fleet of Ohio Highway Commission trucks. A few minutes later their journey eastward was resumed.

Ohio had sent a fleet of 35 fast trucks in charge of Col. E. W. Fuhr to transport the veterans. He said he hoped to land the travelers in Montgomery by lunch time and in Zanesville for a night halt.

Indiana took over the "bonus brigade" last Wednesday. The bonus seekers were brought into this state on privately owned trucks furnished at East St. Louis, Ill., where the veterans had "captured" a Baltimore and Ohio freight train.

WHEELING, W. Va., May 27.—(AP.)—The advance guard of the American Legion "bonus army" reached Wheeling today to make arrangements for the arrival of the main "army" Saturday noon. The "army" will be met in Bridgeport across the river in Ohio by a cavalcade of trucks and cars. After lunch in Wheeling, the men will be taken to West Alexander, on the Pennsylvania-West Virginia line.

$12,750,000 Voted Veterans by House

WASHINGTON, May 27.—(AP.)—An emergency deficiency appropriation of $12,750,000 for veterans expenditures was passed today by the House and sent to the Senate.

Chairman Byrns of the appropriations committee said the legislation was necessary to meet pension payments coming due June 4.

outside of Washington who have been most active in promoting the resubmission plank—Charles D. Hilles of New York, Joseph R. Nutt of Cleveland, James Francis Burke of Pittsburgh, and also Postmaster General Walter F. Brown, perhaps the most industrious of all in pushing it.

They talked at length, but if they came to any conclusions the fact was carefully concealed. On the contrary, the impression strongly obtained that the meeting broke up with the resubmissionists sticking to their guns and Mr. Hoover's earlier confidence in the wisdom of their course badly shaken.

President Hoover is extremely desirous of having Borah on his side in the forthcoming battle. He has not forgotten the yeoman work done by Borah in 1928 when he grimly trailed Al Smith through state after state and inflamed the West against the Democratic candidate.

Now the vision of Borah stumping in opposition to the Republican platform and its candidates in 1932 on the dry issue or worse still, forming an alliance with Gifford Pinchot, of Pennsylvania, in a third-party dry ticket, is one that is exceedingly uncomfortable to contemplate. The mere thought of it has reduced the Republican high command to a state of uncertainty and indecision.

Dry Fight Launched By Bishop Cannon

WASHINGTON, May 27.—(INS.)—A warning notice was served today on every member of Congress by Bishop James Cannon, Jr., speaking for the board of temperance and social service of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, that all suggestions for resubmission, repeal or modification planks in the Democratic and Republican platforms this year will be opposed to the bitter end.

The warning was served by letter to each individual member.

PINCHOT OPENS FIRE ON MARTIN

POTTSVILLE, Pa., May 27.—(AP.)—Gov. Gifford Pinchot, in an address here last night, reiterated that personnel and payroll increases in the Treasury Department, headed by Gen. Edward Martin, state Republican chairman, have proportionately exceeded such increases in departments under executive jurisdiction.

Speaking at the meeting of the Insurance Federation of America, the Governor said that personnel increases in departments under his control had totaled 4.6 per cent in the last 13 months and payroll increases 4.3 per cent, as against a 15 per cent increase in employees in the Treasury Department.

Gov. Pinchot said that in spite of the increase in government work made necessary by the economic situation Pennsylvania is being run more economically and at less cost now than it was before he came into office.

investigated in relation to the Mayor."

SAFE DEPOSIT BOX

Seabury insisted that it stands in the evidence that Sherwood had a joint safe deposit box with the Mayor. He said:

"True, we have the statement of the Mayor, unsupported by evidence, that, although it was in their joint names, nothing went into it.

"In addition we have proof showing that Sherwood was and had been for many years the agent of the Mayor, and that in a written application for a position he said he was an accountant and confidential secretary at $3,500 a year.

"You have evidence that from January 1, 1926 (the date Mayor Walker went into office) until he fled, nearly $1,000,000 into Sherwood's accounts."

Although the courtroom was less crowded than it was yesterday and Wednesday while Walker was on the stand, all seats were taken. Today's crowd apparently was more friendly to Seabury than the crowds of the last few days. He was cheered several times during his summary, and the Democrats who kept objecting were hissed.

While the hearings continued at the county Courthouse, Mayor Walker went about his regular routine. He arrived at the City Hall early in the afternoon and went to the board of estimate room, where he was given a brief ovation and took his place on the dais to preside over the board's regular meeting.

He declined to comment on his testimony of the past two days or on testimony given by Herrick.

HEARINGS SET FOR GARNER'S RELIEF BILL

Speaker Quotes Hoover Speeches as Favorable to Legislation He Advocates

WASHINGTON, May 27.—(AP.)—Acting Chairman Crisp today set Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of next week for hearings before the House Ways and Means Committee on Speaker Garner's $2,100,000,000 relief bill.

On Tuesday the committee will hear those favorable to the bill, headed by Speaker Garner himself; on Wednesday those opposed and on Thursday administration officials, including Secretary Mills and Charles G. Dawes, head of the Reconstruction Corporation.

SPEEDY ACTION

The bill goes into the hopper today. The committee will seek to complete consideration quickly, Crisp said.

"By next Friday we can begin work on the final draft of the bill in executive session."

As plans went ahead for expediting the legislation, Speaker Garner told newspapermen that President Hoover had approved public works construction to relieve unemployment along the line of his $2,147,000,000 relief bill.

Speeches made by the chief executive in 1928 urging a billion-dollar program were recalled by the Speaker, and he quoted from Mr. Hoover's speech of acceptance at Palo Alto and his later address at Newark in August and September of 1928.

ROUGH DRAFT READY

Garner said the printed measure approved by the Democratic conference yesterday was "a rough draft, which will have to be perfected," and that many of the items carried in it would have to be eliminated. He added:

"The reason our plan is sound is because it carries a tax of one-fourth of one cent a gallon on gasoline to meet the sinking fund requirements and interest on any bond issue necessary for the billion dollar construction program.

"Other relief proposals in another branch of this Congress do not provide a means of meeting the interest or the sinking fund. Our bill is the only one thus far presented that carries that necessary provisions."

Garner estimated the return from the gasoline levy at $42,500,000, which, he added, "will be more than enough to meet the interest and which will not disturb the budget, but help it, if anything, toward becoming balanced."

Erie Commissioners Urge Relief Session

ERIE, Pa., May 27.—(INS.)—Erie County Commissioners today formally petitioned Gov. Gifford Pinchot to call a special session of the State Legislature for unemployment relief in a telegram which stated there is "an urgent need for $750,000 in Erie County to care for the unemployed and needy during the remainder of the year."

At the Governor's conference in Harrisburg Thursday, County Controller E. B. Willis said "inhabitants would suffer heavily for want of food unless funds are made available."

Hawley's Tariff Proposal Beaten

WASHINGTON, May 27.—(INS.)—The Hawley bill designed to impose additional duties on imports from countries whose currency is depreciated, to equalize production costs with competing American goods, was killed today by the House Ways and Means Committee.

The vote against a favorable report was 16 to 9. Acting Chairman Crisp (Dem.), of Georgia, declared that the vote was not a partisan one, both Republicans and Democrats opposing the plan.

The clergyman said that confirmation of his statements previously made "must necessarily come from Col. Lindbergh himself." Best-Dressed Film Actress Here, Airs Divorce Views

What causes most Hollywood divorces?

There's a puzzler for you, and here's the answer, direct from blonde Lilyan Tashman, known not only as Hollywood's best-dressed star, but as its most happily married. Says she:

"Gossip!"

Two movie stars can be happily married until the gossips begin to gossip. This has a psychological effect on the victims and before they realize what has happened they're in Reno. That's Miss Tashman's theory.

Miss Tashman is known otherwise as Mrs. Edmund Lowe. For seven years she's been married. If she had to give up either her husband or her career, she insists she'd say goodby to the movies.

She reached Pittsburgh today for a week's engagement in a downtown theater. Recently she has been in New York for a month, having what she described as an excellent time. Here's how she sees the difference between Hollywood and Broadway:

Survivors of Liner Feared in Air Crash

NICE, France, May 27.—(AP.)—Police were investigating reports today that a plane carrying five persons, two of them among the passengers rescued when the French motorship Georges Philippar burned two weeks ago, had crashed in the mountainous region near Brignoles, France, on the way to Marseilles.

Mr. and Mrs. Lang Willard were the Georges Philippar survivors aboard the plane when it left Brindisi, Italy, Wednesday afternoon. It has not been heard from since.

15 Acres of Forest Burn Near Ligonier

GREENSBURG, Pa., May 27.—Fifteen acres of brush and wooded land have been burned over by fire which raged through the Rock Hollow district, near Ligonier. Fire wardens and aides extinguished the fire, preventing damage to nearby property.

CIVIC LEADERS DEMAND CITY CUT COSTS

35 Groups Unite, Insist Council Act to Prevent Municipal 'Bankruptcy'

Business and civic leaders today were united in a demand that the City of Pittsburgh adopt rigorous economies in its operating expenses, charging that if it does not, it soon will be bankrupt.

Thirty-five representatives of industrial and civic organizations met in the Chamber of Commerce Building yesterday to discuss the situation. Following the conference, the Building Owners and Managers Association sent a formal request to City Council, asking for a public hearing at which suggestions for economies may be discussed.

REVENUE INCREASE

The association letter suggested that in addition to reduction in expenses, there might be some practical increases in revenue and asked:

"Is it reasonable and advisable to increase the parking rate on city wharves from 10 cents to 15 cents per car?

"Is the city receiving an adequate rate for concessions in the city parks?

"Is the city receiving an adequate rental on city property?

"Is the greens fee charged on the public golf course of the city high enough?"

The association also informed Council that it was in favor of a further wage reduction for all city employes, effective at once, with the employes whose salaries are fixed by law taking a voluntary cut; asked that the personnel of all departments be carefully scrutinized to eliminate all unessential positions; advocated a constant check on all department expenditures, and recommended a studied plan to assist in collecting delinquent taxes and water rents without working hardships on "distressed individuals."

SELL REAL ESTATE

It also recommended sale of all city-owned real estate that is now being used or rented.

At the Chamber of Commerce meeting yesterday, it was decided to form a permanent organization to further the demands for city economies.

Decision to form the organization came with the indorsement of a resolution of Attorney Robert J. Houlden, representing the Allegheny County League of Building and Loan Associations.

Houlden declared that, inasmuch as the cost of living has come down 20 per cent, wages of city employes should come down, too.

PROGRAM SUBMITTED

J. R. Brady, of the Pittsburgh Real Estate Board, did not wholly concur on the heavy reductions in salaries, but said his organization already has prepared and sent to Council and the Mayor a constructive program outlining how the city might meet the indicated budget deficit.

W. J. Archbold, of the South Beechview Board of Trade, declared salaries of city employes over $5,000 should be reduced 50 per cent, and those exceeding $3,000, 25 per cent. Leonard Aaronson, of the United States Realty Company, urged immediate action by Council, pointing out that more than 200 properties a month are being put up for sale by the Sheriff.

PREDICTS DEFICIT

H. B. Kirkpatrick, a director of the Chamber of Commerce, referred to the report of the City Treasury, which showed a falling off in tax receipts for the first four months of this year, and predicted the city would face a deficit of $2,000,000 at least, unless measures of economy were not promptly introduced.

Other speakers were Harry Bastow, president, and Dr. Albert Lewin, a director, in the Allied Boards of Trade; Thomas Liggett, realtor; R. L. McKallip, Pittsburgh Real Estate Board; W. G. Negley, of the Allied Boards; Albert H. Burchfield, president of the Joseph Horne Company; J. W. Cree, Jr., chairman of the Chamber's committee on real estate and taxation, and Frank C. Harper, manager of the Chamber.

Wronski Tells Opera Plans To Meeting Here

By J. FRED LISSFELT

Thaddeus Wronski, organizer of the Detroit Civic Opera Company, spoke informally yesterday afternoon in Hotel Schenley to a group of Pittsburgh music enthusiasts of his experiences in making that organization a nondeficit cultural enterprise.

Wronski wishes to found a national opera alliance with working groups in the large cities of the country, each group to produce opera on the scale of the provincial opera houses in Europe. The star system is to be banned. The leading singers are to be routined artists who will pass from one city to the next with a small nucleus of orchestra, chorus and technical men. The balance of the cast, chorus and orchestra, also the ballet are to be established local groups for each city.

These plans offer more of a solution than any scheme so far proposed to perpetuate opera as a means of musical entertainment. Lavish production here is m[illegible]mized and the music given p[illegible]mount interest. There was s[illegible] encouragement a few years [illegible] in the establishment of such [illegible] opera for Pittsburgh, and [illegible] the expressions of interest among those who attended the meeting yesterday it seems there will be little difficulty resurrecting a Pittsburgh Civic Opera Company.

Among the Pittsburgh music lovers present were Mrs. Josiah Cohen, Mrs. I. Frank, Mrs. William Thaw, Jr., Mrs. John S. Nelson, Miss May Beegle, J. Vick O'Brien, of Carnegie Tech, and the Polish consul, L. Byszewski.

U. P. CONFERENCE AT BEAVER TO OUTLINE DRY STAND

FIRST WOMAN DELEGATE TO BE HEARD

Pittsburgher Will Take Part In Discussion of Union With Presbyterians of U.S.

BEAVER, Pa., May 27.—(AP.)—Indications were today that a stand on prohibition will be molded for presentation to major national party conventions by the United Presbyterian Church of the United States in its seventy-fourth general assembly here.

Commissioners close to affairs of the gathering intimated the matter would be discussed when the committee on reforms, headed by Dr. W. P. McGarey, of Kansas City, reports Monday.

A report on ministerial pensions and relief by Dr. R. W. Burnside, of Philadelphia; a report on administration and an address by Dr. R. A. Hutchison, of Pittsburgh, general secretary of American missions, were on the program.

SCAN CHURCH UNION

Union of the United Presbyterian Church in the United States with the Presbyterian Church of the United States will be made a special order of business; Moderator Charles S. Cleland, of Philadelphia, ruled yesterday following the report on unity by the Rev. Dr. William J. Reid, of Pittsburgh, chairman of the joint committee.

The question will come up Saturday with the report of the committee on bills and overtures.

Dr. Reid proposed continuation of the committee for another year with authority to revise and change its report to conform with suggestions received from synods and presbyteries. He proposed such suggestions be received until September 1, when the report would be printed and distributed for study.

VOTE NEXT JUNE

A vote on union will be taken next June at the same time the Presbyterian Church in the United Church takes action.

Dr. Reid pointed out that foreign missions could be organized better and that small struggling churches could be better aided through formation of a new church in the union.

Mrs. J. D. Sands, of Pittsburgh, spokesman for the women's group, will take part in the discussions Saturday for the first time any woman has ever been heard in general assembly. She was named at a gathering in Everett, Wash., last year when the women sought permission to assist in formation of unity plans.

Changing ideals, Dr. W. B. Anderson, of Philadelphia, corresponding secretary of the board of foreign missions, told a missions meeting last night, have brought alterations in foreign fields which necessitate changes in methods, attitudes and policies of missions.

MEMORIAL SERMON

Earlier, Dr. Cleland delivered the memorial address for 26 ministers who had died during the year. The Rev. John A. Henderson, of St. Louis, offered the prayer, Dr. O. H. Milligan, of Ivalon, read the roll, and the Rev. Dr. G. E. Raitt, of Los Angeles, presided.

It was agreed no pageant would accompany celebration of the seventy-fifth anniversary of the church next year. June 28 to July 2, 1933, was selected as the date of the general assembly in Pittsburgh, where in 1858 the United Presbyterian Church was formed.

Conventions of the Women's Missionary Society and boards and the National Young People's Christian Union will be held jointly with the general assembly.

Weather Conditions.

The plains states low pressure developed into a round center over the lake region during yesterday and last night. It produced light to moderately heavy showers over most of the country between the plains states and the Appalachian Mountains, and the showery conditions continue over the Ohio Valley states and the lake region. Over Northern Minnesota and North Dakota the ground is covered with snow. At Devils Lake, N. D., the depth of snow is four inches. The high pressure following the low is centered over Alberta, and extends southward over the plains states. It is attended by unseasonably cold weather. Frosts and freezing temperatures occurred this morning over the northern plains and the Northern Rocky Mountain states. Over the central plains the change to colder since yesterday ranges from 12 to 20 degrees.

'OMITTED' HER HUSBAND

MRS. COZETTA ROLLASTON . . . . AT MORALS COURT'S BAR

Mrs. John Rollaston, 17, secret bride of three months, pictured as a witness today in Morals Court in the hearing for 15 youths, including her husband, arrested by West End police responding to a dozen riot calls. The police story: Mrs. Rollaston had a party, didn't invite her husband, who arrived with a number of friends, precipitating a free-for-all. This is a Sun-Telegraph picture.

'CRASH' PARTY, 13 FINED

Confronted, he said, with so many different stories it was apparent the truth was not being told, he fined 13 of the 15 arrested at a West End party last night $5 with option of five days in jail and held the other two for Traffic Court when police testified they were in autos for which they did not have owners' cards.

The trouble, it was testified, started when uninvited guests "crashed" a party being given by Mrs. Cozetta Rollaston and Mrs. Mildred Schlacter in their father's home, 3429 Clearfield avenue.

Blame for the "crashing" and the fight which followed was placed on so many different principals by the different witnesses, Jones finally ended the hearing by fining everybody.

Those arrested were:

John Rallston, 19, of 1020 Hillsboro avenue, husband of Izetta; Jack Rollins, 25, of 36 Cumberland street, an orchestra leader; William Kaib, 18, of Ridenour street; Walter Brown, 19, of 101 Clairtonia street; Robert, 20, and John Kirkwood, 16, of 2902 Merwin avenue; Fred Althoff, 22, of 2515 Merwin avenue; Willis, 21; Williard, 21, and Robert Hottenseller, 17, of 2562 Merwin avenue; Carman, 20, and John Fazio, 19, of 2658 Glen Mawr avenue; Gerard Deere, 19, of 2719 Zephyr street; William Simcox, 19, of 201 Conestoga street, and William Midwikis, 22, of 927 Kirkbride street. All were charged with being suspicious persons.

Midwikis and John Fazio were the two held for Traffic Court.

Sentenced to Die, Freedom Dash Fails

NORRISTOWN, Pa., May 27.—(AP.)—Jacob Lehman, of Devon, made an unsuccessful dash for freedom today a few minutes after he had been sentenced to death in the electric chair for murder.

As he was being led from the courtroom he ran for a door, but was overtaken by guards and overpowered.

HYMIE WITNESS GUN TARGET

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., May 27.—Myrtle McMurda, Beaver Falls woman, who testified against Pittsburgh Hymie Martin during his first trial for the murder of a Cleveland councilman, William E. Potter, was reported missing today following an alleged attempt to assassinate her after she was said to have told a story intended to clear Martin of blame in the former Cleveland official's death.

Miss McMurda went to Cleveland, according to the people with whom she lived last here, soon after the arrival of persons interested in the Martin defense at the new trial which opens in Cleveland Tuesday.

Defense counsel admitted that a deposition will be taken by John G. Toth, of the Bakewell Building, Pittsburgh, from Mrs. Elizabeth Vitman at her residence, 6328 Bartlett street, Pittsburgh. It was indicated that Mrs. Vitman was a patient in the Montefiore Hospital Pittsburgh, in the same ward as that occupied by Martin's mother, at the time Martin was said to have visited her.

PRESBYTERIANS HEAR ATTACK ON CRIME

New Moderator, Leader of 'Modernists,' Says Church Must Fight Home Perils

DENVER, May 27.—(AP.)—The Rev. Dr. Charles W. Kerr, for more than 33 years pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Tulsa, Okla., was elected moderator of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America at the opening business session of the church's one hundred and forty-fourth general assemtly yesterday.

Striking at the "abiding complacency" of the nation, Dr. Mudge listed evils the church must attack in a sermon opening the assembly. He said:

"Racketeering, bootlegging, drug selling, kidnaping, race discrimination, reckless extravagance in government expenditure and in private life, and the substitution of speculation for hard work as a road to wealth—all these are evident on every side."

The church, he said, should not be satisfied with conditions in this country which menace the American homes.

Kerr is known to his colleagues as one of the modernist group of the denomination.

Dr. Kerr announced today the appointment of Dr. Leon D. Young, of Dallas, Tex., as vice moderator. Dr. Young withdrew as a candidate for the office of moderator yesterday. Dr. Harry C. Rogers, of Kansas City, was given the important post of chairman of the committee on bills and overtures.

BEAVER COURT TO USE CHURCH

BEAVER, Pa., May 27.—Preparations were started today whereby Beaver County Court will be held in the United Presbyterian Church while the courthouse, a great portion of which was destroyed by fire yesterday, is being rebuilt.

County Commissioners and trustees of the church are to meet early next week to formulate final plans before the convening of the grand jury on June 6, the first scheduled court activity.

The Commissioners today said that they planned to rebuild the courthouse at once, the new structure to be of sufficient size to house more than adequately all county activities 50 years hence. Provisions will be made for three courtrooms and for offices considerably larger than now required.

County business was being conducted today in the slightly damaged courthouse annex, a comparatively new part of the 55-year-old building. All county records, the Commissioners said, were saved from the fire, thanks to volunteers who aided firemen and county employes in carrying them out.

Rum-Crazed Man Attacks 3 Police

ERIE, Pa., May 27.—(AP.)—Crazed by Liquor, Joseph Graham attacked three officers in police headquarters today. He was subdued.

CLERGYMEN NOT BOUND BY CODE, SAYS RECTOR

Denies Evil When Quizzed on Night Said to Have Been Spent in Waitress' Room

International News Service.

LONDON, May 27.—The common code of morals does not apply to clergymen, the Rev. Harold Francis Davidson, 60-year-old rector of Stiffkey Church, Norfolk, declared under cross-examination during his trial on misconduct charges.

His observation came during questioning by Roland Oliver, prosecuting attorney, concerning a night alleged to have been spent in the bedroom of Barbara Harris, 19-year-old teashop waitress. The rector said:

"Don't think that because you are in a girl's room at five minutes to 12 it becomes immoral at five minutes past 12.

"As a clergyman one spends one's whole life in bedrooms."

Davidson's counsel read from an impassioned letter written by the clergyman to the Bishop of Norfolk, his superior, in which he charged the bishop broke faith by bringing the present proceedings. He wrote:

"Hereafter not a single clergyman in your diocese can rely upon your spoken or written word.

"Perhaps I have not sufficiently followed St. Paul's advice to avoid all appearance of evil, but not a person of either sex can say they suffered from my friendship."

Lillian Roth Granted Divorce From Scott

CHILD TO PLEAD FOR FATHER

DETROIT, May 27.—(AP.)—With transportation provided by a bus line and funds donated by friends and acquaintances, 13-year-old Bernice Feagan was en route to Washington today to try to "see President Hoover" in a final effort to obtain the release of her father, a federal prisoner in the county jail here.

With Bernice were her sister, Irene, 11, and her brother, Clifford, 10. All of them insist the arrest of their father, Charles R. Feagan, on a charge of unlawfully driving an automobile from St. Joseph, Mo., to Detroit, is "all a mistake."

When the father first was arrested by state authorities, Bernice appeared before Gov. Wilber M. Brucker to urge him not to order his extradiction. Feagan was released in Circuit Court on a habeas corpus writ, but immediately rearrested by federal authorities.

Feagan asserts the automobile was given him by a Missouri man to sell in Detroit, but that he had been unable to sell it and lacked funds with which to return it to its owner.

Mexican Court Parts Actress and Son of Rich Pittsburghers

MEXICO CITY, May 27.—(INS.)—Lillian Roth, actress, obtained a divorce today in the Second District Court of Cuautla, State of Morelos, from William M. C. Scott, son of a wealthy Pittsburgh lumberman.

The suit was filed on May 3 by Miss Roth's lawyer, Roberto Haberman, of New York. She charged incompatibility. The couple was married on April 11, 1931, at Atlanta.

William M. C. Scott is a son of S. Clyde Scott, of 1008 Tyndall street, Corliss, Pittsburgh lumberman, and has been in California for several weeks.

Scott, now an aviator, was a United States Army flying cadet in Texas, married Miss Roth in an airplane elopement from Atlanta, Ga., during a vaudeville engagement she had there.

BROKER DENIES KIDNAPING WIFE

PLACERVILLE, Cal., May 27.—(AP.)—Reconciliation—not abduction—was the explanation given today by Alfred C. Read, Jr., for bringing his estranged wife, Mrs. Marian Y. Read, here from Oakland.

In the Eldorado County Jail, the broker, whose young and attractive wife has sued Claire Windsor, actress, for alienation of affections and Read for divorce, denied he abducted his wife at the point of a gun.

In a nearby hotel, Mrs. Read rested before returning to her parents' home in Oakland. She insisted her husband "kidnaped" her and declared he was aided by friends.

Mrs. Read vanished from in front of the Oakland home of J. W. Decker, an automobile salesman, Wednesday night. She drove into Placerville yesterday in an automobile she told authorities was used by her husband in "carrying her off." She said she escaped from Read and Stewart Trumbauer as they slept by the mountain roadside. Trumbauer also is in jail.

HOSPITALS PIN HOPE IN EXTRA SESSION

Look to Special Meeting of Legislature to Relieve Crisis in Reduced Aid

Pinning their hope of relief on a special session of the Legislature, hospitals and homes receiving state aid today were preparing to meet the crisis resulting from a reduction of 24.16 per cent in state appropriations.

Those returning from yesterday's unemployment conference in Harrisburg, voiced the belief that Gov. Pinchot was convinced of the necessity of a special session to deal with poor relief and at the same time to restore the appropriations originally made by the Legislature for state-aided institutions.

FACE SUSPENSION

Otherwise smaller hospitals probably will have to close, and the larger will be seriously crippled, especially in giving free service to the poor, those in touch with the situation say. One large Pittsburgh hospital is said to have cut its payroll one-third; others are behind from three to nine months in payment of current bills, because of the large number of patients unable to pay.

The problem of meeting the reduced appropriations, caused by the $10,000,000 Talbot poor relief appropriations being designated a preferred expenditure by the State Supreme Court, was to be discussed this afternoon at the annual meeting of the Hospital Conference of Pittsburgh in the West Penn Hospital.

CUT FREE SERVICE

Dr. G. Walter Zuloff, superintendent of Allegheny General Hospital, said:

"The hospitals have done about all they can do in the way of cutting the payrolls. The only thing left is to limit free service to emergency cases, possibly, eliminate some free wards. The income of all hospitals has been reduced because of general conditions and this cut in state aid creates a situation that requires prompt and drastic action."

The slash in state appropriations, Dr. Zuloff said, probably would be felt in July, when checks are received for the quarter ending May 31.

At yesterday's conference a drab picture was painted for the Governor by welfare experts from all over the state. Father James R. Cox predicted a "revolution" if adequate relief was not provided by next winter.

H. F. Baker, welfare leader of this city, placed the amount needed in the state at $50,000,000. Philip Mathews put the figure $10,000,000 higher.

JUDGE MODERN ON BEACH GARB

CHICAGO, May 27.—(AP.)—Municipal Judge Elliott has decided to be modern in the matter of bathing suits for girls.

He looked over a 1910 ordinance prescribing bloomer suits for female bathers and then took a look at pictures of a 1932 creation and said:

"Personally, I like the modern one. The ordinance should be changed. Why, a girl would sink if she dressed according to the regulations laid down by the City Council."

With these remarks he dismissed yesterday a case against Miss Dorothy Reeder, who attired herself in an ultra modern bathing suit recently and had herself arrested to test the antiquated law.

The 1910 law is the only one the city has for regulation of bathing suits, and it was reinstated as a result of a parliamentary mixup.

Jackson, Scenario Writer, Drowned

LAGUNA BEACH, Cal., May 27.—(AP.)—Caught in a heavy surf while bathing, Joseph Jackson, 38, prominent Hollywood scenarist, drowned late yesterday.

Jackson, his wife, Ethel Shannon, film player, and other Hollywood figures, were on an outing. Jackson, exhausted in the surf, cried for help. Rodney Yould, 18, breasted the waves in an effort at rescue. Jackson fought Yould but finally became unconscious and the younger man brought him to the beach. Efforts to revive him failed.

Blonde Says Mate Set Fire to Hair

STOMACH AGONY STOPPED QUICK!

I suffered agony with pain in my stomach. Then I tried ACIDINE. This one relieved me," says Mrs. M. Montgomery, Los Angeles, Cal. "I can now eat anything I want if I take ACIDINE afterwards. ACIDINE is grand—don't make any changes in it, it is perfect now. I am 70 years old but feel 50." End gas, sourness, heartburn, dizziness, sleeplessness, headache resulting from acidity. Makes you feel better. ACIDINE ends your stomach trouble or money back. All druggists have ACIDINE.

Italian King Visits U. S. Art Exhibition

ROME, May 27.—(AP.)—King Victor Emmanuel visited the American Academy of Fine Arts today and inspected its annual exhibition. He was received by Ambassador John W. Garrett and Mrs. Garrett.

Officials of the Academy and the King talked at length in English and his majesty showed a lively interest in the works of art. He congratulated 15 Americans who won the "Prix De Rome."

Teddy Hayes Fired By Lina Basquette

HOLLYWOOD, May 27.—(INS.)—Because he "circulated a rumor about a romance between Jack Dempsey and me," Lina Basquette, pretty brunet screen actress, today dismissed Teddy Hayes, trainer of boxers, as her business manager.

Miss Basquette, who returned from a motor trip in Colorado and Arizona, declared she and Dempsey were "good friends only."

NOTICE TO TAXPAYERS

Office of Treasurer of Allegheny County, Room 108 Court House, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

In pursuance of the 21st section of an Act relating to Allegheny County, approved the 1st day of May, 1861, and of the amendment to said section, approved the 30th day of March, A. D. 1866, I hereby give notice that the tax duplicates for the several wards of the Cities of Pittsburgh, McKeesport, Duquesne and Clairton, Boroughs and Townships will be open and I will be prepared to receive the County, Road, Poor, Road Interest, etc., Taxes, Personal Property and Poll taxes for the year 1932 on May 2nd.

Said taxes may be paid during the months of May, June and July only at 5% discount, during August at face, and on and after September 1st the tax plus an added 10% penalty must be paid to the County Delinquent Tax Collector.

Statements will be forwarded promptly upon written request if furnished name, location by Ward in the Cities of Pittsburgh, McKeesport, Duquesne or Clairton, or Boroughs or Townships. If statement of Personal Property, or Poll Tax is desired, give street address also.

Use of the mail is advised for requesting statements and making payment of taxes. Payment may be made in cash at Treasurer's Office or through mail by Check or Money Order payable to Robert S. Cain, County Treasurer, and mailed to Room 108, Court House, Pittsburgh, Pa., accompanied by stamped and addressed envelope for return of tax statement or receipt.

SPECIAL NOTICE

Positively NO discount will be allowed on taxes not actually received at the Treasurer's Office before the close of business on July 1st, 1932, nor will Taxes at face be received by the County Treasurer after the close of business on August 31st, 1932.

Delay in delivery by mail or messenger will not be considered an excuse for non-payment before expiration of discount or face period of payment.

ROBERT S. CAIN,
April 30, 1932 County Treasurer

IN the Court of Common Pleas of Allegheny County, Pennsylvania. At No. 1913, July term, 1932.

In re petition of Pennsylvania Gas Company, Inc., a corporation, for decree of dissolution. Notice is hereby given that the said corporation has filed its petition praying for a decree of dissolution and the court has fixed June 20, 1932, at 9:30 o'clock A. M., eastern standard time, as the time for hearing when all persons interested may appear and show cause, if any they have, why the petition should not be granted as prayed for.

BRISBANE TELLS AD MEN HOPE FOR REVIVAL

Famous Writer Emphasizes Value of Steady Publicity Through Daily Medium

CHICAGO, May 27.—Arthur Brisbane urged America to keep up its courage in facing adverse business conditions when he addressed the Advertising Council of the Association of Commerce.

To some 700 advertising men who crowded the ballroom of the Medinah Athletic Club yesterday he expressed the hope that the pep session had a bullish influence in summing up the effect of business recession on the nation, he said.

"We haven't lost land, mines, men or our intelligence. Nothing tangible has been lost in this country. Our only loss has been that of courage—of confidence in ourselves.

"The difference between 1929 and today is the difference between a live man and a dead one. Both have the same organs, but in the dead man the circulation of blood has stopped.

"That is what has happened today. Money, the blood of industry and business, is not circulating."

IMPORTANCE OF ADS

The world's most widely read newspaper writer, Mr. Brisbane stressed the importance of the daily newspaper as an advertising medium. He said:

"The advertiser needs steady, persistent, persuasive publicity. That is offered by the daily newspaper.

"It is a wholesale voice—a reflection of the individual voices and individual conversations of the people. It is a mirror of the world. It looks like the people who read it. The papers, as well as they know how, express the opinions of the people. If you don't like the newspapers, change the civilization which has produced them."

EFFECTIVE PUBLICITY

To advertisers, Mr. Brisbane gave a simple recipe for effective publicity.

"You must have what people want, you must offer it at the right price, particularly in these days, and you must let people know you have it.

"You must make people see your advertisement. Then you must make them read it, understand it and believe it, and then you must make them want what you have to sell."

Stressing the value of color in advertisements, he cited the example of the American Weekly, which he called the world's greatest advertising medium.

Kennywood Picnics Held by Schools

Pupils from Swissvale and Chalfant Borough schools were picnicking today at Kennywood Park. The committees in charge include Dr. L. M. Smith, Mrs. Ida E. Wallace and C. C. Kelso, Swissvale, and Miss Zella Heckert, Chalfant. Whitaker, Wilkins, Trafford and Wall schools will hold outings at the park tomorrow.

OBITUARY

Wylie Funeral.

Funeral services for Oliver Wylie, 78, who died suddenly in his Los Angeles home, May 18, will be held tomorrow afternoon in the home of his son, William B. Wylie, 918 Hill avenue, Wilkinsburg. Mr. Wylie moved to Los Angeles five years ago from Wilkinsburg. He was formerly an elder of the Reformed Presbyterian Church of Wilkinsburg. He was a director of the D. T. Watson Home for Crippled Children, Leetsdale. Besides his son, he leaves his widow, Mrs. Sarah Elizabeth Barron Wylie; three daughters, Mrs. F. Cree Hoerner, Mrs. D. Bruce Marlon and Mary Hester Wylie, and another son, Melville Wylie.

David Hubley

David W. Hubley, 79, sergeant of Bellevue police for more than 16 years, died suddenly yesterday at the Suburban General Hospital, following a heart attack. Burial will be in Erie. Sergt. Hubley was born at Erie and came to Pittsburgh when a young man. He was employed by the Standard Oil Company until his retirement 16 years ago, when he was named sergeant of Bellevue police. He took an active interest in politics and served two terms as a member of borough council. He leaves a sister, Sarah Hubley, of Erie, and a son, Edward B. Hubley, of Pasadena, Cal.

Moorhead Funeral

Funeral services for Mrs. Anne Alston Moorhead, 72, widow of John Moorhead, Jr., who died Thursday, will be held tomorrow in the Schenley Apartments, the residence of her son, Turner B. Moorhead, with whom she made her home. Mrs. Moorhead was a member of the Emanuel Episcopal Church. Besides her son, she leaves a daughter, Mrs. Oliver Ryan, and four grandchildren, Miss Marjorie Moorhead, Oliver Rea and Michael Moorhead Rea, of Pittsburgh, and Stephen Patterson, of Dayton.

Patrick O'Connor.

Patrick O'Connor, a resident of the Pittsburgh district for 50 years, died yesterday at his home, 1014 Lincoln way, McKeesport. He was a veteran employe of the Firth Sterling Steel Company, McKeesport. He was born in Ireland. Mr. O'Connor leaves a brother, James P., and four sisters, Sister M. Aniceta O'Connor, principal of St. Mary High School, Pittsburgh; Mrs. Sylvester P. Connolly, Miss Margaret and Miss Nellie O'Connor, all of McKeesport.

PARLEY URGED TO CURB MINES

Gov. Pinchot again has been asked to recommend to the next regular meeting of the General Assembly legislation for the creation of a commission "regulating the amount of coal to be produced to the reasonable demands of the market."

The request was made in a letter from George H. Theiss, independent coal operator whose bituminous holdings in Pennsylvania are exceeded only by the Pittsburgh Coal Company.

Renewal at this time of the suggestion for limitation of coal production is predicated on a recent decision of the United States Supreme Court upholding the right of the State of Oklahoma to limit the production of oil to reasonable market demands.

It is recognized in the letter that Pennsylvania could not move alone on the subject and that there should be action by other bituminous states to govern output. Study of the Oklahoma statute regulating oil output is advised with a view to applying its provisions to coal here.

Under existing conditions "with unbridled competition," it is urged that both operators and miners suffer from depressed earnings.

Philological Group To Hear Educator

Dr. Kemp Malone, professor of English philology at Johns Hopkins University, will address members of the Philological Society, University of Pittsburgh, at an annual dinner meeting in the Hotel Schenley tomorrow night.

Woman Hurt When Wall Collapses

DAVIS ATTACKS DRY LAW AT COAL QUIZ

West Virginia Operator Says Some Vote Against Legal Rum to Save Stills

WASHINGTON, May 27.—(AP.)—A statement by Judge Charles L. Estep, of Logan, W. Va., that the United Mine Workers of America caused the 1921 disorders in his state was sharply challenged before a Senate committee today by Philip Murray, vice president of the labor organization.

Murray broke in during Estep's testimony opposing the Davis-Kelly bill for federal regulation of the bituminous coal industry.

Senator Davis (Rep.), of Pennsylvania, who was presiding, tried several times to stop him on the ground he was encroaching upon the time of the witness, but Murray continued with his assertions that Estep had made statements which the facts would not sustain.

A little later prohibition was brought into the discussion by Senator Davis.

DRY ISSUE UP

When Estep said it is not possible to end the troubles of the coal industry by passing a law, Davis said:

"It has been the hope of a lot of people that they could prevent a man from taking a drink of liquor by legislative enactment. It works well in your state, doesn't it?"

Estep replied that the result has been lowering the quality and raising the price. He added that in West Virginia people have to drink moonshine as they don't have any pre-war stuff. Davis replied:

FEAR FOR STILLS

Estep answered:

"I don't think many of them hold that opinion any more. Some may feel that if liquor were legalized it would put their stills out of business."

Senator Hatfield (Rep.), of West Virginia, chairman of the sub-committee and a prohibitionist, was not present during the discussion.

The Davis-Kelly bill was opposed by Carl D. Jackson, New York, representing the American Gas Association. Among his objections was that it would raise the cost of gas to the consumer by increasing the price of coal.

German Vet, 'Dead' 16 Years, Returns

ENDINGEN, Baden, Germany, May 27.—(AP.)—Oskar Daumann, 36, German war veteran who for 16 years has been believed dead and whose name is engraved on a monument to the World War dead here, has written his aged parents that he has arrived at Palermo, Italy, alive and well.

He said after sustaining serious wounds in the Battle of the Somme in 1916 he tried to escape from a French war prison, was caught and deported to Africa, from whence he now has reached Palermo.

Perry's Assistant On Pole Trip Jailed

HICKORY, N. C., May 27.—(AP.)—Dr. Clarence Christian Craft, 52, member of Commander Perry's expedition to the North Pole in 1908 and associated with many United States government geodetic surveys, was arrested and jailed today when he is alleged to have threatened a federal narcotic inspector with a revolver.

Seek to Free Man Held as War Plotter

NEW YORK, May 27.—(AP.)—A writ of habeas corpus in behalf of the prisoner held in the Federal House of Detention as Capt. Fritz Joubert Duquesne, wanted in England for murder on the high seas, was served on United States Marshal Raymond J. Mulligan yesterday.

The man who insists he is Frank De Trofford Craven, critic, is charged with causing the death of three British sailors in 1916 in the sinking of the steamer Tennyson off Bahia, Brazil.

Bogus Faithful Witness Ends Life

NEW YORK, May 27.—(AP.)—Rex Fairbanks, 28-year-old clerk whose strange complex of greatness led him to play imaginary parts in every great mystery case and to believe himself heir to mythical millions, dressed himself in silks last night and turned on the gas. He was found dead today.

Fairbanks gloried in the role of "millionaire witness" in the investigation of the Starr Faithful mystery death, although he never knew the woman.

Sinclair Lewis Back With Finished Novel

NEW YORK, May 27.—(INS.)—Sinclair Lewis, author, was back in America today after a short European trip and had with him the completed manuscript of a novel of 170,000 words. He wrote "finis" to the opus during the homeward-bound ocean trip, he said.

Lewis, who was accompanied by Mrs. Lewis, said he would go to his farm in Vermont in a few days, and return to Europe in late summer.

Three Communities Picnic at West View

Shaler and Robinson Townships and the Etna Board of Trade are holding outings today at West View Park. Fred C. Klussman is chairman of the Shaler committee. In charge of the Etna outing are Supt. William M. Stewart, Dr. J. M. Jones, Charles Yahres and the Rev. J. G. Houston. Robinson Township committee includes Frank W. Scott, George H. Patterson, J. C. Mortimer and Dr. J. W. Burkett. Moon Township schools picnic at the park tomorrow.

4 Women Hurt As Cars Collide

Four persons, passengers in an automobile driven by Mrs. Dorothy Andrews, of 859 Lilac street, were injured last night when the car collided with another driven by Philip Gould, of 6318 Forward avenue, in Beechwood boulevard, police reported.

The victims, cut and bruised, were Mrs. J. H. Beeson, 41, and her daughter, Marjorie, 13, of 4103 Lydia street; Mrs. Almeda Williams, 69, of 859 Lilac street, and Mrs. Jennie Gruber, 58, of 810 Greenfield avenue.

McCANNS

Every holiday food in one big store!

Patricia Pitt's Sprightly Comment on Pittsburgh's Society Events

In Mayfair —With— Patricia Pitt

Society women played the role of salesgirls yesterday at the Woman's Exchange sale in the Edgeworth Club, where all sorts of articles, ranging from dolls to cakes, were being bought by Sewickley and Pittsburgh women.

Everything at the sale is the work of consignors of the Exchange Penn avenue women with families who must earn money by work they can do at home.

Among the shoppers was Mrs. Richard Beatty Mellon wearing a brown and white printed crepe dress and a brown straw hat. One of the saleswomen was Mrs. W. L. Jones, Jr., wearing an attractive printed crepe frock of tomato red with short flared sleeves and a white collar of white crepe in keeping with the higher-neckline mode.

Mrs. Lewis A. Park looked cool in a blue and white small checked crepe dress with a wide scarlet belt and a navy blue straw hat.

Others I saw selling or buying were Mrs. William Penn Snyder, Jr., in a buttercup yellow sports dress with a cape collar; Mrs. William R. Blair, Jr., Mrs. George W. McKee, Mrs. Harmar D. Denny, Miss Sarah Bissell, Mrs. William Howard Parke, Mrs. William B. Trainer in peach crepe, Mrs. George Claypoo, in black and white printed crepe.

ANKLE LENGTH IS FAVORED IN PARIS

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, May 27.—Ankle-length versus the dress which sweeps the ground—this is one of the foremost fashion controversies in Paris.

* * *

HEIM MAKES a successful floor-length gown of heavy white marocain. As the sketch shows (at the right) the skirt portion is cut on the bias so that no fullness shows at the hip, but is gradually insinuated toward the hem. The foral formal short cape accompanying this dress is cut on a symetrical line, its black velvet and white lining making sharp diagonal lines across the shoulders and hips.

* * *

THE ANKLE-LENGTH dress in the sketch is typical of the summery dinner dress that Paris is making. It is of lightweight fabric-georgette crepe which changes from white at the hem to deepest gray toward the waistline. Its bodice, cut cowl-fashion, has raglan shoulders—leaving the seamless fabric to follow smooth lines across the shoulders and back. One sleeve is cut from the gray portion of the fabric, another from the white. Lucile, who designed the dress, named it "Speakeasy."

Epoch Club 'Publishes' Newspaper In Closing Year of Study Of 'The Printed Word'

By MRS. CHARLES M. BREGG

The Epoch Club closed its year's study of "The Printed Word" most appropriately—by "publishing" a newspaper in Mrs. Frank D. Newbury's garden yesterday. Mrs. Frank L. Slocum was the editor under whose dictum each department of the newspaper was introduced. Mrs. William T. Leggett was the office stenographer and Mrs. Hobart B. Ayers, the copy boy, each one dressing the part.

Mrs. Harold W. Cope's contribution was a take-off on a local columnist. Mrs. Albert T. Morgan furnished the editorials, Mrs. Albert L. Vencil conducted a shopping column, Mrs. E. J. Searles was the sporting editor and most humorous of all were the "comics"—Mrs. Newbury and Mrs. Cope who appeared in a home-made automobile.

Among the guests were Mrs. Frank T. Hogg, a former president, and Mrs. Henry T. Pritchard, of Mansfield, a former member. A number of telegrams, letters and even a cablegram from absent members were received and read during the afternoon. A birthday cake in observance of the club's thirty-fifth anniversary was presented to Mrs. Slocum, who was a charter member.

In Lebanon Cemetery this afternoon, Queen Alliquippa Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, is marking the graves of 45 Revolutionary soldiers. Attorney James K. Ruby, whose ancestors sleep in Lebanon, is the speaker and children of Revolutionary ancestry are unveiling the markers. The ceremonies are in charge of Mrs. Frank P. Sumney, the regent; Mrs. F. W. Good and Miss Agnes May Robbins.

A Memorial Day issue of Congeries, the Rosslyn Farms Woman's Club paper, was published yesterday at the meeting in Mrs. W. J. Beggs' home, Edgecliff drive. Music of all war periods from the Revolution to the World War was played by Mrs. H. M. Austin between other features of the "issue." Mrs. Roy Musselman read two appropriate poems. Mrs. J. C. Wilson, Jr., told of Civil War gardens of the Carolinas, and Mrs. William Parrish, Jr., sounded a hopeful note in contrasting the depression which followed the Civil War with the present one. An extremely humorous account of costumes of the 60's was presented by Mrs. R. M. Helm. Mrs. C. P. Galleher compared a modern song with an old one and in the little department "Something to Crow About," Mrs. C. D. Bushnell, who is a member of the school board, told that Rosslyn Farms has the largest graduating class in its history. Tea followed.

HEARST STOCK CASH DIVIDEND ANNOUNCED

Eighth Consecutive Quarterly Payment to 31,000 Holders Will Spur Buying Power

SAN FRANCISCO, May 27.—One of the bright spots on the financial calendar today was the announcement of the declaration of the eighth consecutive quarterly cash dividend on the Hearst Consolidated Publications, Inc., Class "A" 7 per cent cumulative participating preferred shares. This dividend, which is at the rate of 7 per cent per annum or $1.75 a share annually, will be distributed to over 31,000 investors on June 15 to shareholders of record June 1.

The unleashing of this fresh supply of gold, the second disbursement this year out of current earnings, will further fortify the buying power of thousands of communities and rural districts between the Atlantic and Pacific waters.

STRONG ENTERPRISES

From the earnings of the $129,000,000 Hearst Consolidated Publications, Inc., which owns 12 of the most valuable and profitable publishing enterprises of William Randolph Hearst, will come this welcome contribution toward the revival of American industry.

These 12 colossal sinews of Hearst Consolidated include:

New York Evening Journal, Chicago Evening American, San Francisco Examiner, Los Angeles Herald-Express, Detroit Times, Seattle Post-Intelligencer, Los Angeles Examiner, Oakland Post-Enquirer, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, San Francisco Call-Bulletin and the American Weekly and American Newsprint Company.

The epochal progress of Hearst Consolidated, during the past two and one-half years, has been one of the outstanding romances of American industry. Through all the vicissitudes of adverse times, Hearst Consolidated has paid a steady stream of dividends to help alleviate conditions and employ thousands of workers.

In addition to the preferred dividend, the board of directors voted the usual quarterly payment of 43¾ cents on the common, payable June 15 to stock on record June 1.

Last night Director Will Earhart presented the Pittsburgh Elementary School Chorus and the High School a Capella Chorus in concert in Carnegie Music Hall.

Mr. Lissfelt

There was one of the best audiences ever assembled for these high schoool affairs, and its appreciation was most gratifying.

The quality of work done by the high school band and orchestra is already well known, but we had the first opportunity to listen to this a capella chorus. The beauty of its singing is almost incredible.

I only wished that every other choral singer in Pittsburgh might have heard these singers, then we should all mutually understand what we mean by niceties in diction and attack, in purity of intonation and tone, and by putting soul into the music we make. Singing music of the greatest masters these young people are carrying with mighty power, the power of knowing how the banner of good music.

The two soloists Lois Rankin and Merlin Maze as well as the girls' trio, Vivian Wagner, Lois Rankin and Dolores Pachera, displayed unusual talents and good voices and showed the care taken of individual voices in our schools. The accompanists were Ebba Lindbom, Marjorie Meyer, and Annette Rosenson.

J. FRED LISSFELT.

Borglum Accuses Nation of Cowardice

NEW YORK, May 27.—(AP.)—Gravy, gravy everywhere, but folks don't know what to do with it, is the way Gutzon Borglum, sculptor of mountains, looks at the economic situation. He said:

"It is all cowardice. Our souls are sick and our knees are trembling. We are covered with the gravy of plenty and we don't know what to do with it."

Baby Rolls Off Roof, Saved by Boy's Catch

MINNEAPOLIS, May 27.—(AP.)—Raymond Johnson, 12, made a good catch and thereby saved a life. Glancing up, he saw a baby rolling off an apartment house roof. He caught the child as it fell and was knocked to the ground. The baby suffered a possible skull fracture, but doctors said it would live.

G. O. P. PRIMARY EXPENSE GIVEN

HARRISBURG, May 27.—(AP.)—The regular Republican state candidates' campaign committee reported to the Election Bureau that it spent $3,703 in the April 26 primary campaign and has unpaid obligations of $3,426.

Receipts from state-wide candidates totaled $4,100. The committee also borrowed $4,268 from the Republican state committee. Of the disbursements $3,000 was paid on the loan from the state committee. Unpaid obligations comprise $1,268 to the state committee and $2,157 in other bills.

The committee has a receivable item of $2,000 which Senator James J. Davis listed in his personal report as an unpaid pledge to the reporting committee.

The Independent Republican state campaign committee spent $208,000 in its unsuccessful campaign against the state organization.

Woman Finds $200 She Said Son Took

BUFFALO, N. C., May 27.—(AP.)—Casper Schiele, wherever he is, will be glad to know that his mother has found out her mistake. Last November she charged him with stealing $200 from her and he left home. But she has found the money in an old shoe and remembers hiding it there.

Museum Consoles Night Life Lovers

CHICAGO, May 27.—(AP.)—Those frequenters of night clubs who believe in the theory of evolution may find consolation in this:

The Chicago Field Museum, in arranging an exhibit of skeletons designed to trace man's structural evolution, placed first the Lemur, a small animal related to the monkey, whose habits are described as "mostly nocturnal."

Parents Should Study Children, Alliance Told

All parents should be students of abnormal psychology in order that they might be prepared to recognize its tendencies and to develop their children along normal psychological lines, but they should first correct themselves, Dr. R. L. Munn, of the University of Pittsburgh, told the Outlook Alliance yesterday. Dr. Munn classed numerology, phrenology and handwriting reading as "all a lot of rot," and said a psychologist is the only person who can foretell ability and this only by means of tests.

He described known reactions to various types o fperso nality disorders and, speaking of the contribution of heredity and environment to personality, said the only mental characteristic inherited is intelligence—the ability to learn. Causes of abnormal personality are usually found in early training, he observed.

The program also included music by three members of an unusually talented family. Mrs. Gladys Dove, contralto, voice winner in the Warren Eisteddfod, sang. Her son, Joseph, who also won a prize, accompanied his mother and played a group of solos, and attractive little Betsy Dove read Sam Foss' "The House by the Side of the Road," which had won her a prize.

In these days of annual spring luncheons, each one has its own especial interest. Among several listed for Saturday, June 4, is that of the Alumnae Association of the H. C. Prick Training School, which will be held at the Pittsburgh Athletic Association. Guests of honor will be Dr. and Mrs. Ben G. Graham and Dr. and Mrs. S. E. Weber.

The chief feature of the post-luncheon program will be three one-act plays to be presented by the Frill and Feather Club of the University of Pittsburgh. "Modesty," by Paul Hervieu, will be given by Miss Ella Mae Smay, David Hussey and H. Leslie Parlette, Jr. Alice Gerstenberg's "The Illuminatti in Drama Libre," will be played by Miss Anne Wassel and Harold Hossack, and "Une Affairs des Maris," by Ferenc Molnar, will be done by Miss Mildred Barker and Miss Leah Wagner.

* * *

A program of merit has been arranged for the drama department of the Avalon Woman's Club this afternoon. Dr. G. W. Gerwig is giving "Shakespearean Miniatures," and music is by Miss Janet Turner, violin; Miss Editha Weikal, piano, and a quartet of girls from Carnegie Institute of Technology.

* * *

Three June events are planned by the Town Club, the first a benefit card party at Mrs. Thomas Harvey's home, Kittanning pike, on the fourth.

Trio of Events

Next will come an all-day sewing for charity at Mrs. S. D. Meyers' home, also on Kittanning pike, and last, the annual outing at Mt. Chateau on the twenty-first.

* * *

Something of a record has been made by the Chalfant House Women's Club, of Etna, which has distributed approximately $800 in welfare work since its organization in September. The club will bring its season to a close on June 8, when it holds a garden party at the home of Mrs. J. Irwin Van Horne, Mt. Royal boulevard.

* * *

Invitations to Pittsburgh Hadassah's "thrift luncheon" Thursday at the Y. M. and W. H. A. have been sent out in the name of the children of Palestine who are the beneficiaries.

Thrift Luncheon

The invitations also state that the luncheon served will be a duplicate of a Palestine school luncheon and that the difference between its cost and the price paid will feed "10 invisible child guests in Palestine."

A program of music by Edith Canter Lazear and Florence Davis will be given in the afternoon.

* * *

Members of the hospitality committee of the Ingram Parent-Teacher Association will serve as hostesses under the leadership of Mrs. J. E. Magill at the annual exhibit of work by schools' pupils this evening.

* * *

* * *

The last meeting until September will be held Wednesday in the First Lutheran Church by the Ladies' Aid Society of Passavant Hospital.

Closing Meeting

Miss Lois Bradley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Bradley, of North Negley avenue, is among the seniors at Oberlin College to receive an A. B. degree. One of her projects, an orchestration of Purcell's "Nymphs and Shepherds" will be presented on the program of the commencement concert in the department of public school music.

Miss Bradley

Coming Events

SATURDAY

JUNIOR LEAGUE TO ELECT

LOS ANGELES, May 27.—(AP.)—With the election of officers and the selection of the 1933 convention city, the Association of Junior Leagues was to end its convention today.

Mrs. John G. Pratt, of New Orleans, appeared likely to be the unopposed candidate for president to succeed Mrs. Roger S. Sperry, of Waterbury, Conn.

The convention yesterday was divided into conference groups at which plans for increasing the various activities of the league were considered.

$200,000 Shortage In Taxes Charged

CHESTER, Pa., May 27.—(AP.)—William T. Ramsey, County Commissioner and former Mayor of this city, was charged today with having failed to turn in to Delaware County more than $200,000 he received as tax collector.

The charge was contained in a letter sent by a group of taxpayers yesterday to County Solicitor Albert J. Williams.

Gold Star Mothers Tour Battlefields

PARIS, May 27.—(AP.)—The contingent of American Gold Star Mothers which recently arrived in France began a tour of the battlefields today.

Vienna Reds Storm U. S. Memorial Event

VIENNA, May 27.—(AP.)—Communists tried to stop the unveiling of a memorial tablet to George Washington yesterday by stoning automobiles in front of the American legation.

Their demonstration was quickly nipped by police, however, who arrested 20 of them, including four whose faces were blackened in symbolism of the condemned Scottsboro, Ala., Negroes.

Aged Somerset Man, Hurt by Auto, Dies

SOMERSET, Pa., May 27.—Injuries suffered last week when he was struck by an automobile caused the death of Levi Camp, 82, in a hospital here.

3 Mail Contracts Let in District

WASHINGTON, Pa., May 27.—(AP.)—Edgar L. Brewer, of Export, was awarded the contract for the Star route postal service between Pitcairn and Slickville returning via Delmont. William Johnson, of Hooversdale, was awarded the Seanor-Priedens and Stoystown route, and Otis W. Swanson, Latsie, won the Well Creek-Priedens route.

BOGUS MONEY PASSER ROUTED

Police and federal authorities today were searching for a man who passed a $10 counterfeit note on a Morningside grocer and was foiled in an attempt to victimize another in East Liberty last night.

In the store of Augusto Battaglia, 1801 Jancey street, the bogus currency passer tendered the note in payment of a 15-cent package of cigarets and received the change.

The same man, police said, attempted to give Albert Recht, a clerk in the Star Market, 5139 Penn avenue, another bogus $10 note, but the clerk saw it was not genuine. The counterfeiter ran from the store and fled in an automobile.

DENIES GUILT IN KIDNAPING

WARREN, O., May 27.—(INS.)—Domonic Antonio Lauri, 37, entered a plea of not guilty at his arraignment yesterday on an indictment charging him with kidnaping 11-year-old Jimmy De Jute, Niles schoolboy, last March 2.

Judge W. H. Carter, who accepted the plea, refused to set a bond and Lauri was remanded to the county jail to await his trial, which is expected to begin next week.

Prosecutor G. H. Birrell announced after the arraignment that he would seek the maximum penalty under Ohio law, life imprisonment, for the accused man.

Lauri, also known as Tony Laree, was arrested in Weirton, W. Va., as the ringleader of the gang which abducted the boy and held him captive for three days in a roadhouse. Two of his reputed companions, Dowell Hargraves, 30, and John De Marco, 31, have been convicted and sentenced to prison for complicity in the abduction.

German to Teach Art in New York

HAMBURG, Germany, May 27.—(AP.)—George Grosz, artist who caused a sensation two years ago by showing a picture of Christ on the Cross with Christ wearing a gas mask and a pair of Wellington boots, sailed on the liner New York yesterday to teach art in New York City.

Grosz was tried for blasphemy as a result of his painting and was acquitted. The court found that the work was of high artistic quality and in no way attempted to ridicule sacred subjects.

3 Law Students Win Eaton Prize

The Oliver K. Eaton law school oratory prize for Duquesne University was awarded to three contestants on a tie vote of the judges. Awards were made to Edward Berkowitz, third year; John H. Text of Girl's Prize Essay on Washington

Ills of Present Laid To Disregard for Patriot's Advice

[illegible]

Small groups of people, some rich, dressed and haughty, others poorly clad and friendly, argued heatedly. As I passed through the streets on this day in September, 1796, I gazed with interest at the debaters collected on corners and in doorways. Truly, this was an innovation! Streets usually peaceful and quiet were noisy with the buzz and murmur of excitement.

"And yet there was a reason for this. Almost everywhere I glanced I saw a hand waving aloft a newspaper on which was printed Washington's Farewell Address.

"As I passed a particular assemblage of patriots I heard one gentleman read aloud a passage from the address: 'the common and continued mischiefs of the spirit of party are sufficient to make it the interest and duty of a wise people to discourage and restrain it.'

As I ponder this section of a diary written by one of my ancestors, a contemporary of Washington, I marvel at the keen foresight which prompted this wholesome advice of our first president.

Issue Still Menace

Party spirit! An issue which is today a menace to public peace and security, a cause of jealousy and dissension among citizens, a spirit often leading to dissipation of government.

Evidently Washington realized that party spirit would develop in future years, and paternally, warned us, the people of the United States, against such a danger.

But perhaps the most remarkable and most fitting counsel given by the Father of Our Country—is that concerning foreign relations and alliances. If Washington were alive today, and acting in the high office of the presidency, what would he do? How would he conduct himself and governmental affairs in the serious "entanglements" in which we are in danger of becoming more and more involved? Such a patriot, and particularly he who gave such valuable advice on this very subject, would hardly look with favor upon the conditions existing today between European countries and the United States. Washington said, "Observe good faith and justice towards all nations, cultivate peace and harmony with all!"

Hindered by Tariff

One of the chief causes of our difficulties at the present time is the high tax on imports. Many manufacturers of the United States have built factories in foreign countries in order to avoid the tariff; likewise, foreigners refrain as much as possible from purchasing products from our country because of the tax duty demanded. Washington admitted that taxation is, of course, necessary, but excessive taxation is intolerable.

A country may exhibit undue fondness for another country, thus placing peace and happiness, and even innocent lives in jeopardy. For is it not true that one of the countries will be unjustly called upon to aid her friend in time of war? And such an alliance eventually leads to jealousy and hatred.

Furthermore European affairs should not interest us. We are a free and independent nation. Aside from commercial relations, the United States should be in no way connected with any foreign power. While we should be courteous to all, we should show partiality to none. Washington said: "The greatest rule of conduct for us in regard to foreign nations is, in extending our commercial relations, to have with them as little political connection as possible." With the observance of his advice surely the United States would soon end all disputes with foreign countries.

Prosperity Advice

Today, along with the interest taken in foreign entanglements, we are looking forward to the return of prosperity. The Father of Our Country told us: "Of all the dispositions and habits which lead to political prosperity, religion and morality are indispensable supports." Of all the factors which lend to carry on governmental affairs equitably, these two are most important. With the government lain on such a foundation, and with the practice of such virtues we could safely say our union is protected. Washington clearly expressed their importance when he called them the great pillars of human happiness, the firmest props of the duties of man and citizens."

In his Farewell Address, Washington points out and explains clearly the many dangers and faults to which our government would be liable. He endeavored to aid his country by his counsel. One would think that by this time, government affairs would be competently managed. But, owing either to lack of ability on the part of executives, or lack of attention to the very sound advice of our first President, our government is in a number of ways unsettled and unsatisfactory. As Washington said: "The unity of government which constitutes you one people" is now dear to us, and for the preservation of that government we must have certain patriotic opinions, and act accordingly.

Washington, not realizing his genius, humbly wrote: "In offering you, my countrymen, these counsels of an old and affectionate friend, I dare not hope they will make the strong and lasting impression I could wish."

Should we thoughtfully consider the principles laid down and faithfully follow the sound advice given in Washington's famous farewell address, his wishes would materialize.

During his life, Washington's goal was to "settle and mature the country's recent institutions, and to progress without interruption to that degree of strength and consistency which is necessary to give it the command of its own fortunes."

Thus spoke the true patriot, the Father of Our Country. Let us make his motive, our motive; his opinion, our opinion; his beliefs, our beliefs, and his counsels our salvation!

Washington Contest List to Appear in Sun-Telegraph

With Miss Mary Louise Holzapfel, of Forest way, Homewood, awarded the gold cup and $100 for the best essay in the George Washington Farewell address contest, winners of gold, silver and bronze medals will be named in Sunday's Sun-Telegraph.

Judges have selected these leaders of the various classifications, which include grammar school, junior and senior high, and the general class which included all contestants over 16 years, in or out of school.

The presentation of the first award to Miss Holzapfel was made yesterday before all the students of Holy Rosary High School by the Rev. D. J. Maladey, pastor of the church and head of the school.

The list of diploma winners will be published in the Sun-Telegraph next week, beginning Tuesday. Over 400 were awarded.

MALLORY HATS "Cravenette" Resists Moisture

There's True Economy In A Famous Mallory

The Panama and the Bangkok straws are at the peak of their vogue this summer. Avoid "cheap" imitations of these thoroughbred styles. There's true economy in wearing a famous Mallory. Its choice materials, its fine hand workmanship, its swallow-like grace of crown and brim and its long wear make it both a possession of pride and a purchase of thrift. Whether you buy a Panama, a Bangkok or a Sennit, always look for the Mallory Label.

Cornelia Skinner, Ripley, Dragonette, Reisman Radio Stars Tonight

A radio performance by Cornelia Otis Skinner, a synchronized program from Los Angeles and Chicago featuring the latest Paul Whiteman "find," and another interesting recital of odd facts by Ripley, the modern Marco Polo of the air, are on the radio bill for Pittsburgh fans tonight.

Miss Skinner, noted monologist and daughter of the internationally-known actor, offers two original comedy sketches for the first time on the air when she appears as guest artist during the Kodak Week-End Hour on WJAS at 9 o'clock. The musical portion of the program is presented by Nat Shilkret's orchestra, Thelma Kessler, soprano, and the Kodak Male Quartet.

Miss Skinner

Paul Whiteman, now on vacation in California, presents the lone California audition winner from NBC's Los Angeles studios in a program on KDKA at 10, while his orchestra is heard from Chicago under the baton of Hal Redus.

"Believe-It-Or-Not" Ripley tells of a country where Christmas falls in the middle of the summer, where the compass points south instead of north, and where stones float and wood sinks, over KDKA at 7:15.

* * *

Program Pointers

Louise Frayne, Pittsburgh soprano, is heard in a quarter-hour program of old-time heart-throbs on KDKA tonight at 10:45. Her program includes Cadman's "At Dawning," Strauss' "My Hero" and Romberg's "Will You Remember?" accompanied by Aneurin Bodycombe. Today at 4:45, the Four Harmony Boys, of Beaver Falls, who turned to radio following a successful vaudeville career, make their initial bow to the KDKA audience. Special interpretations of popular numbers for the piano are included on the program. Tonight's presentation on WJAS at 7 marks the final one of the Myrt and Marge skits until next August.

Miss Frayne

Thrilling scenes from New York's first automobile race, in which the winner had to be pushed past the finish line and achieved a terrific average speed of 6¾ miles an hour, are re-enacted during the "Today and Yesterday" dramatization on WJAS at 8:30.

The second installment of Friendship Town's mystery drama built on the disappearance of Abbey Quimby's $100 bill is heard on KDKA at 9.

"The Yeoman of the Guard," Gilbert and Sullivan two-act comic opera, is presented by the Young Artist Light Opera Company on WCAE at 10.

"White Heat," the "Band Wagon" number written for the dancing Astaires, and seldom heard on the air, is featured by Leo Reisman's orchestra on WCAE at 9:30. Also included on the program is the old favorite, "Alexander's Rag Time Band."

Stories of Rochambeau, French General who assisted the Americans during the Revolutionary War, and of Newport, mecca of social registerites, are told during the "Our Daily Food" program dedicated to Rhode Island on WCAE at 9:45 a. m. and KDKA at 10:30 a. m. tomorrow.

* * *

Fan Fare

Eunice Howard is the charming little artist who is heard four times weekly over a WJZ network including KDKA in "Hello Marie."

Her co-workers in the skits are Carlton Kadell and Merrill Pugit. Incidentally, Eunice and Merrill are studying dancing with one of Chicago's finest ballet masters.

Lula Vollmer, author of "Moonshine and Honeysuckle," is the daughter of a lumber lord and was born in a North Carolina logging camp.

Phillips Lord used to teach school in Maine. . . . Vaughn de Leath is preparing for a vaudeville tour in Manhattan. She has a weakness for cross-word puzzles and works at them between songs.

Here's the way B. A. Rolfe rates tunes: 20 per cent for melody, 25 per cent for rhythm, and the remaining 55 per cent for memory or sparkle. An old tune which kindles fond memories hits the needed figure for "memory." A new tune hits the same mark for what Rolfe calls "sparkle."

Jane Pickens, one of the harmonizing sisters, is an ardent golfer and spends as much time as possible on the links. She turns in good scores, too. . . . Before becoming a band leader, Herbie Kay was a bank clerk, real estate agent and insurance man. . . . Frank Luther was a cowboy and later a singing evangelist. . . . Phil Dewey, of the Revelers, was a hotel night clerk. . . . Bill Hay was a vocal teacher. . . . Kelvin Keech was an engineer. . . . Wilfred Glenn, of the Revelers, was a salmon fisher in Alaska. . . . and George Frame Brown, of Real Folks, was a stage designer.

Miss Howard

Question Box

What is the theme song used by the Boswell Sisters?—D. K. J., Pittsburgh.

The Boswells are not featuring any theme song at the present time, although they frequently sing "Meet Me Tonight, Dear Old Pal of Mine." When they first went on the air they used "Shine On, Harvest Moon," and later changed it to "Shout, Sister, Shout."

THE TEST OF TUBES IS ACCURACY

ACCURACY is just as important in radio tubes as it is in a watch. Eveready Raytheon Tubes have four strong pillars to anchor their elements in place — protecting their vital accuracy. Other tubes have only two supports for their elements. Jolts and vibration easily impair their accuracy —and their tone! Your dealer can demonstrate the superiority of Eveready Raytheon 4-pillar Tubes.

REDS GATHER AT CHICAGO

CHICAGO, May 27.—(AP)—The advance guard of the Communist party arrived in Chicago today to prepare for the national nominating convention which starts Saturday and to plan an active nationwide campaign.

C. A. Hathaway, campaign manager, said the whole energies of the party would be thrown into the election this year for the first time with the hope that the party could make an impressive showing nationally and elect several state legislators and congressmen.

The national Communist ticket will be on the ballot in 40 states, Hathaway said, compared with 26 in 1928 and he predicted the vote would be much higher than the 50,000 total of four years ago.

Hathaway said:

"You remember Hoover promised a chicken in every pot and a car in every garage. Even the communist party couldn't promise anything like that. But this time conditions are different. In the present crisis all of the old parties—Republican, Democratic and Socialist—have shown themselves to be completely bankrupt, without any program."

William Z. Foster, who headed the ticket in 1928, is slated for nomination as the president candidate. His running mate is expected to be James W. Ford, Negro, of Birmingham, Ala. A nation-wide campaign tour has been mapped out for him, starting June 5 and lasting until election day.

Reserve Cavalrymen Plan Second Ride

A dozen officers of the 306th Cavalry, United States Reserves, will take its second overnight ride May 29-30. Leaving Dear Park farm, near Dunbar, Sunday morning, the troopers will ride to near Fort Necessity and bivouac there. The following day they will participate in a short exhibition drill and return over Braddock's trail. The ride will be in charge of Maj. Eustice L. Hubbard, Regular Army instructor for the unit.

Ben Avon Bus Line's Permit Renewed

HARRISBURG, May 27.—(INS)—James M. Ferguson was granted renewal of the right to transport persons on schedule between Emsworth railroad station and Ben Avon Heights and intermediate points, and the transportation of school children from Ben Avon Heights to Ben Avon borough public school, Allegheny County.

7th Ward Community Club Meets Tonight

The Seventh Ward Community Club will meet tonight in Shakespeare School. There will be several speakers and a musical program has been arranged. Arch Loney and James Porter will preside.

Postmaster Entries To Close June 14

Applications for the civil service examination for the Brownsville postmastership will close June 14, the United States Civil Service announced today.

ACID STOMACH TORTURE ENDS

"Suffered for many years from indigestion. I could not eat any acid foods or fruits. I denied myself of almost everything," says Mrs. W. W. Osborne, Portsmouth, N. H. "Now I eat anything and if I think it will not agree with me, I just take ACIDINE. ACIDINE is wonderful."

End gas, sourness, heartburn, dizziness, sleeplessness, headache resulting from acidity. Maker guarantees ACIDINE ends your stomach trouble or money back. All druggists have ACIDINE.

ALMOST FLAT ON HER BACK

Aching back. Will it never stop? She's nearly desperate. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has relieved "feminine troubles" for over 50 years.

Kline Demonstrates He's Still Overlord

—By MARK SHIELDS—

Mr. Shields

Despite the verdict of a Butler County jury, Mayor Charles H. Kline is still the political overlord of this city, so far as the organization is concerned, and is not averse to demonstrating the strength of his authority for the edification—and discipline—of all concerned.

The latest evidence is in the present decision of the organization group to support Mrs. Laura J. Hinnau for vice chairman of the Republican County Committee at the election to be held Saturday. Mrs. Hinnau is a protege of Samuel J. Grenet, chairman of the Twenty-seventh ward, and a leader not in harmony with some other leaders in the organization, notably Senator James J. Coyne.

When discussion first arose as to committee officers it was agreed William H. Coleman, of McKeesport, should become chairman in succession to County Commissioner William D. Mansfield. Those back of Coleman set the stage for the exit of Mrs. Hinnau, hand-in-hand with Mansfield. The Mayor let the movement develop.

Mrs. Marjorie Margaret Scranton, Pennsylvania's woman member of the Republican National Committee, and Mrs. Sarah Etter, vice chairman of the Republican State Committee, interested themselves in Mrs. Lillian Anderson, of Aspinwall, whom they succeeded in slating as an alternate delegate-at-large to the national convention.

The ladies prominent in state politics admitted freely they were trying to bring Mrs. Anderson, prominent in affairs of the Council of Republican Women, nearer the center of affairs. Their efforts were seconded by some leaders here who recently have enjoyed a pleasant association with the state committee.

Mayor Has No Love For State Organization

The Mayor has no love for the state organization, the antipathy dating back to the primary and general election of 1930, when he was accused of being lukewarm toward Francis Shunk Brown in the primary, and was openly—and effectively—for Gov. Pinchot in the following November, while Philadelphia and many prominent Republicans elsewhere in the state were for the Democratic candidate.

So the Mayor within the last few days, but not until after it appeared the Mrs. Anderson boom might get somewhere, dropped the word that Mrs. Hinnau was the choice of the organization. It appeared he waited so long just to demonstrate how potential he could be in overturning plans.

Thus, unless there is a revolution not now perceptible, Mrs. Hinnau will be vice chairman for another term.

The Mayor apparently is willing that his various lieutenants shall operate independently up to a certain point—and no further.

In the 1930 campaign it will be recalled that Grenet bolted Pinchot. The Mayor went into his ward and beat the chairman on his own ground.

This year, in the selection of ward chairmen, the Coyne contingent appeared to feel that gave it precedent to put the spur to Grenet for the chairmanship. David Cadugan was slated for the place. But in a conference at Butler during his trial the Mayor told the boys that wouldn't do at all, and Grenet was re-elected chairman.

It seems that when there is discipline to be meted out the Mayor will wield the paddle, or it won't be wielded.

Outline of Prohibition Plank Desired By Many

Many influential Pennsylvania delegates to the Republican national convention will be satisfied, on the prohibition issue, with a platform plank containing no less than these provisos:

A recommendation for resubmission of the prohibition amendment to the states.

A recommendation that this resubmission be done at conventions called for the one consideration only, so that there will be no related issues surrounding the election of delegates, as there would be were the vote for legislators to determine the result in Legislatures.

A recommendation for modification of the Volstead act pending action on the amendment, with clauses in the statute protecting dry states against beer and light wines if they do not wish to partake.

A flat assertion that prohibition under the Eighteenth Amendment has not proven successful, and will not at any time be workable.

Conversations and correspondence with delegates indicates a sufficient number adhering to these recommendations to compel their consideration and probable approved by this state delegation. It also develops that a considerable number of the Pennsylvanians will insist upon their desires on the floor of the convention in the event the resolutions committee brings in a majority and a minority report, the former only mildly wet—something of a straddle—and the latter going the full distance.

This attitude insures considerable commotion at Chicago on this one question alone, sufficient, probably, to prevent the convention adjourning in three days. And what a boon that will be to the hotelkeepers of Chicago, who want at least four days at the delegates and visitors in order to get back the money guarantee put up to secure the gathering.

100 CIVIL WAR VETERANS TO PARTICIPATE

Memorial Sunday Sermons In Churches, Decoration Day Parades Arranged

With scarcely 100 Civil War veterans in Allegheny County left to participate, the sixty-fifth Decoration Day, established in honor of the Grand Army of the Republic, but now a tribute to the heroic dead of all wars, will be observed in a double-holiday of patriotic services and varied activities Sunday and Monday.

The bowed, silver-haired survivors of the Rebellion will form groups of honor guests at the services in the cemeteries, which will be in charge of ex-service groups and patriotic organizations.

While Decoration Day falls on Monday, many programs will be held Sunday, designated by the G. A. R. as Memorial Sunday, particularly special services and sermons in the churches, attended by veterans' organizations.

Granting favorable weather, thousands will take advantage of the holiday respite for rail and auto trips to sea and mountains. Railroads announced record low rates.

Memorial services for the 600 dead of the 111th Infantry will be held at 2:30 p. m. Sunday in the 176th Field Artillery Armory, Oakland, with Col. W. R. Dunlap, commander of the regiment, presiding. Speakers will include

JUDGE FOSTER FEARS REVOLT OF IDLE

Jurist Appeals for Passage Of Prosperity Loan to Block Radical Uprising

Congressional action providing federal aid to abolish unemployment continued to be demanded today by local business and civic groups as the Heating and Piping Contractors, Pittsburgh Association, and the Western Pennsylvania Firemen's Association indorsed the proposed $5,000,000,000 prosperity loan for building necessary public projects.

Distress of homeless thousands on Pittsburgh streets is an example of the material available for mobilizing a radical army if relief is not forthcoming, County Judge D. Paulson Foster declared in appealing for support to the proposed federal bond issue to provide jobs.

JUDGE VISIONS REVOLT

Visioning the scenes along the wharves, hopeless men congregating in anticipation of a place to sleep in the Helping Hand, Judge Foster, in a radio talk from Station WCAE last night, said:

"Picture this hopeless throng down on the river bank and multiply that by all our metropolitan centers. What an army it must make. I tremble to think what will be the result if desperate leaders get a hold on them.

"I was a private in the Army. I have read history, and I know there is no control of cold and hungry men. I say to you, if we allow this situation to run on until next winter without demanding that this Congress pass the $5,000,000,000 bond issue before it adjourns, whatever happens is on our own heads."

Problems of the Mothers' Assistance Fund were discussed by Mrs. Frederick B. Chalfant, intake secretary in Allegheny County, in a radio talk today. Mrs. Chalfant declared the "only thing that stood between the country and revolution is organized charity, and charity's funds are rapidly becoming exhausted." She cited the extra applications flooding the fund headquarters, entirely due to the inability of applicants to find employment.

FIREMEN APPEAL

George Marion Cook, president of the Western Pennsylvania Firemen's Association, which membership comprises the 35 counties of the western half of the state, today was forwarding appeals from his group asking members of Congress to push the relief measures.

The contractors cited the need for simultaneous increase, nationally, of employment to increase spending power that would reflect through all business in memorials being sent to members of the House and the Senate. A. P. Roderus, secretary, said the resolutions point out the unemployed workers in the county and state.

Dr. A. L. Lewin, prominent civic leader, and members of the Board of Public Education, will speak on the need of the bond issue from station WCAE at 6:30 o'clock tonight.

BENEFIT DRIVER NEARING GOAL

His endurance drive is being made in the interests of Father James R. Cox's Relief Fund, the proceeds to be used for the bread line and for food baskets at St. Patrick's Roman Catholic Church.

If Waddle continues until 6:30 p. m. Saturday he will have attained his 241-hour goal and will have shattered all previous endurance records, his managers say.

A box to receive contributions to the relief fund is attached to the right fender of Waddle's car and is gradually being filled with money as the car slowly moves through the city streets or stops for traffic lights.

At the completion of the grind, Waddle is scheduled to retire to the showrooms of the Pierpoint Motor Company on Baum Boulevard, where additional contributions may be made.

'Oxygen Baby' Dies, Long Fight Fails

A 53-hour fight by police to save the life of Madeline Ryan, 15 months old, proved futile when she died in her home, 5331 Keystone street, last night. Police had been administering oxygen to the child, ill from pneumonia and measles, since Tuesday afternoon.

'Cleaners' Are Always Active In Wall Street

—By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER—

"Take a vacation, will you, so we can suspend you for the summer."

One bear was laid off the stock exchange because they caught him counting his profits instead of weighing them on a hay scales.

Now, everything is all set for the return of the public. The brokers have demonstrated they can shower one million yards of ticker tape on distinguished visitors without affecting the market.

If you have two dollars in your pocket we will give you a motorcycle escort.

Rankin Couple Plan Career of Lucky Little Waif

While patroling his beat in Kenmawr avenue, Rankin, at 2 a. m. on April 1, Patrolman Frank Vrbaic, heard the cries of a baby in an ashcan on a rear porch on that street. A doctor said the baby boy was but 2 hours old. Today the officer adopted the boy in Orphans Court.

The officer, married eight years and on the Rankin force for that long, has no children. Mrs. Helen Vrbaic, his wife, said they named the boy Francis, and have already outlined his career. They wish him to be a policeman or a doctor. Attorney I. Elmer Ecker represented the couple.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., May 27.

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

They ought to take that Jimmy Walker investigation out on the road and charge admission. Jimmy was in great form. Those Republicans are always going to find out something on old Tammany, and the more they find out about 'em, the less they prove. They get everything on 'em but the evidence. There is only one conclusion to draw, Tammany is either the slickest thing back there, or the Republicans are the dumbest.

Man Near Death After 'Dare' Plunge

Francis R. Padden, 34, of 1805 Lowrie street, Troy Hill, was in Allegheny General Hospital today with a possible fracture of the spine suffered last night when, on a dare, he leaped from the Herrs Island railroad bridge into the Allegheny River, police said.

FLAMES SWEEP GLASS PLANT

Fire of undetermined origin swept the plant of the Glenshaw Glass Company on the lower Butler plank road, Glenshaw, for the second time within three weeks early today, destroying the main warehouse and office building and causing damage estimated at $50,000.

Thomas Grubbs, 28, Allison Park volunteer fireman, suffered cuts about the head and face when he fell through a window while fighting the blaze. Several other firemen suffered minor injuries.

Rukeyser Broadcasts Plea For Prosperity Loan, Sales and Beer Taxes

Universal Service.

NEW YORK, May 27.—Merryle Stanley Rukeyser, noted economist and financial expert for Universal Service, in a radio broadcast last night over Station WINS, New York, called for immediate firm adoption by Congress of policies which he said would hasten the "return of prosperity," which was the title of his address.

The chief means advocated by Mr. Rukeyser were:

Passage of a $5,000,000,000 "prosperity" bond issue for public works; passage of a systematic, rational tax law to include a widely diffused manufacturers' sales tax, and an excise tax on legalized light wines and beer; a trade building banking policy with ample credit expansion, and effective farm relief, not only to relieve the farmer's condition, but to restore him as a purchaser of manufactured products and hence help create employment.

DENOUNCES DELAY

Mr. Rukeyser said in part:

In this historic hour of national emergency, when a breakdown of management in the large has denied upwards of 8,000,000 persons the right to be gainfully employed, the country has been turned into the jitters by the irresponsible delay at Washington. When the country required above all wise and decisive action, it was subjected to sterile and fruitless debate.

After six months in session, Congress has failed either to give the country a tax bill or to act affirmatively on appropriations. As for taxes, the businessmen and consumers of the country have gone through nearly half the calendar year without information as to their tax liabilities.

Congress, it is true, has been handicapped by the shilly-shallying tactics of the administration. What a pity that in an economic emergency we have failed to develop the tradition of perhaps a long term for the President without the privilege of re-election. With only a single term, a President would look for his vindication in history rather than in the near-term favor of postmasters and other delegates to a party convention.

READY FOR UPSWING

If Congress will do the necessary things promptly, there is evidence that the economic situation is ready to improve. There has recently been a promising cessation of the decline in bank deposits, which may herald the end of deflation. Current individual bank debits, which reflect business activity, have been showing a greater than seasonal gain from last month's low level.

The need is for a bond issue of sufficient magnitude to act as a lever to turn the economic tides. Congress should forthwith dramatize the return to normal conditions by authorizing a $5,000,000,000 prosperity loan for social reconstruction and for the re-employment of the idle.

Instead of seeking to do this necessary job through a back-alley route under another name, Congress should popularize the campaign and tap the hoarded funds of the small saver, as well as of the wealthy, in popular drives resembling the Liberty Loan campaigns. The American people are again ready to "borrow and buy"—this time not to kill Germans, but to restore the self-respect and the opportunity to prosper of millions of deserving fellow citizens.

FOUR STEPS NEEDED

In planning for a managed recovery, the first of four necessary steps is the prosperity loan.

The second is the prompt passage of a rational, systematic tax law, which will include a widely diffused manufacturers' sales tax and an excise tax on light wines and beer, which should be legalized.

The third needed step is a trade-building banking policy, in place of the ruinous blizzard of deflation of the last nine months. The fourth is effective farm relief.

McCue.

Four remaining members of McPherson Post No. 167, G. A. R., Joseph Caldwell, Harry M. Faulkner, John Speer and Johns Bowman, will have place of honor in a parade of 3,000 ex-service men and nurses of the East Liberty district Monday morning, terminating at Homewood Cemetery where annual Memorial Day services will be held. George G. Wolfer of Homewood Post 351, American Legion, and David B. T. Burns of the Sons of Veterans, will be chief marshals.

At the same time graves of veterans in Calvary, Lemington, Mt. Carmel and Smithfield cemeteries will be decorated by members of the East Liberty Allied Veterans Association.

VETS TO GATHER

The handful of Civil War Veterans remaining in Gen. Alexander Hays Post No. 3 will gather at the Courthouse at 9 a. m. Monday and, augmented by service men, will proceed to Allegheny and St. Mary's cemeteries for the annual services. C. H. W. Ruhe will be adjutant and George Sands commander of the day. The Rev. Henry A. Wellday of the Sewickley Methodist Episcopal Church will be the speaker at Allegheny and the Rev. Father Michael J. O'Shea, of St. Peter's Catholic Church, North Side, at St. Mary's.

Morning services will be held Monday in Minersville Cemetery with the Rev. Kinley McMillen of Herron Avenue Presbyterian Church as the speaker and for Negro soldiers in Lincoln Cemetery at 2:30 p. m. with the Rev. W. H. Dean giving the eulogy.

At the South Side Cemetery, Calvary, Monday morning various military groups will hold services following a parade through the Hill Top district.

McKEES ROCKS FETE

Exercises for McKees Rocks and Stowe Township will be held at a reviewing stand between Mt. Calvary and St. Mary's cemeteries Monday morning with Assistant City Solicitor Ben L. Steinberg as orator.

G. A. R. veterans, Veterans of Foreign Wars and other military organizations will participate in services listed for Monday morning in Uniondale and Troy Hill cemeteries, North Side, and in Woodlawn Cemetery, Wilkinsburg, all preceded by parades.

The Rev. Dr. John Ray Ewers will speak at Memorial Day exercises at 2:30 p. m. in the Allegheny County Memorial Park, in which military and civic organizations of Sharpsburg, Pine Creek Valley and Allison Park will participate.

A flower boat will be launched to the sound of taps as a feature of exercises by the Pittsburgh unit of the United States Naval Reserves in conjunction with American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars at 11 a. m. Memorial Day at the Point in tribute to the naval dead. Father F. J. Ledwig of Duquesne University, an ex-service man, will conduct the services.

Service men will hold services in Carnegie and Chartiers cemeteries Monday morning.

HONOR WASHINGTON

In Castle Shannon a Washington bi-centennial program will be given in connection with Memorial Day exercises beginning with a parade and concluding with cemetery and school services.

Assistant United States Attorney Raymond D. Evans is scheduled to deliver the Memorial Day address in Homestead cemetery Monday morning.

Members of McPherson Women's Relief Corps No. 60, auxiliary of the G. A. R., will hold a twilight memorial service in honor of sailors and marines at 7:30 p. m. Monday at the Point Park, with addresses by the Rev. Daniel A. Lawless, pastor of St. Mary of Mercy Church and Adjutant William Collins, of the Volunteers of America. Mrs. Esther Newman, patriotic instructor of the corps, arranged the service.

At MacDonald, the American Legion will fire a salute at 10 a. m. over the grave of Mrs. Berry, by tradition the only woman to carry a musket in the Revolutionary War.

All postoffice branches will be closed Monday and there will be no deliveries by carriers.

Graves of 170 soldier dead, including two members of the Confederate army, will be decorated in Sewickley Cemetery Monday afternoon by Gen. Alexander Hays Post 3, G. A. R., with other military organizations. Supper will be served to visiting veterans by the Women's Auxiliary of the American Legion.

CITY MAGICIANS TO VISIT MEETS

Pittsburgh, better known abroad than at home for its sleight of hand artists, will be represented at two national conventions of magicians next week.

The local Assembly No. 18, Society of American Magicians, will send several delegates to the convention at Detroit tomorrow, Sunday and Monday. At the International Brotherhood of Magicians convention at Kenton, O., Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, Pittsburgh will be represented by a dozen members of Ring 13.

The importance of Pittsburghers at the two conventions was emphasized by William H. McCaffrey, president of the local Society of American Magicians Assembly, and Harry C. Schreck, president of Ring 13. In both cases an attempt will be made to bring the 1933 conventions to Pittsburgh.

Most of the Pittsburgh magicians are business and professional men whose tricks, developed to amuse their friends and fellow magicians, give them an unusual hobby.

G. O. P. TO PICK OFFICERS

Reorganization of the Republican County Committee will be accomplished tomorrow afternoon in a meeting in North Side Carnegie Hall.

William H. Coleman will be elected county chairman as successor to County Commissioner William D. Mansfield, and the remaining officers of the committee, Mrs. Laura J. Hinnau, vice chairman, and C. J. McBride, treasurer, probably will be re-elected.

At the same time the county committee reorganizes the city committee will name officers, with no changes in the present personnel expected. The present executives are W. J. Soost, chairman; Mrs. Lillian Morgart, vice chairman; Robert Murray, secretary, and Senator Morris Einstein, treasurer.

AUTO IN A FIREMAN'S BACKYARD!

THE AUTO THAT PLUNGED 25 FEET OVER BANK, LANDED IN BACK OF 137 MOULTRIE ST.

The wrecked sedan that toppled from Kirkpatrick street to Fire Capt. William Muldowney's back yard, causing the arrest of slightly-injured Betty Joyce, 22, 407 Alpine street, who told she was helping a man to extricate the car from a ditch. This is a Sun-Telegraph picture.

Hurt at Baseball, Bradford Boy Dies

KANE, Pa., May 27.—(AP.)—Infection following an injury he suffered in a baseball game caused the death of John Balon, 18, of Bradford, in the Summit Hospital today. He would have been graduated from St. Bernard High School at Bradford next week.

Arkansas Wind Wrecks Buildings

OZARK, Ark., May 27.—(AP.)—A church was blown from its foundation, a gasoline filling station was demolished and trees were uprooted by a severe wind that swept this town last night, but no one was injured.

GIRL FINED $10 IN AUTO CRASH

Betty Joyce, 22, of 407 Alpine street, went to the aid of a man in distress early today with these results:

An automobile toppled down a 25-foot embankment, landing in the back door of Fire Capt. William Muldowney, of 137 Moultrie street.

Slightly injured in the crash, Betty was treated at Passavant Hospital and then arrested on a suspicious person charge. She was fined $10 in Morals Court today and held for a hearing in Traffic Court.

Her alleged employer, Olive Bennett, 33, of 2035 Fifth avenue, was arrested, charged with keeping a disorderly house. Miss Bennett was fined $50.

Miss Joyce told police a man who identified himself as "Mr. Wilson" asked her to aid him in driving his machine from a ditch in Kirkpatrick street. As she started the machine it toppled down the embankment, she said. Wilson is being sought.

The arrest of the Bennett woman followed questioning of Miss Joyce at Center Avenue Police Station by Capt. John Schnurr.

6 New Cases Revive Parrot Fever Scare

BRESLAU, Germany, May 27.—(AP.)—Psittacosis, a disease about which little has been heard since the 1930 scare, has suddenly reappeared here. There are six cases in Breslau.

One of those stricken is Prof. Carl Prausnitz, director of the Hygienic Institute, who recently examined two sick parrots which had infected their owners.

Life Terms for 4 In Cistern Killing

Four Negroes of Laurel, Miss., were given life sentences today after they pleaded guilty to the murder of their companion, LeRoy Howze, 24, last April 20, in a North Hills estate. They are Percy McDonald, R. C. Crumby, 19, Charles Wilson, 38, and Joseph Jenkins, 35. They said they attacked the victim with clubs and buried him in a well which they had contracted to fill for $1.

Hurt in Auto, Wins Suit From Brother

Testifying he was injured while riding as a guest in his brother's automobile, August 27, 1929, M. H. Goldenson, Latrobe store proprietor, was awarded a verdict of $1,500 damages against his brother, M. J. Goldenson, a Greensburg storekeeper, in Common Pleas Court yesterday. The plaintiff said the automobile upset, injuring his right hand.

To the Little Red Book!

Ho hum-m—Another day!
Wonder what I'll write about?
Better take the Red Book out,
See what it has to say.

Adelaide Crandall, a gorgeous young Scandoll,
Is matri-money bent;
Mrs. Pierpont Morse sues for divorce;
Her hubby's dough is spent.
And yet, she's none the wiser;
'Twill be a bum, but please keep it mum,
Her husband wants to surprise her.
Curtis confesses, but the worst of the mess is
They can't solve murders with lies.
Tho' some call it news, where are the clues?

Lots of things to read about!
Since I've had the Red Book out,
Are you at Yawitz end?

Little Red Book Stuff!

In an attempt to stave off complete financial ruin, that famous international mu-nyaire was compelled to borrow $1,000,000 last wk. from the famous son-in-law whom he refused to recognize until recently.

But How

After reading the verse at the head of today's col, Croswell Bowen (the Mirror's cooking ed.) suggests that we name our country estate "Yawitz End." All he has to do now is to suggest how we can get a country estate.

Stooge Door Pride

Morris Kosloff, who stooged for Richy Craig during the past few years, was approached by Milton Berle, the youthful m. c., and offered a job with his act.

"How much will you pay me?" asked Kosloff.

And when Berle suggested $25 a week, Kosloff grunted:

Cold Turkey

Jules Levine would have you believe that two columnists met in front of the Palace Theater and the next morning 700 layoffs were down with colds as a result of the sudden drop in temperature.

Broadway . . . Where times are so bad that a fellow feels flattered if you make him look like 2 cents.

Yeah Man!

Thomas Van Dyke's idea of a complete sophisticate is a fellow who can differentiate between a revolver shot and the back-fire of an automobile in the dead of night.

The European Credo

American headline thunder has reverberated on the shores of the continent, and as a result many odd impressions of life in the States have come to the Europeans.

In a recent issue of the London Daily Mail, night life was described by a well-informed writer as "a holocaust of flabbergasted revelers mingling with swarthy gangsters in sombreros and chaps and visible revolvers . . . In one of the clubs, Texas Guinan presides . . . Her white horse is hitched outside the door . . . his hoofs are spangled with glittering rhinestones and his mane is shiny under a thick veneer of brilliantine . . . Miss Guinan stands at the entrance and calls to passers-by to come in and partake of her immense jollities and the caperings of her denuded damsels . . . Those who do are charged anywhere from 1 pound to 50 ($200) for a bottle of soda and to enjoy a typical Yorkshire dinner would stand you a king's ransom . . . In the western city of Chicago, night-life is colored by the influx of California Indians with their brightly painted mein and shoulders draped in blankets of rainbow hues . . . At each door underworlding is hidden behind steel curtains ready with machine guns to 'shoot it out' with obstreprous invaders . . ." All of which Gives You an Idea!

The most ridiculous misconception of American manners was manifested by the dance-hall operators along the canals in Amsterdam. A few years ago I saw them advertising the Charleston as follows:

"Tonight! Tonight! See the Charleston as danced by its American Originator — David Belasco."

In an amusement park in Budapest, the American Wild West was depicted by Negro cowboys.

Of course there was always the chance that it might have been Al Jolson.

Repartease!

A scion of the social register-rain, according to Alex Gottlieb, was pleading with the Scandoll to marry him.

"Don't you realize I'm a catch?" he argued.

"Yes," snapped the indifferent gal. "And so is herring."

Broadway Wise

An actor at liberty borrowed $100 from a friend with the promise to repay it the following Saturday, specials Doc Epstein. At the specified hour the money was returned. A few days later he asked for another load of $200.

"I'll pay it back Thursday night," he pleaded.

A week went by, and the poverty-stricken actor approached his benefactor with another request.

"Let me have $500. I'll give it back Tuesday noon," he said.

The lender balked.

"But didn't I keep my word each time and pay you back on the dot?" protested the borrower.

"Yes, that's just it," the pal replied. "You disappointed me twice already, and I don't want to be disappointed again."

On the Pulitzer Prize

With each one skilled at writing, it is true.
But playwrights, tho' they're clever, haven't yet the mighty kens
Of fashioning a work of art like you.
For there's music in your laughter, and there's lyric in your voice,
You're a drama, you're a sonnet,
And I'll stake my judgement on it—
You're the one who should have won Pulitzer's prize.

Langdon Has Many Film Offers

BY HARRISON CARROLL

HOLLYWOOD, May 27.

After being tossed about on martial and financial rocks, after seeing his motion picture career fade away, the comedian as one of those strange tricks that occur in Hollywood, suddenly finds himself sought after by almost every studio.

Yesterday he signed a contract with Christies to make six two-reel shorts on any subjects he likes and absolutely at his own convenience.

His name also is on a United Artists agreement to appear in Al Jolson's new comedy, "Living High."

Where a few months ago film producers ignored him, Harry now has offers from Paramount and Warners and is negotiating with Bob Woolsey with the view of replacing Bert Wheeler as Bob's teammate.

After playing four shows a day for 30 weeks, Harry is delighted to settle down again in Hollywood. He has taken a house at the very top of a hill and is finding time for a few games of golf.

All this sudden change of front amazes and puzzles him, but he's not asking any questions.

Movie Bills New Today

With Lilyan Tashman making a personal appearance on the stage, and Edward G. Robinson on the screen in his first emotional role in "Two Seconds," the Stanley begins its new week today.

Beginning today, the new program in the Penn is made up of Ramon Novarro and Madge Evans on the screen in "Huddle," and a stage presentation entitled "Three Screens."

Tom Mix makes his new bow to movie audiences today in the Davis, where he and Tony, his horse, will be the screen attraction in "Destry Rides Again."

The Warner screen feature for the week beginning today is "State's Attorney," with John Barrymore and Helen Twelvetrees in the principal roles.

Tomorrow the Enright will present its new three-day feature, Ruth Chatterton in "The Rich Are Always With Us."

Another Saturday change will be that in the Sheridan Square, where the new screen feature for three days, will be Walter Huston in "Night Court."

Warners Bill Shows Sunday Night

Midnight shows, scheduled to begin at 12:01 o'clock, will be held Sunday night in all Warner Brothers theaters. In the Stanley an advance showing of Joe E. Brown's film, "The Tenderfoot," is billed. "State's Attorney," with John Barrymore and Helen Twelvetrees, will be the attraction in the Warner. The Davis will show Tom Mix's first talkie, "Destry Rides Again" and in the Enright there will be a preview of "Two Seconds." The Camera-phone, East Liberty, will also have a midnight show.

Tryouts for Stanley Revue Tonight

Tryouts for the Stanley Theater's second "Pittsburgh On Parade" revue will be held in all Warner Brothers neighborhood theaters tonight. The revue is scheduled to be presented in the Stanley the week of June 10. The outstanding act of the show is to be awarded a stage contract.

La Swanson to Make Film in Europe

Gloria Swanson has announced in London that she will make a picture in Europe, beginning immediately, which will be released by United Artists, of which she is a producing member.

BITS OF LIFE

All in a Day

By Mark Hellinger

In Which the Customers Do the Work

"YOUR RECENT story about the innocent man who was sent to jail for murdering his wife, only to be released and actually commit the crime," writes Jerome Farmer, "brought to my mind another case that occured in the New York law courts some time ago. It's not as gruesome as your yarn and it's quite well known among students of criminal law. Perhaps your readers will find it to their liking.

"Two men were arrested for burglary. As you would put it, let's call them Eddie and George. Both pleaded not guilty and both were represented by the same attorney. When the trial hour arrived, both prisoners requested separate trial. This was granted.

"After a jury had been chosen, Eddie went on trial. The evidence was presented and the lawyers argued pro and con. It was the usual thing of its kind.

"The prosecution's witnesses were none too sure of themselves in their identification of Eddie. And Eddie's lawyer made the most of the situation. He pointed out that his client had not been properly identified with the crime and he pleaded with the jury not to send a man away for a term of years when there was no positive assurance that he had been connected with the misdeed.

"The prosecuting attorney, of course, argued just as strenuously in the opposite direction. He pointed to the fact that Eddie had had a previous conviction for burglary and he insisted that the witnesses had been strong enough in their identification as to leave little room for doubt. He demanded a conviction.

"Eddie's lawyer failed to put him on the stand. Instead, he capitalized on the fact.

"'You have undoubtedly noticed,' he said as he summed up, 'that I did not place my client on the witness stand. I did that for the simple reason that I did not deem it necessary. Why subject him to an ordeal when the state has proved nothing to connect him even remotely with the crime in question? No, gentlemen, I do not believe in such procedure.'

"The jury retired shortly after. And within 20 minutes, the boys were back with a verdict of not guilty.

"The following morning, George went on trial for the same burglary. The first witness for the defense—and the only witness—was Eddie, the man who had been acquitted the previous day.

"Smiling at the jury, the acquitted man told a straightforward story that completely exonerated his pal. In other words, he confessed the burglary and said that George had had absolutely nothing to do with it. And all this, mind you, after he had been found not guilty.

"The prosecuting attorney went into a rage. He cried loudly that justice was being tricked and that such goings-on were an insult to a dignified court of law. He made dire threats about the consequences of perjury and said bombastically that Eddie was lying to save George. He grew so excited, in fact, that he was cautioned by the judge.

"He could have been more calm and saved himself plenty of trouble. His wild statements must have hindered more than they helped, for, when the case went to the jury, they accepted Eddie's testimony without much hesitation. George, too, was acquitted of the burglary. And since no man can be tried twice for the same crime, the district attorney was powerless to act on Eddie's confession.

"So both men walked from the courtroom arm in arm—freed in a burglary which one of them had unhesitatingly confessed!" . . .

"THE EPISODE," writes Martha F., "actually took place at a Greenwich Village party the other night. One of the guests had dragged along a cuckoo who had just returned from Hollywood. Not only had he just come back, but he persisted in telling everyone about it. If he went into his routine once, he went into it 50 times. And was he a pest!

"'Yes,' he kept chirping, 'Hollywood is a splendid place and they certainly treated me like a king. Better than a king, I should say. Yes, indeed.

"'I spent a week with Clark Gable and I dined several times with Jack Barrymore and his wife. The Barrymores begged me to live at their home, but I didn't want to offend Gable. I returned to New York with Joe Schenck. We talked business all the way.

"'Yes, indeed. A fine fellow, Joe.'

"The first six or seven times you didn't mind it. But after that, the bozo began to get on our nerves.

"'Yes, indeed,' he kept saying over and over again. 'Hollywood is one grand place. Came back with Joe Schenck. Lovely fellow, Joe. Yes, indeed.'

One of the girls, a trifle under the weather but blessed with a decided sense of humor, arose from her chair and staggered over to the mug in question.

"The chump bounded to his feet.

"'Certainly, madam,' he cried. 'What did you want to know?'

"The girl looked at him very seriously.

"'I just wanted to know,' she inquired, 'if you have ever been to Hollywood?'" . . .

"IN A RECENT column," writes Ben Ford, of Denver, "you told an amusing yarn about a cub reporter who was thrilled with his assignment to do a local column about Camden, N. J. Back in my memory is a story along similar lines. And the town was much smaller than Camden.

"This boy was being paid the staggering sum of $3 a week to do most of the work around the office of the only local paper. The editor and owner, when he handed him the job, gave him one very definite piece of counsel.

"'Learn to put in all names possible when covering a local story,' he was told. 'We've got to have names—and then more names. Remember that, or you'll be fired before you know it.'

"That night the young reporter handed in his first column of local notes. The first one read as follows:

"'Frank Milton purchased three cows last week from Joe Good. Their names were Mildred, Marie and Fanny.'" . . .

"TWO OF those chorines you're always writing about," pens Al Klein, "sat in their dressing room one evening and spoke honeyed words. They had never liked each other in the first place—so everything was strictly okay."

"The first dame was boasting.

"'Yes,' she asserted very ritzily, 'I've been interested in famous people ever since I was a little child. Why, my deah, I used to send a letter of congratulation to every newly elected President and Governor. And only because I would be able to save their autographs when they replied.'

"The second chorine smiled very prettily.

"'That's marvelous, dearie,' she murmured. 'And I wish you'd bring your scrapbook around some night. I've always wanted to see Abraham Lincoln's autograph!'"

Dunn Is Star In Fulton

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

"Society Girl," film in the Fulton, brings back to the screen James Dunn, that likeable boy who jumped into popularity in "Bad Girl." The "Girl" he now plays around with is of a different type, both as to character of the lass herself, and considered as suggestion in the title. As a picture, "Society Girl" is entertaining even if it is not sensational. It is a pleasant little photoplay, moderately paced and nicely acted, with some comedy, nothing particularly dramatic except a prize-ring knockout, and some touching sentiment that borders enough on pathos to impress, but not enough to cause a feeling that everything has gone mushy.

Spencer Tracy, of all boys, is the one who does the heart-searching. He's a cold, crisp, business-like manager of Dunn, a pugilist, who becomes enamored of Peggy Shannon, a society girl, who sees in Jimmy a new thrill. That is, Spencer is cold until his protege is knocked out after the two quarrel and separate because Dunn's attention to the girl interferes with training rules. The manager's reaction to the unfortunate ending of the contest stands out as revelation of feeling and comradeship that is more diverting than the romantic angle, which is not extraordinary.

You'll not exactly hate Jimmy, either, for he makes his pugilist amiable and humanly believeable, too. Miss Shannon is excellent as a heedless sort of bored society girl.

On Stage

-:- Plays and Players -:-

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

Final farewell to the legitimate stage for the season is left to our Jewish neighbors who attend the Yiddish play, "The Unfortunate Bride of Suffolk Street," in the Nixon tonight. The original New York company will be seen in one performance only. It includes Nathan Goldberg, Lucy Finkel, Betty Jacobs, Sidney Hart and others.

* * *

A statement from the Theater Guild is to the effect that it will open its subscription season October 3, in New York, with "The Good Earth," dramatization of the Pearl S. Buck novel about China that won the Pulitzer prize for literature. Owen and Donald Davis have been entrusted with the dramatization, and Lee Simonson will design the settings. The Guild's second production of next season will be John Howard Lawson's "The Pure in Heart," in which June Walker will play an important role.

* * *

Nancy Carroll will play opposite Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., in "Revolt," which will go into production next week . . . Plans to use "The Brothers Karamazov" and "The Way of a Lancer" as starring film vehicles for Ronald Colman have been abandoned, and search goes on for a story suitable for him . . . Ann Dvorak, Joan Blondell and Bette Davis will appear in "Three On a Match," a story the title of which is based on a cigaret superstition . . . By July it is expected that the story for Clara Bow's comeback, "Call Her Savage," will be completed, so that Clara can go to work again . . . When Herbert Marshall, English actor and husband of Edna Best, gets to work opposite Marlene Dietrich in "Blonde Venus," over which Marlene recently had a scrap with the producing company, he will be playing his second American screen feature, the first having been "Secrets of a Secretary," with Claudette Colbert . . . Laurel and Hardy will again try their hands at a feature-length comedy, although their other wasn't so hot, and they will have Anita Louise in it . . . "Is My Face Red?" filim about columnists, is about ready for the market.

* * *

When Amelia Earhart returns from her flying trip she will find among her welcomes some seats for "Show Boat" as guest of Flo Ziegfeld, the producer of the show . . . When George Arliss returns from his summer vacation he will find waiting for him "The Adopted Father," novel to Edgar Franklin, to be turned into celluloid with Arliss as star . . . "Anything For Sale," filim of the department stores, will have Sylvia Sidney and George Raymond in leading roles . . . Prepare to sing high, ye fans, for Harry Richman has been filmed in a series of short subjects, in which the audience will be expected to join in song . . . "The Bird of Paradise" filim is now listed for screening in the fall.

Going Places?

ATLANTIC WHITE FLASH

ATLANTIC WHITE FLASH is the motor fuel for people who are up and doing . . . who like to go places and see things.

It has the get-there spirit.

It makes every motor a better motor, and every motorist a happier one. Your car swoops along like an eagle in flight. Out and around the other cars with loads of room to spare . . . up, up over the steepest hills with never a "knock" or ping . . . speeding along the open road with an engine that's smooth and cool!

ATLANTIC WHITE FLASH is widely acknowledged today's great super-fuel. Yet you get it at regular-gas price. You pay nothing extra for its flashing pick-up, its extraordinary mileage, or its many other extra qualities.

Better in a dozen ways

FLASHING PICK-UP
Your car leaps from 4 to 40 like a startled deer.

EXTRA POWER

MAXIMUM MILEAGE

ALWAYS UNIFORM
Wherever you buy it . . . city or country . . . the same supreme quality.

ALWAYS DEPENDABLE

COOLER PERFORMANCE
No heavy, sluggish substances to overheat your engine.

QUICKER STARTING

NO UNPLEASANT ODOR
No sulphurous or other fumes to spoil your motoring-pleasure.

ALL-ROUND ECONOMY

SCIENTIFIC FORMULA

HIGH ANTI-KNOCK RATING

CRYSTAL CLEAR

The great super-fuel . . . No extra cost

Prudence Penny's Recipes

DATE COOKIES—2 eggs, 1 cup sugar, unbeaten, light and fluffy. Add 1 cup cream, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 cup flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1 cup chopped dates, 1 cup flour, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 cup chopped nuts.

Cream butter and sugar and add well-beaten eggs. Mix and add nuts and dates which have been put through food chopper and then the flour, which has been sifted with salt and soda. Shape in rolls and proceed as for Butterscotch cookies.

CHECKERBOARD COOKIES—Use any standard sugar cookie recipe. Set aside small portion of dough, divide rest in half and add 2 squares melted chocolate to one half. Divide each half into two portions and form in rolls 1 inch in diameter. Using spatula and fingers, form square sides on these rolls. Place chocolate and plain rolls side by side, first moistening with milk to make them together. On top of this place another plain roll and press first moistening with milk as before. Roll remaining dough in thin strip, moisten with milk and wrap checkerboard in this blanket of dough. Wrap in wax paper and proceed as for Butterscotch cookies.

CHOCOLATE SUNDAY PIE—1 cup milk, 2 tablespoons cornstarch, 1 cup granulated sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon nutmeg, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 3 egg whites, ½ teaspoon salt, 3 tablespoons granulated sugar, ½ cup sweetened whipped cream, 3 tablespoons grated chocolate, 1 tablespoon granulated sugar, 1 tablespoon ground chocolate.

Pie crust.

Heat milk and cornstarch in double boiler with 2 tablespoons sugar. Beat egg yolks with sugar and salt until light. Pour hot milk over egg mixture, return to double boiler and cook until consistency of thick cream. Remove from heat, add gelatin which has been soaking 5 minutes in cold water, and vanilla. Cool. When cool and ready to set beat with rotary egg beater and fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour mixture into baked pie shell. Set in refrigerator. When thoroughly cold cover with sweetened whipped cream and sprinkle top with grated chocolate.

BUTTERSCOTCH PARFAIT—2/3 cup brown sugar, 2 tablespoons butter, ½ cup water, 2 teaspoons vanilla, 4 egg yolks, 1 cup heavy cream, few grains salt.

Melt sugar and butter in saucepan, stir to prevent burning and boil one minute. Add water and cook until butterscotch is smooth and syrupy. Beat egg yolks, add butterscotch syrup slowly, and continue beating. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens. Remove from fire and cool. Fold in cream, whipped stiff, and turn into refrigerator tray. Freeze without stirring.

Spinach Is Considered Good Blood Building Food

This vegetable contains important vitamins and mineral salts. It carries more iron than any other food except peas and egg yolk.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator from New York.

Spinach is a vegetable entitled to great praise and popularity. As a matter of fact, it is one of the oldest known vegetables, its use dating back to the fifteenth century. However, it is not used in the diet as often as it should be.

Spinach contains important vitamins and mineral salts. It carries more iron than any other food except peas and egg yolk. Because of its ingredients it is considered an excellent food for blood-building. It should be used frequently by young and old. It is also recommended for convalescents from severe operations or diseases. Spinach may be given to infants as early as the sixth month.

Like other leafy vegetables, when improperly prepared, spinach loses its color and flavor. Overcooking makes it brown, coarse and tasteless. This may account for the dislike of this vegetable by many children and adults.

Spinach should be carefully washed before cooking so that all the sand is removed. It may be cooked whole or chopped into small pieces. It is best prepared by boiling in a small amount of water and for a very short time. Never boil this vegetable for more than 15 minutes.

Butter and milk may be added, and, of course, these increase the food value of the dish. When tender, mash the spinach through a strainer. Offer the spinach in very small amounts at first and gradually increase.

In addition to furnishing important minerals and vitamins, it prevents any tendency toward constipation in infancy. Adults who have indigestion, sluggish bowel action and other forms of intestinal discomfort are frequently advised to include vegetables in their diet. These are recommended because they supply "roughage." By this term we mean that part of the food that is not absorbed by the digestive organs. It is found in the fiber, or cellulose, of spinach. It aids in stimulating the digestive tract, thus preventing constipation. In many individuals it acts actively as a cathartic. This effect makes the vegetable an excellent food to include in the diet of individuals who lead sedentary lives.

Spinach can be purchased all year round. It is inexpensive and within the reach of everyone. Canned spinach is identical with fresh spinach except that it may contain a smaller amount of vitamin C.

Never force a child to eat spinach, but by all means encourage the eating of this valuable food. If you dislike spinach, do not voice your opinion or show your dislike for it in the presence of a child. Most children acquire a liking for spinach or a dislike for it by imitating their elders.

Include spinach and other vegetables in your menu. If spinach is properly and tastefully prepared and served it will be a popular dish in your household.

TELL IT TO SALLY -:- -:- Follow This Unusual Feature Day by Day -:- -:- By SALLY MARTIN

Be On Guard If You Take Yourself Too Seriously

And she was supposed to be an authority on husbands; even wrote brainy tomes on modern marriage. But when it came to enjoying her own—well, that was another story.

So she wrote us a long sad bleat about it, asked us if we didn't think she was justified in seeking another man since her present pick could never make her "perfectly happy."

And now here's Myra with a big hand for our side. She too is a modern wife and she had the same notions. What happened when she tried to put 'em over? Plenty. Read on.

"Dear Sally Martin:

"You certainly hit the nail on the head when you told Lyla what was what about her heart hunger. And I'm like it and my two cents to what you said. If it didn't wake her up maybe this will.

"Just like her I too thought I had one of those 'heart hungers.' I admitted, just as she does and to myself and every one else that my husband was the straightest and most wonderful man in the world. Yet—well there was that hunger and he didn't satisfy it.

"My husband didn't suspect all this. He probably wouldn't have tolerated me if he had. Anyway, I was grieving myself sick. I just was not happy. I kept reading a lot of silly books and taking my movies too seriously, until I even thought myself unfortunate enough to get ideas about divorcing him.

A TRIANGLE

"Believe it or not this foolishness went on for almost two years. Then all of a sudden something happened. We met a little blue-eyed blonde who was supposed to be infatuated with my husband. We all thought it was a big joke and laughed at it, at first, and we saw quite a bit of her efforts to 'make him.'

"Then one day I came on my husband and this little girl having a tete-a-tete in a little off room at a party.

"No, there wasn't anything wrong about it. All I heard was my husband asking said little girl to please be sensible, telling her that he wouldn't think of being untrue to me and asking her to look into her heart and see whether she loved him so much that she just had to throw her pride to the wind and tell him, or whether she was just a little piqued because he didn't choose to notice her little advances.

BROUGHT APPRECIATION

"Well my dear Lyla my heart just leaped into my throat, ran all over my body and then stopped cold. And did it wake me up? And how! I'll say it waked me.

"And I was so glad it did, for at last I realized what a fool I had been, and I thanked my lucky stars that no one knew of my silly notion.

"And after that did I appreciate him and did I live happily ever after? I did.

"So please Lyla wake up yourself. If you go on the way you are some blonde may come along and succeed where this one failed, and then you'll know too late what you lost.

"Be thankful that you have such a fine husband and don't take yourself seriously. If you've got sense enough to write about 'modern marriage' you ought to have sense enough to manage your end of one without making a goof of yourself.

"So, for goodness sake snap out of it before you lose out.

"MYRA."

Atta gal!

Taking yourself too seriously can pick you plenty of trouble, if you don't watch out.

I THINK YOU'RE JUST WONDERFUL!
ITS "PURSONALITY" THAT MAKES YOU POPULAR WITH "BOOM" COMPANIONS
HAVE YOU SEEN ANY OF THE OLD CROWD LATELY?
NO! HAVE YOU?
WE'RE JUST GOING TO HAVE A SIMPLE LITTLE DINNER: WON'T YOU COME OVER?
FAY-KING

By FAY KING

One good thing the depression has done is to shake off the boom companions and leave the real friends.

The so-called pals who clustered around so close while you had plenty of cash on hand have evaporated into thin air.

But those who really liked you for yourself alone are willing to spend an evening in conversation or cards when you can't spend anything else. They are the ones who count.

Many who have had to economize have discovered that, after all, many of the so-called pleasures of prosperity were only injurious dissipations.

They aren't drinking so much or smoking so much or staying out so late or gambling so recklessly.

And, truth to tell, they are feeling better and sleeping soundly.

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Bread and Butter Plate

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Is it proper to place relish on your bread and butter plate? This seems an odd question, but recently, while lunching with a friend, I noticed she placed a piece of stuffed celery and two olives on the plate that already contained a roll and butter. To me it looked overcrowded. I used the plate for bread and butter only. Was I right?

X. Y. Z.

This isn't an "odd" question, really for it is constantly arising in our daily lives. There isn't any nice definite rule about it . . . I wish that there were . . . and we do as we wish or as we think best under the circumstances.

For myself, I have evolved a suggestion that seems to work very well. I usually place on my bread and butter plate any accessory that doesn't have to do directly with the course that is being served. That is, if I am passed stuffed celery or olives, I would place them on my bread and butter plate, for they might be eaten before any other course is served, or they may be eaten during the soup course or just after the soup course, before the entree is served (if there is an entree), or perhaps during the entree or main course. They may be passed once or twice in this time, and we might eat them at our wish and convenience. In the meatime plates would be changed, and so we would wish to have these accessories on some plate that remained during this time . . . the bread and butter plate.

The same thing would apply at breakfast, if we are served marmalade or some other jelly appropriate for breakfast. We have to eat this with our bread or rolls, and therefore it would be conveniently placed on our bread and butter plate. But if, on the other hand, we are served mint jelly, obviously to go with the lamb or the main course, then this we would place on our dinner plate. The same thing is true of any other food accessory to accompany the main course, any kind of jelly, applesauce, relishes such as chutney or pickles of any kind.

Remember that this is only a self-made rule of mine, but try it and see if it really isn't convenient.

-:- The Beauty Box -:-

By HELEN FOLLETT

Nothing like a jumping rope to sliver down fatted calves. Twice a day make the old rope fly, at each skip jumping up as high as you can. Running up stairs is a good exercise for legs, thigh and hip reduction. Too bad the bicycle lost out to the motor car, since cycling was an effective way of dissolving fat cells that had settled on slim limbses.

To have glossy, thick, healthy hair, it is important to have a clean, healthy scalp. More and more are the supplicants for glorious halos pinning their faith to oily applications which soften dead skin scales that are washed away when the shampoo is on the beauty schedule. Mineral oil will suffice, or olive oil, or castor oil and alcohol, equal parts.

Blue-gray eye shadows are elegant on some of the blue-gray-eyed darlings, being especially seductive on the Irish type of beauty with blue eyes, fair skin and dark hair. Adroitly applied, eye shadows can bestow the modern, sophisticated touch, but painted on with a heavy hand they are a total loss. Best, too, when reserved for the festive evening; sunlight shows 'em up.

Prompt Use of Antitoxin Has Cut Lockjaw Fatalities

An injury to the skin in which there has been an entrance of dirt, is dangerous. Such an injury, with the presence of the right germ and if neglected, may result in tetanus. The same danger attaches to a puncture of the skin with anything that carries dirt into the tissues.

Dr. Copeland

Of particular danger are street injuries and gunshot wounds. With the oncoming of the Fourth of July, great precautions should be taken against accidents from blank cartridges and fireworks. Wounds caused by them may be contaminated by the tetanus germ.

Tetanus, or lockjaw, is a disease in which the body becomes stiff, the chewing and swallowing muscles won't work, and severe convulsions occur. It is a dangerous ailment.

In some statistics I saw, it was recorded that 80 per cent of tetanus cases are found in injuries occurring on the street, in homes, gardens or stables. The worst case I ever saw followed a fall from a bicycle, where the palms of the hands were scraped on the gravel of the road. It is far less likely to result from industrial accidents.

Fortunately we now have at our disposal a means of combating this much-dreaded disease, for by means of "tetanus antitoxin" it may be prevented.

However, for this treatment to be successful, it should be given immediately after the infliction of any contaminated injury, and in addition to giving the tetanus antitoxin it is essential that the wound be thoroughly cleansed and receive whatever surgical treatment is necessary.

With the use of antitoxin, the mortality from this disease has been reduced at least one-half. The fatal cases now are usually due to negligence on the part of the patient; so never fail to seek medical advice if you have injured yourself.

Please remember that the antitoxin must be given immediately after receiving the injury, and that when it is given promptly there is very remote danger of tetanus.

In former years, when tetanus antitoxin was not known, it was customary to cauterize all suspected wounds. This painful and unpleasant procedure is no longer necessary if tetanus antitoxin is given.

Do not misunderstand me. Tetanus antitoxin is not a substitute for local treatment. It is only an occasional wound that is infected with this particular germ, but every wound is subject to infection with other germs, less deadly, but nevertheless disagreeable.

If every injury were treated at once, by thorough cleansing and the application of iodine, it would make a great difference in the average of results from wounds.

OFFICIAL SYSTEM As Adopted by Leading Authorities

By E. V. SHEPARD

End Play Problems

Problem 10 and its solution are given below:

Spades are trumps. Y is to lead. How many tricks can Y-Z make against the best play of A-B?

First, Y must lay down both of his high trumps, to prevent A from ruffing. Upon those two trumps leads Z must discard his two top hearts. What defense can B make? He must discard two cards of some sort. He cannot let go even one club without giving Y-Z three clubs tricks. B cannot let go more than one heart without giving Y two tricks in that suit. He needs to protect his diamonds. As a matter of fact, B will make things most difficult for Y-Z by discarding his two lowest hearts upon Y's spade leads. Y's third and fourth tricks will then be the Q and 9 of hearts; upon these two cards B had best let go his last heart and his J of clubs. Z must also make two discards; these will be the K of clubs and the 2 of diamonds. The fifth and sixth tricks will be won by Y's 10 of diamonds and Z's J of diamonds. The seventh and eighth tricks will be won by Z's Ace of clubs and Y's 10 of clubs. The ninth and tenth tricks must go to Z's Q of diamonds and his Ace of diamonds.

The answer to the problem is that Y-Z can win all 10 tricks against any defense possible for A-B to make. The hand may be played in numerous ways, according to what B decides to discard, but the best defense is as given above. Having Z discard his two top hearts and then discard his K of clubs will not be thought of readily by most solvers.

It is better always to have another player take charge of the two hands acting on the defensive. Comparatively few players can put up the best possible defense against themselves.

Spades are trumps. A is to lead. How many tricks can A-B win against the best defense of Y-Z? The answer will be given next week.

BUCS, CARDS CLASH TODAY

SPORT COMMENT

By James J. Long

Swift Real Aid to Bucs. Monheim's Fine Record.
Walker Deserves Credit. Armour May Repeat.
Rabbit Sees Chance. Max Clean Fighter.

STOP ONE WANER, OTHER CUTS LOOSE

WHEN THEY STOP one of the Waners the other breaks loose. Red Lucas did some flossy pitching in Cincinnati yesterday to halt Brother Paul after the latter had piled up 25 hits in 12 games, but in beating down on Big Poison he evidently did not give enough attention to Brother Lloyd, and the little fellow's timely single in the second inning drove two runs across the plate and won the ball game, giving the Pirates the excellent record of five wins out of six on the western trip and putting over their eighth win in the last 11 games. Evidently the famous brother combination is going to be a bigger factor than ever this year in whatever measure of success may be the lot of the Picaroons.

Lloyd Waner

The great relief pitching of Bill Swift is not to be overlooked in the Pirate uplift. Three times in five days he went to the front in emergencies and spiked the enemy guns. First he flagged the Cards and then he stopped the Reds cold twice on successive days. Pitching 6⅓ innings in the three games he allowed only one hit. A mighty handy guy to have around, even though credited with only one victory.

THOUGH THE DECISION given to Mickey Walker over Paulino Uzcudun in New York last night is said to have been questionable, Walker's failure to win more decisively can hardly be called a setback.

Mickey at least must be given credit for having had the courage to take a chance under big physical odds against the toughest heavyweight in the game, a job that most of the real heavies in the past feared even to tackle.

REPORTS OF THE session between Joe Devine and President Joe Bearwald of the Maroon club at which Devine was let out as manager say that the former Pirate scout had gone to Bearwald's office to talk things over. Both men got a bit hot under the collar when the showing of the club was discussed.

Finally Devine said: "I am the manager of the club." "You mean you were the manager," Bearwald retorted. "You are no longer, and you're on your way to Albuquerque right now. I want you to leave tonight."

THERE WERE TEARS in Devine's eyes as he left the office. "You took me from a 10-year job with Pittsburgh," he said. "Well," Bearwald replied, "no doubt Pittsburgh will be glad to get you back." Bearwald probably was right in that remark. The Pirate owners, of course, would not think of talking business with Devine during the term of the latter's contract with Bearwald, but it's a safe guess that when Joe wants a scouting job again he won't have to look any farther than Pittsburgh. He still stands aces high with the Buc bosses.

Rabbit Maranville

TOO OLD IN the game to claim any pennants on the strength of a spring dash, Rabbit Maranville nevertheless expresses the opinion that the Braves have as good a chance as any other club in the National League. He admits it will be mighty tough going, though, and sees four or five teams as being pretty evenly matched.

Maranville thinks the Giants are the class of the circuit, and predicts they will be at the top or close to it before it is all over, though he does not place any very high estimate on McGraw's pitching staff. He does not count the Reds as being good enough to win, doubts that the Cubs will be able to duplicate their home pace on the road, and though he liked the Cards at the start he now says they'll never get up there unless they show more than they have shown so far.

THE RABBIT NOTES a lack of hustle, an absence of the right kind of spirit on the St. Louis club. He relates that once when he came to bat against Flint Rhem, the latter motioned to a certain Cardinal player to move over a bit. The player didn't budge an inch and Maranville got a hit right through the spot that Rhem had indicated.

"When the side had been retired," Rabbit continued, "Rhem nicely enough asked the other chap why he hadn't taken the sign. 'All you've got to do is to take care of the pitching,' Rhem was told. 'I'll play that position out there.' Now you know that fellows playing that kind of ball aren't going to get very far."

FEW COLLEGE ATHLETES graduating next month will leave more enviable records behind them than that of Lon Monheim, captain of the 1932 Pitt track team. The little Elizabeth boy, though the team he captained lost its first three meets by decisive margins, was one of the most popular and respected figures in local track circles. Monheim, who stands only about 5 feet 4 inches, for three years competed against some of the best middle distance men in the country. He was beaten by Bill Keller, one of his own teammates, but he never cared much, just as long as the first place was going to Pitt.

DURING THE LAST few meets Monheim was shifted to the low hurdles by Coach Frank Sites and never finished worse than second in that event. He ran the 100, 220, 440 and the low hurdles against Carnegie Tech and placed in all four events, no small feat. With his short legs he was at a disadvantage against the usual long-legged runners.

However, by a desperate finish, he always managed to be in the thick of things near the tape. Pete Bowen called Monheim "the gamest runner I ever saw," and when one considers the great number of athletes viewed by that former Panther speedster this is no slight praise.

TRADITION WILL FAVOR the chances of Tommy Armour for a successful defense of his title as British open golf champion. For Tommy is the favorite, and the British open crown usually goes to one of a few favored players. In most instances, except when Bobby Jones was playing, dark horses have won the United States open, but there has been no such winner on the other side in a decade.

Max Schmeling

Armour's most serious opposition is likely to come from the two other American entrants, Gene Sarazen and Macdonald Smith. If he can outplay those two he will have a fine chance to repeat.

AMERICAN BOXING MEN respect Max Schmeling as a clean fighter, as well as a vastly improved one. Wilbur Wood noted this during a New York fanfest, when one ring veteran said: "If I were Schmeling and Sharkey hit me low, I would come right back with a low one myself." "Maybe you would, but you can gamble that Schmeling won't," chipped in another. "Max isn't that kind of fighter. I have worked behind other men of his type who were fouled and told them to go out and pay the other guy back with a low punch in the next round. But they wouldn't do it. They just couldn't make up their minds to hit low deliberately, even though the other fellow had it coming to him. There are fighters who don't have to be told to pay off a low punch with another below the belt. They'll do it quickly enough. But Schmeling isn't one of them."

DOCTOR FEARS RETINA IS DETACHED

Jackie Fields

This was exclusively learned by the Associated Press after reports were first circulated that Fields had been taken to Michael Reese Hospital in Chicago for a suspected appendicitis case. Dr. Harry S. Gradle an eye specialist, is in charge. Dr. Gradle, while insisting that Fields' trouble may be temporary, said today that a detached retina always is suspected whenever a blur occurs in the vision.

RIGHT EYE AFFECTED

Fields' trouble is in his right eye. After boxing five rounds with a Negro sparring mate last Tuesday, the welterweight champion first complained of impaired vision and was sent to the hospital. His business representatives gave out reports that he was suffering from suspected appendicitis instead of failing sight.

Fields' impending ring contests, including a title match with Young Corbett, Fresno, Cal., southpaw, at San Francisco, June 28, are up in the air. His bout with Ted Yarosz, in Pittsburgh next Tuesday night, has been canceled. The title match with Corbett, however, has not been definitely called off, but undoubtedly will be, as Dr. Gradle says Fields must be in the hospital for observation for at least 10 more days. Dr. Gradle, while refusing to commit himself, said Fields may or may not be able to resume training within a month. It all depends upon the result of his examination.

TWICE CHAMPION

How Fields sustained the eye injury is not entirely clear. He may have received it as a result of a blow in boxing in his training bout last Tuesday or the injury, starting earlier, may have only reached its serious stage within the last two or three days.

Fields regained the world welterweight championship only last November, recapturing the title from Lou Brouillard, of Boston. He first won the 147-pound crown from Joe Dundee, of Baltimore, on a foul in a battle fought in Detroit three years ago. Later he lost it to Young Jack Thompson, who, in turn, dropped it to Brouillard.

GREB SIMILARLY HURT

The late Harry Greb, of Pittsburgh, suffered a detached retina midway in his career, but continued on boxing and won two titles, the world middleweight and American light-heavyweight, and fought some of the greatest battles in his record following his injury, which occurred during a bout with Kid Norfolk at Forbes Field. The eye had to be removed shortly before Greb's death, however.

Jackie Rodgers, local Negro featherweight, also suffered a detached retina in a bout with Johnny Erickson, of New York, at Hickey Park, Millvale, two sum-

EXPLANATIONS OF RIPLEY'S CARTOONS OF YESTERDAY: THE 8-YEAR-OLD MOTHER—Chinese marriages are not a matter of personal preferences or choice, but usually are arranged by go-betweens between the prospective parents. It is even possible to arrange a marriage of children before they are born, and after they are dead. Child marriages are not unusual, but I was astounded during my stay in Canton, China, this spring to hear of a tiny Cantonese girl who was a mother at the age of 8.

THE BALUTE EGGS OF THE PHILIPPINES—In the native markets of the Philippines, "balutes" are distinguished from fresh eggs by their bright and varied coloring, presenting an appearance like American Easter eggs. My queries regarding them resulted in a demonstration of how they are prepared. The egg is prepared just before it is ready to hatch, and the contents eaten wholly. My own attempt to eat one was not entirely successful, although they are regarded as a great delicacy by the Filipinos.

TOMORROW: THE WINGED FROG.

PIRATES WIN SERIES FINALE FROM REDS

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

Our Pirates returned this morning from their triumphant invasion of St. Louis and Cincinnati. While there were no "Conquering Hero" band selections to buoy the step of the Buccaneers, it might be added the music was hardly needed as George Gibson and his hustlers struck out in a snappy gait and with heads up after they disembarked from the Pullmans. Their reflected honest pride was engendered by the five victories they achieved in six battles with two of the classy clubs of the National League—the world-champion Cardinals of St. Louis, and the rejuvenated Reds of Cincinnati.

Pie Traynor

When the Freebooters pulled out of Pittsburgh about one week ago to invade very hostile territory, their supporters shook their heads with some concern. The fans figured then that an even break in the six fights would be a rare accomplishment; little did they dream their favorites would win the laurel wreath in five of the six conflicts.

MEINE REINSTATED

Word that Heinie Meine, holdout pitcher who only recently came to terms, had been reinstated by Commissioner K. M. Landis, was received from Landis' office by Pirate officials today. Meine had been suspended because of his holdout tactics. His reinstatement was little more than a formality.

It fell to the misfortune of the Reds to feel the pentup spleen of the Pittsburghers. Dan Howley's team was sailing along at a merry clip, but the morale of the Reds reached a new low for the year last night right after the Pirates, with Bill Harris and Bill Swift up, had trimmed them in a 3-to-2 mound duel, Red Lucas being on the losing end.

The upshot of all this victorious carryings on has lifted the Buccos from the cellar into fifth place; the Bucs are less than one full game from the first division and only three games beneath the third-place Reds.

The Cardinals also reached Pittsburgh today, the home team and the champs being scheduled for two games, the first of which will be staged this afternoon. Larry French may oppose Bill Hallahan in the first clash.

HARRIS IN FORM

Harris and Lucas engaged in a fine slab duel in the last clash in Cincy. Harris had the foe blanked as late as the eighth, when the Reds scored twice and thus were one run from a tie, the Pirates having scored three times in the first round. The Reds had the tying and winning markers on the sacks when Swift stepped in and flagged them down.

Capt. Traynor started the winning drive of the Pirates in the second, which he opened with a double. Pie moved ahead as Barbee was tossed out. Suhr walked and Pie tallied when Piet singled. A fumble by Grantham on Grace's grounder filled the sacks. Harris fanned, but Brother Lloyd came through with a single to score Suhr and Piet with the important runs.

BALL PLAYER KILLED

SHELBY, Miss., May 27.—(AP.)—One player, Henry Nemets, was instantly killed and four others severely shocked when a bolt of lightning struck on a baseball diamond here yesterday afternoon where a game between Shelby and Gunnison was being played.

U. S. AND ANZAC NETTERS MEET

PHILADELPHIA, May 27.—(AP.)—First day's play in the Davis Cup finals in the North American zone today brings together members of the Australian and United States teams in two singles matches on the courts of the Philadelphia Country Club at Bala.

In the first match, starting at 1:30 p. m., Francis X. Shields, towering, hard-hitting New Yorker, will oppose Harry Hopman, Australia's No. 2 star.

Then comes the battle of the two ranking players of the contesting nations—Jack Crawford, hailed as a worthy successor to the Great Norman Brookes, against slim, dour-faced Ellsworth Vines, of California, who last year won his first national championship.

The doubles will be played tomorrow, with Wilmer Allison, of Texas, and John W. Van Ryn, of Philadelphia, representing the United States, and Crawford and Hopman the likely Australian players.

The last two singles matches will be played Monday, with Shields opposing Crawford in the opener, and Vines against Hopman in the closing battle.

Oval Races Carded For Memorial Day

The Schenley Matinee Club will inaugurate the 1932 harness racing season on Memorial Day at the Schenley Oval with the first race scheduled for 2 o'clock. Six events have been carded. The fifth race will be a special between three colts, John Drew, Peter Cochata and Fred Etawah.

HOLY CROSS ELECTS

WORCESTER, Mass., May 27.—(AP.)—Thomas McNally, of Clinton, today had been elected to captain the 1933 Holy Cross track team. He succeeds Bernie McCafferty, of Lansdowne, Pa., present captain.

Fight Results

At Hickey Park, Millvale—Johnny Jadick defeated Herman Perino, 10 rounds; Joe Pace defeated Apache Gibson, 6 rounds; Lloyd Clements won referee's decision over Chuck Mullins, 6 rounds; Jerry Clemente defeated Johnny Montefano, 6 rounds.

At New York—Mickey Walker defeated Paulino Uzcudun, 10 rounds; Arthur Hurley defeated Nate Brown, 8 rounds; Johnny Casey defeated Enzo Fiermonte, 8 rounds; Ralph Vignola defeated Joe Barrow, 8 rounds; Al Mutchman and Izzy Singer drew, 6 rounds; Teddy Hale defeated Jackie Aldare, 10 rounds.

At Steubenville—Rose Fields knocked out Clair Depole, 6 rounds; Jimmy Vaughan and Johnny Catalino drew, 8 rounds; Young Ketchel defeated Sam Lombardo, 6 rounds; Gene Marsh defeated Johnny Dembo, 6 rounds.

PAUL CAPTURES N. B. A. TITLE

DETROIT, May 27.—(AP.)—Tommy Paul, young Buffalo fighter, last night was awarded the featherweight boxing title by decisively outpointing Jonny Pena, of New York, in a 15-round bout. Paul weighed 125, Pena 124½.

The fight was the final of an N. B. A. sanctioned elimination contest held here to find a successor to the throne vacated by Bat Battalino recently when he outgrew the division.

Paul was easily the best, winning at least 11 of the 15 rounds. Pena's aggressive, forward-moving style seemed for a time to bother him, but he solved this problem easily after the first two rounds and fought a methodical fight throughout.

SCHMEILER HONORED

ANN ARBOR, Mich., May 27.—John A. Schmeiler, of Pittsburgh, national breast stroke champion and holder of several Western Conference swimming records, has been elected vice president of literary college, representing the Union, at the University of Michigan. At the same time he was admitted to membership in Michigamua, senior honor society.

SCHOOL GOLF TEAMS MEET

The Intercollegiate Golf Conference will complete its regular schedule today with five matches listed for as many courses. Shady Side Academy and Kiski have the first places in both sections in the bag, today's competition having as its most important angle the settling of the runner-up positions.

The two leaders will meet for the Conference title in a play-off match, tentatively scheduled for next Wednesday at Oakmont.

Sewickley and Wilkinsburg are in the race for second place in Section I and McKeesport and Peabody in Section II.

John Graham and Mrs. H. C. Baxmeier turned in a low gross score of 88 to lead the field in the first mixed foursome tourney of the season at South Hills yesterday. Mrs. E. T. Broderick and H. L. Cobb had a low net of 77.

Spike Webb Renamed Olympic Ring Coach

NEW YORK, May 27.—(AP.)—The appointment of H. M. (Spike) Webb, of the Naval Academy, as head coach of the American Olympic boxing team, for the fourth straight time, was announced today through Olympic headquarters by William P. Kenney, of Boston, manager of the boxing team.

Webb will be assisted by James (Spider) Roach, of the Olympic Club, San Francisco. Bob Sullivan, of Holy Cross, was named as trainer and Dr. Hugo Bezdek, of Penn State, as assistant manager.

SCHNEIDER PASSES TEST

INDIANAPOLIS, May 27.—(AP.)—Louis Schneider, the former Indianapolis policeman, who won the 500-mile race at the Indianapolis motor speedway last year, has qualified for this year's race.

Schneider drove the same car he piloted last year over the 10-mile speed test yesterday at 110.681 miles per hour, and became the thirtieth driver to qualify for the long race here Monday.

Rain halted the time trials at an early hour yesterday and left some 20 drivers, who have not yet passed the requirements, only two more days in which to do so.

T. E. Myers, general manager of the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, announced today that the race will not be broadcast. Myers said the Speedway Corporation and the broadcasting companies could not agree on financial terms for a national network.

GRID PRICES CUT

LOS ANGELES, May 27.—(AP.)—University of California at Los Angeles has announced reduced prices for tickets to football games this fall. Admission prices for the Stanford, St. Mary's, Washington and Washington State games were cut from $2.50 to $1.50, while the Montana and Idaho games were trimmed to $1.

FRASER IN BIG MEET

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., May 28.—(AP.)—Gordon Fraser, former Charleston High School track star, has been named to compete in the I. C. A. A. A. meet at Berkeley, Cal. The meet will serve as a semi-final trial for the Olympics.

YANKS BOOST LEAD IN AMERICAN RACE

GIANTS LOSE TO DODGERS; PHILS WIN

Associated Press

One bad pitch a game, one ball that gets away from the pitcher and goes down the batter's alley, can very easily cost a good team a pennant, said Walter Johnson recently in explaining his preference for moundsmen with tight control.

As if to bear out his boss' contention, General Alvin Crowder, of the Senators, tossed one up that exactly suited Lou Gehrig, of the Yankees in the sixth inning of yesterday's tilt between the American League pace-setters. Three Yanks were on base at the time and Gehrig, further bearing out Johnson's theory, spanked the ball over the right field fence. The Yanks gathered another run in the ninth for a final score of 5 to 2, but it was Gehrig's blow that knocked the wind out of the Senators.

YANKS BOOST LEAD

The victory perched the Yankees on top by four full games and left the Senators with only a two-game lead over the third place Detroit Tigers, who were beating Chicago, 11 to 2, in the first half of a scheduled doubleheader. The second game was rained out in the fifth with the count tied, 1 to 1.

Jimmy Foxx hit his fifteenth home run of the year, as the Athletics pounded out a 7 to 1 win over Boston.

The Boston Braves dropped off the National League pinnacle, yielding to the idle Chicago Cubs, when they got the worst of a slugging match with the Phillies, 17 to 13. Five runs in the eighth settled the argument.

DODGERS WIN

Brooklyn got its batting order mixed up and lost a run that would have won in regulation time, but went on to beat the Giants anyway, 3 to 2, in 12 rounds.

Pittsburgh made it three straight from Cincinnati, 3 to 2, and went into fifth place.

ALEX SHEDS YEARS ON SANDLOTS

GREAT OL' ALEX CARRIES ON AS PILOT

By TOM BIRKS

A rejuvenated Grover Cleveland (The Great) Alexander is touring the sandlots of Western Pennsylvania this week as manager and star pitcher of the House of David team.

Looking 10 years younger than when he was waived out of the major leagues, after a long and brilliant career, Old Alex, now 45, is doing his daily stunt, pitching an inning or two almost every evening or afternoon as a gate attraction and luring the fans in large numbers. He appeared at Forbes Field and McKeesport and now is hitting the trail in the northwestern part of the state.

While here Alexander dropped in to see an old friend, Honus Wagner, and they engaged in a fanfest. In memory they played over many a game of bygone years, both immortals of the diamond.

In a single inning against the Homestead Grays at Forbes Field, Alex fanned two batters and caused the third one to hit to him. He still retains his old running and a strong right arm, and he enjoys his trouping with the hustling House of Davids. He likes the new baseball saying the raised seams lend themselves to many tricks of the pitching art.

LOCAL NETTER MADE CAPTAIN AT HARVARD

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN

Steel City tennis followers acclaim with vigor the election of Wally Arensberg youthful Pittsburgh Athletic Association net star to the captaincy of the Harvard University court crew for 1933. The hard-hitting homebred ace, chosen to lead the Cambridge squad after scoring singles and doubles victories to aid the Crimson to 11-4 triumph over a powerful Yale array last Saturday, is exceedingly popular with local galleries.

The writer has watched Arensberg since the days when it was a question whether Wally was swinging the racquet or the racquet was swinging Wally. The Harvard boss-to-be has been engaging in Pittsburgh tennis events for about nine seasons and has run the entire competitive gamut from the boys' division through the juniors to his present senior estate.

His ground shots executed with flawless eastern form, are fast and heavy, he volleys well, especially the low ones, and his service and overhead are decisive, if inclined to be erratic.

Arensberg's best singles achievements have been capture of the Pittsburgh Center boys' title in 1927 and annexation of the Talbot County, Maryland, crown in final battle with his inseparable pal, Billy O'Loughlin, of Pitt, in 1931.

The Interscholastic Tennis Conference dope prevailed to perfection yesterday as Taylor Allderdice and Mount Lebanon High Schools, champions respectively of the City group and of County Section 1, skirmished through to the final playoff round on the Pitt rectangles. Allderdice, favored to cop in close struggle with Capt. Paul Elliott's Wilkinsburgers, accomplished precisely that, 3-2, but not till Elliott and Bob Burnett, Holy City mainstays, had nearly spilled the Squirrel Hill applecart with straight-set wins over Hyman and Hess.

Mount Lebanon, looming today as class of the conference, lived up to advance notices by blanking Crafton, 5-0, with Ackerman, Ralph Bald and Brier in feature roles. Allderdice and Mount Lebanon will clash for the new three-year Blue and Gold flagon on the Panther lot next Tuesday. The summaries:

ALLDERDICE, 3; WILKINSBURG, 2.

Singles—Elliott (Wilkinsburg) defeated Hyman (Allderdice), 6-4, 6-2; Burnett (Wilkinsburg) defeated Hess (Allderdice), 6-3, 6-3; Thompson (Allderdice) defeated Smith (Wilkinsburg), 6-4, 6-3.

Doubles—Hyman and Hess (Allderdice) defeated Elliott and Burnett (Wilkinsburg), 6-2, 6-4; Thompson and Fleishman (Allderdice) defeated Merchant and Maxwell (Wilkinsburg), 6-1, 6-0.

MT. LEBANON, 5; CRAFTON, 0.

Singles—Ackerman (Mt. Lebanon) defeated Galbreath (Crafton), 6-2, 6-4; Ralph Bald (Mt. Lebanon) defeated Jones (Crafton), 6-1, 6-4.

Doubles—R. Bald and J. Bald (Mt. Lebanon) defeated Galbreath and Ralph, 6-2, 6-3; Hatch and Gyer (Mt. Lebanon) defeated Weiss and Jones (Crafton), 6-2, 6-4.

YALE TO CUT SPORT PROGRAM IN 1933

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 27.—(AP.)—Drastic curtailments in Yale's intercollegiate athletic program with shifting of primary emphasis to intramural sports for "fun and informality" were outlined today by President James Rowland Angell in announcing accepting of a survey committee's recommendations.

The new program, to go into effect after the residential college plan is established in 1933 will see reduction of the varsity football schedule to five games, stringent cuts in athletic costs, free admission of undergraduates to all games and elimination of scouting, class teams and the 150-pound football team.

Instead, stress will be laid on sports for all students with as little practice and as much competition as they want.

WALKER GETS TAINTED WIN

NEW YORK, May 27.—(AP.)—If Mickey Walker fails to get that match with Ernie Schaaf as early in the outdoor season as he expected, he can blame it all on Paulino Uzcudun, rock-ribbed old warrior from the Pyrenees.

By the slimmest of margins and, partly at least, because of an illegal punch at the end of the eighth round, Walker squeezed out a 10-round decision over Paulino in Madison Square Garden last night. But the boos of a crowd of 8,000 followed Walker as he left the ring while Paulino drew the ovation usually reserved for the winner.

The punch that turned the sympathies of the crowd to the veteran Spaniard and the tide of battle toward Walker came after the bell had ended the eighth round. Paulino was partly at fault for he landed a left hook to the body just after the bell. But he dropped his hands and stepped back and, as he did, Walker swung a right that split the Spaniard's left eyebrow wide open.

That blow beat Paulino, for Walker opened the cut with the first punch in the ninth round and, blinded by the flow of blood, Paulino could do little from then on but step forward into Walker's lefts to the head.

PHILS CUT SQUAD

PHILADELPHIA, May 27.—(AP.)—The Philadelphia National League Ball Club has pared its roster to the required 23 with the release of Russ Scarritt, outfielder, and George Kourie, utility infielder, to Fort Worth of the Texas League.

TORRANCE CUP CAPTAIN

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland, May 27.—(AP.)—Official announcement of the appointment of A. Torrance as captain of the British Walker Cup golf team was made today by the Royal and Ancient club, ruling power of the game in Great Britain.

SPAIN REVEALS PLANS

MADRID, May 27.—(INS.)—The Olympic committee today decided Spain will not participate in any shooting and rowing at the 1932 Olympic games. Shortage of funds was given as the reason.

LEAGUE GAMES TOP CARD

SANDLOT GAMES TODAY

CITY LEAGUE

Hazelwood at North Side Civics.

NORTH-SOUTH LEAGUE
Alba Williams at Colliers.

City and West Penn League tussles promise to provide fireworks on this evening's card, with two games in the City circuit and one in the West Penn group.

Cy Rheam and George Miller will pilot the Reliance Life nine at Stowe this evening to clash with the Dave Wickline-Curley Semler aggregation. The Community Builders will travel to Garfield Park to meet the Martins in the West Penn League, and the Turtle Creek aggregation should give the Hill fans a real game. Dormont, going at a sensational clip, takes on Homewood. Dormont will play Canonsburg at Dormont in a twilight tilt tomorrow evening. The Gunners probably will be one of the most popular attractions to appear in the South Hills this season.

Monday, the City League champions will entertain Edgewood for two games, one in the afternoon and the second in the evening.

The Geislers, Dormont, Books and North Siders turned in triumphs in the City League last evening. Homewood fell before the Geisler nine, 6 to 5; Dormont nosed out Reliance Life, 3 to 2; Books walloped the Frank Ferris entry, 11 to 1, and the North Siders trimmed J. L. Thomas, 8 to 5.

Manager George Falconer, of the Dormont club of the City League, announced today that he had signed Red Whitmore, star pitcher, and Johnny Houser, catcher, of Dormont, who has been playing with the University of Alabama team.

The Birmingham (Ala.) team will clash with the Pittsburgh Crawfords this evening at Greenlee Field. The game is a North-South League affair and will mark the first visit of the southern team in Pittsburgh.

De Forest, Smith British Finalists

MUIRFIELD, Scotland, May 27.—(AP.)—John De Forest, rich young Londoner, who learned his golf in the United States, today won his way to the final round of the British Amateur golf championship for the second straight year, defeating Lionel Munn, Irish veteran, 1 up in 21 holes in their semi-final match. He was the finalist against Eric Martin Smith in 1931.

Today's Scratches Woodbine.

mers ago, halting his winning career. He never was able to perform in his best stride after the injury.

No substitute opponent has been secured so far for Ted Yarosz at the Meyers Bowl, North Braddock, next Tuesday night. Lou Brouillard, the former welterweight champion, is not available, and Ray Foutts, manager of Yarosz, has drawn the line on King Tut and Johnny Indrisano because of their styles. He also has declined to let Yarosz box Tony Herrera, Fields' stablemate, on account of the disparity in weight, Herrera scaling not more than 142 pounds.

Downtown 'Y' Holds Annual Sport Dinner

The downtown branch of the Y. M. C. A. wound up its athletic program for the season with a banquet in the assembly hall last night, at which trophies, plaques and medals were awarded to winning teams and individuals.

Speakers were William T. Rowe, physical director; L. O. Gaskins, assistant physical director; M. M. Eicher, mayor of the dormitories, and William A. Scheder, resident member secretary. M. M. Clancy, athletic commissioner, was toastmaster.

Bowling champions—Jack N. Weig, William F. Hitchins, Marion Moses, J. B. Patterson and Capt. John W. Ekey. Jack N. Wells won the individual bowling plaque.

Basketball champions—T. A. Cunningham, M. M. Clancy, Paul Serene, Capt. R. L. Dynes, J. R. Metzner, W. E. Hinkel, W. J. Hinkel, W. J. Lasko, Marvin Bolling-ton and Paul F. Riebler, Jr.

Indoor baseball—Capt. E. C. Strothman, Clancy, Metzner, W. E. Hinkel, Dynes and Virgil Baird.

Bronze medals were presented G. C. McCune and Herman Ott for placing second in the handball doubles. A plaque was awarded M. M. Clancy for winning the pocket billiard championship.

LOCAL POLOISTS AWAIT TEST

With Howard (Roddy) Rodgers, Princeton varsity polo coach, putting them through their paces, the two squads of the Pittsburgh Polo and Riding Club yesterday indulged their final scrimmage in preparation for tomorrow's game with the Hamburg Place polo team, of Lexington, Ky.

The game tomorrow marks the opening of the local outdoor polo season, as well as the initial effort in a citywide drive by the girls of the Junior League to raise funds for the establishment of free milk distributing stations for undernourished children. Gate receipts in full will be contributed to the fund.

To avoid the recurrence of last year's dilemma, when the scheduled two-game series between the Pittsburgh and Lexington poloists wound up in a deadlock, three games have been billed for the tournament. In addition to the charity game tomorrow the same teams will cross mallets on Sunday and again on Memorial Day.

U. S. Tennis Stars Continue Advance

AUTEUIL, France, May 27.—(INS.)—Mrs. Helen Wills Moody and Miss Elizabeth Ryan continued their forward march in the women's doubles of the French hard court tennis championships today, defeating Senorita Lili De Alvarez, of Spain, and Josianne Sigart, of France, 6-4, 1-6, 6-4.

Mrs. Eileen Bennett Whittingstall and Betty Nuthall, of England, joined the American team in the final with a 6-4, 3-6, 6-4 victory over Muriel Thomas and Ida Adamoff, the Anglo-French team.

In the mixed doubles quarter-final Mrs. Moody and Sidney B. Wood, Jr., American combination, defeated Mlle. Ida Adamoff and Christian Boussus, of France, 6-1, 4-6, 6-4.

The French team of Henri Cochet and Jacques Brugnon defeated Hermann Artens and Franz Mateika, 6-3, 7-5, 6-1, in the men's doubles.

W. Va. Gets College Boxing Title Event

PHILADELPHIA, May 27.—The championship meet of the Intercollegiate Boxing Conference will be held at the University of West Virginia next year, Earl R. Yeomans, president of the league and graduate manager of athletics at Temple University, announced.

It will be a two-day meet starting on March 17. Pittsburgh, Carnegie Tech, West Virginia, Bucknell, Duquesne, Temple and Washington and Jefferson comprise the league teams. Temple carried off the team championship in 1932.

Boxing Judge to Sit With Gallery Fans

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., May 27.—(AP.)—One of two judges for a boxing bout tonight will sit with the gallerytes, who have vociferously disapproved recent decisions.

The promoters say he is expected to obtain the gallery viewpoint, without of course, being swayed from his better judgment.

Boley Helps Rescue Girl in Auto Crash

POTTSTOWN, Pa., May 27.—(AP.)—Joe Boley, former shortstop of the Philadelphia American League baseball team, today helped rescue Miss Mae Garvey, of Philadelphia, from a burning automobile in which she had overturned on the highway, with four companions.

With a friend, William E. Wolfendale, Boley took Miss Garvey to the Pottstown Hospital, after a nearby resident had beat out her flaming clothes with his hands. Doctors said her condition was critical.

TIGERS SIGN PHENOM

NEW YORK, May 27.—(INS.)—Al (Dusty) Lang, the schoolboy pitching sensation, was reported today to be under option to the Detroit Tigers. Lang, a student at McBurney School, yesterday hurled his sixth consecutive shutout and his second no-hit, no-run game of the season, beating Bonham Academy, 6 to 0.

CHOCOLATE VICTOR

YALE TO CUT SPORT PROGRAM IN 1933

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 27.—(AP.)—Drastic curtailments in Yale's intercollegiate athletic program with shifting of primary emphasis to intramural sports for "fun and informality" were outlined today by President James Rowland Angell in announcing accepting of a survey committee's recommendations.

The new program, to go into effect after the residential college plan is established in 1933 will see reduction of the varsity football schedule to five games, stringent cuts in athletic costs, free admission of undergraduates to all games and elimination of scouting, class teams and the 150-pound football team.

WALKER GETS TAINTED WIN

NEW YORK, May 27.—(AP.)—If Mickey Walker fails to get that match with Ernie Schaaf as early in the outdoor season as he expected, he can blame it all on Paulino Uzcudun, rock-ribbed old warrior from the Pyrenees.

By the slimmest of margins and, partly at least, because of an illegal punch at the end of the eighth round, Walker squeezed out a 10-round decision over Paulino in Madison Square Garden last night. But the boos of a crowd of 8,000 followed Walker as he left the ring while Paulino drew the ovation usually reserved for the winner.

The punch that turned the sympathies of the crowd to the veteran Spaniard and the tide of battle toward Walker came after the bell had ended the eighth round. Paulino was partly at fault for he landed a left hook to the body just after the bell. But he dropped his hands and stepped back and, as he did, Walker swung a right that split the Spaniard's left eyebrow wide open.

That blow beat Paulino, for Walker opened the cut with the first punch in the ninth round and, blinded by the flow of blood, Paulino could do little from then on but step forward into Walker's lefts to the head.

PHILS CUT SQUAD

PHILADELPHIA, May 27.—(AP.)—The Philadelphia National League Ball Club has pared its roster to the required 23 with the release of Russ Scarritt, outfielder, and George Kourie, utility infielder, to Fort Worth of the Texas League.

TORRANCE CUP CAPTAIN

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland, May 27.—(AP.)—Official announcement of the appointment of A. Torrance as captain of the British Walker Cup golf team was made today by the Royal and Ancient club, ruling power of the game in Great Britain.

SPAIN REVEALS PLANS

MADRID, May 27.—(INS.)—The Olympic committee today decided Spain will not participate in any shooting and rowing at the 1932 Olympic games. Shortage of funds was given as the reason.

POOR HEALTH SHOWS AGE MORE THAN YEARS

ASK YOURSELF—ARE YOU PHYSICALLY FIT?

Diseased people lack ambition, energy and the necessary vim to fight life's battles. The germs and toxins of disease poison the system and rob you of your nerve energy. Few people feel comfortable when such unnatural condition exists in the system. When you are sick—find a good doctor. Make no mistake—scientific treatment is what you want. Keep your blood pure—your nerves strong. Blood tests made when necessary, also chemical analysis, and other tests, if hidden disease is suspected. Do not let bladder troubles undermine your health.

JADICK VICTOR

JOHNNY FOILED BY FOLINS' DEFENSE

By HARRY KECK
Sports Editor

One was a small turnout of fans after the Tony Canzoneri-Battling Gizzo fight of last Monday night at the Meyers Bowl had drained their resources and the other was the ability of Herman Folins of Ambridge to stand up under and smother his best punches for the full 10 rounds in the main bout.

Aside from these two minor details, Johnny spent a very pleasant evening in our midst. He walked off with the decision winning every round but the last one in which Folins, who had boxed a cautious defensive battle throughout, took chances and forced the going to eke out an edge.

BOUT LACKS THRILLS

The bout lacked thrills. Both men are natural counter punchers. Folins remained cool and Jadick anxious to get the night's work over with early switched over and took the aggressive at the tap of the first gong but found Folins too foxy to be trapped into leaving openings for vital punches and able to absorb those that did break through to the jaw and body. Folins keen to travel the route with the champion refused to be feinted into leads that would needlessly expose his person. As a result they simply went through the motions with Jadick the actual winner and Folins turning in a more or less moral victory.

Jadick even had time to brush a butterfly off the back of his head in the opening round. It was that sort of a fight. Johnny suffered a slight cut over his left eye late in the fifth round and Folins bled from the nose over the last half of the route. There were no knockdowns.

The champion scaled 135½ pounds at 3 p. m. while Folins tipped the beam at 139 and had to drink four glasses of water to hit 142 pounds and make it a non-title affair.

SALA BEATS GREEN

Lee Sala of Donora 156 proved too fast and shifty for Anson Green Homestead Negro 155¼ and handily won the six-round semi-final staged after the main bout, thus putting a halt to Green's knockout string, which had been run up to three. Green was dropped in a wild exchange in the third round and took a count of three.

Lloyd Clements, of Jeannette 171½, won the referee's decision over Chuck Mullins, of Beechview, 167½, in the second bout, marking Mullins' professional debut. Chuck made a good showing against his more experienced opponent until he tired. One of the judges, L. K. Meininger, voted for him as the winner.

Baseball's Humorist
Says:

WASHINGTON, May 27.—The way the Red Sox are dropping games this season it's possible for any other American League team to play .500 baseball and still be in seventh place.

Nick Altrock

If the Boston team gets any worse, they'll be losing games without even playing 'em—like conceding putts in golf. Or maybe they could save traveling expenses if they stayed in Boston and lost all their contests by mail like those college teams play chess.

When 52,000 turn out to see the Braves as they did last Sunday, it shows Boston is still a swell town. It's only the citizens' sportsmanship that's held 'em from waiving the Red Sox team to Leningrad.

CARNEGIE TECH TRACKERS TOP GROVE CITY

By JESS CARVER

Carnegie Tech made its closing athletic gesture of the year a decisive one yesterday afternoon as the Plaid track and field squad piled up a 95½ to 39½ score on Grove City's varsity. The Tartans were paced by their sterling leader, Capt. Tommy Coulter, Canadian Olympic team hope who captured five first places as he put in a very full afternoon.

One Tartan Bowl record went to smash as little Jess Price, running his last race for the Skibos, stepped the two-mile in 10 minutes 6-10 seconds. The old mark was set last week by Wudyka, of Temple, at 10:12.4.

The Tartans failed to monopolize the first places. Grove City athletes finishing out in front in the shot, discus and javelin. The Tartans swept the track events, making a clean sweep of all three places in the half mile. Grove City retaliated by scoring all the points in the discus throw.

COULTER BIG STAR

Coulter opened his afternoon's muscle-testing by winning the 100 in 10:1. Then he took both hurdles, came back to win the 220 and wound up with a lead of 21 feet 4½ inches to annex a first place in the broad jump.

Grove City's leading scorer was Graham, who finished second in the 100, third in the 220, second in both hurdles and finished behind a teammate, Dave Shupe, last year's football captain, in the discus. He counted 13 points.

Murray Armentrout, Tech's grid captain last year, wound up his intercollegiate career for the Plaid with a victory in the hammer-throw. He heaved the 16-pound ball 124 feet.

Frank Shea, coach of the Pitt track team, has been notified that the Panthers have been awarded three places in the I. C. 4-A meet to be held in Berkeley, Cal., on June 4. Shea has written the committee asking for an additional berth. He plans to take Woody Harris, Bill Keller, Jim MacMurdo and John Valenti to the coast.

West Virginia and Carnegie Tech each have been granted one place. Gordon Fraser will represent the Mountaineers, while Tom Coulter will represent the Skibos.

Between Rounds

Harry Rappaport, Newark promoter, acted as chief second for Herman Folins in his bout with Johnny Jadick last night. He is a brother of Jack Rappaport, who boxed Jack Zivic here some years ago. Joe Ferguson, former Philadelphia boxer, who is Jadick's trainer, was in charge of the champion's corner.

Caddy DeMarco is on the trail of opponents for his Johnny Hazel, the light-weight, whom he would like to match against Patsy Hennigan or any of the other men his weight around here.

The Bora McTiernan-Tommy Freeman bout at Hickey Park, Millvale next Wednesday night is an interesting match. Freeman received the referee's decision in their first meeting at the Meyers Bowl last May, although the general opinion was that McTiernan had the better of the going.

Record Attempt Abandoned by Don

GARDONE, Italy, May 27 (AP).—Kaye Don, British speedboat driver, today decided to abandon his attempt to set a new world speedboat record on Lake Garda with his Miss England III.

The British driver, who once held the world mark before it was raised to 111.712 by Gar Wood of Detroit, was bitterly disappointed over his slow record run yesterday. He averaged only 91.37 miles an hour in two-way trials over a measured mile.

Ross Fields Stops Repole in Sixth

STEUBENVILLE, May 27.—Ross Fields, Cleveland bantam, formerly of Weirton, W. Va., knocked out Claire Repole, Steubenville bantam, in the sixth round of a scheduled 10-round bout here last night. Repole fractured his right hand on Fields' head in the fifth round and was practically helpless in the sixth.

JERRY SCHMELZER DIES

Forbes
Nero Did Not Add Kerosene To the Flames

By B. C. FORBES

Mr. Forbes

NERO MERELY fiddled harmlessly while Rome burned.

In America not a few supposedly responsible citizens are throwing kerosene in the flames of destruction now raging.

FIRST: Who can view with equanimity what is happening in Congress? Instead of promptly adopting a rational tax program and effecting wise economies, a group of hot-heads blind to the stark realities afflicting the unemployed and almost everybody else, kicked over the traces, rebelled against their own chosen leaders, derailed taxes and every other constructive form of legislation and plunged the country into shockingly distressing conditions.

Nor has this suicidal exhibition yet ceased. The ruler of Rome was innocuous in contrast with the mischievous conduct of many of our jackass misrepresentatives and senators.

SECOND: America's bankers have been furnished with abundant means to supply credit. But how have they used, misused, the funds so freely placed at the their disposal, funds supplied to you and me, taxpayers?

They have simply seized upon this additional opportunity to look out for number one. Bluntly, the money for the most part has simply gone into bank vaults, swelling the too many millions already hoarded there. There has been no important expansion in commercial lending. From all accounts, it has steadily become harder and harder to obtain loans on even the best real estate.

Brokers loans, which, thanks to the co-operation of banks, soared to over $8,500,000,000 in 1929, have been squeezed down to little more than $400,000,000. And the squeezing process continues daily.

And, of course, each security loan cast out by banks means throwing another faggot on the flames of destruction and disaster.

THIRD: We were lead to believe on the highest authority that vast railway consolidations would be achieved long before now. But the Interstate Commerce Commissioners, doubtless overworked, have failed to give final decisions, not only so, but the commissioners' attitude towards needy railroads has aggravated uncertainty and resulted in the annihilation of railway bond and stock values by the billion.

These same commissioners were extremely vigilant in seeing to it that our railroads were not afforded opportunity to accumulate adequate reserves during the nation's boom years. Unhappily, there is not on the Interstate Commerce Commission one member possessing vast practical experience in railway finance, a peculiarly unfortunate fact during times like these.

Admittedly, public clamor induced them very tardily to impose safeguards against unrestricted bear attacks. But that enough was not done was tacitly admitted by the exchange governors the other day when, market values having already been slaughtered to ruinous depths, they ordered brokers to tighten the margins required against short sales.

This writer long ago argued earnestly with President Whitney that the exchange, regardless of its own views, should mollify public clamor by agreeing to give suspension of all short-selling a fair test. But, as if the butchering of security prices had not already gone to unconscionable extremes, short-selling still goes gaily on.

AND OTHER individuals and groups who, instead of going the limit in the way of patriotic, stabilizing action, have behaved more panicky, more destructively than Nero.

Surely the time has come to call a halt and to spend every energy, every resource to stay the increasingly menacing debacle.

Oklahoma Oil Field Again Under Guard

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 27.—(AP.)—A petition filed in the State Supreme Court by the H. F. Wilcox Oil and Gas Company to prevent the corporation commission from enforcing proration laws, caused Gov. W. H. Murray to place Oklahoma's oil fields under military rule again late yesterday.

The Governor's edict revoked an order issued last Friday by Robert Burns, as acting Governor, while Murray was in Hudson, N. Y., which set aside the Chief Executive's martial law order of last August.

Baltimore and Ohio Financing Arranged

NEW YORK, May 27.—(AP.)—The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company, which paid off $8,000,000 of maturing notes Wednesday, has completed all arrangements with its bankers for refinancing $35,000,000 of notes maturing on August 10.

The railroad, which recently received a loan of $25,500,000 from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, stated that it would not require any further assistance in completing its refinancing, which involved a total of $43,000,000.

BRITAIN BUYS MORE GOLD

NEW YORK, May 27.—(INS.)—Great Britain today continued her heavy gold purchases, considered in well-informed quarters a preliminary to her return to the gold standard. The Bank of England announced it had acquired £1,233,918 of bar gold.

With the acquisition several days ago of more than $19,000,000 of the yellow metal in New York and Paris, this brings the total to nearly $24,000,000 since the British central institution began building up its gold reserve.

Part of the gold acquired will go to England today in the shipments of about $30,000,000 in the yellow metal to continental nations. The gold flow from this country continued at a high rate despite the improvement in the dollar against foreign currencies.

STOCKS HEAVY AS TRADING SLACKENS

Selling Still Centered on Rails, Tobaccos, Utilities; Watchful Attitude Taken

NEW YORK, May 27.—(AP.)—The stock market settled into a watchful waiting attitude today, after yesterday's late upturn.

The non-partisan statement of Senatorial leaders expressing determination to balance the budget, together with reports of a swing toward the manufacturers sales tax, were widely described in banking and brokerage quarters as encouraging. The approach of the holiday week-end, however, tended to discourage extension of stock market commitments, and the persistent trickle of liquidation imparted a somewhat heavy tone in extremely quiet trading.

The liquidation was still concentrated in utilities, tobaccos, rails and food shares. A number of leaders such as United States Steel, American Can and Standard of New Jersey continued to resist the downward trend.

Business leaders point to the thoroughly sold out condition of the country, particularly in regard to inventories of goods, as placing it in a position to move forward, once hangover uncertainties can be removed. Wall street, however, showed little disposition to attempt to anticipate a final agreement upon federal tax measures by constructive activity in the securities markets. Brokerage quarters were inclined to the view that there had been so many disappointments that definite action would be necessary. In the meantime, business and trade reports still failed to provide litle encouragement. The weekly mercantile reviews were somewhat confusing. Dun's spoke rather cheerfully of a pickup in retail trade, with good weather and the approach of the Memorial Day holiday, while Bradstreet's dwelt on the depressed state of industry.

Bank Acceptances In Better Demand

NEW YORK, May 27.—The Bankers' acceptance market is more active, with demand strong. Names which have recently been difficult to move, are selling more rapidly. Offerings are small. Asking rates are unchanged at 1/8 of 1 per cent up to 90 days; 1 per cent for 120 days and 1 1/4 per cent for 150 to 180 days.

WALL STREET CHIEF CITADEL OF GLOOM

Lack of Banker Leadership Most Discouraging Factor; Business Pick Up Needed

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER
United News

NEW YORK, May 27.

Returning from a short visit to the middle west and to the nation's capital, I again found Wall street the chief citadel of blueness.

The unreasoning pessimism at the financial center is discouraging to all who look to bankers for leadership. The lack of discrimination, in conditions and as a result of the sensible ing of values is now possible for those who have retained a fragment of liquid capital to buy claims on prospects which are sound but for a more propitious time.

Mr. Rukeyser

For periods the monthly stock market which in 1929 continued to rise for more than two months after business had begun to turn downward, needs the visible slump of an actual betterment in business before reversing its trend. If that assumption is correct what of the widely heralded capacity of the stock market to forever or discount the future? In earlier decades when only the insiders knew the facts the market had a prophetic character, but nowadays fundamental statistics showing the business trend are widely published.

FAITH IN WHEAT

James C. Stone chairman of the Federal Farm Board, told me that he thought it was possible that wheat might be the instrument for turning the economic tides. He believes that the prospective short crop in Kansas has injected an important new factor into the price situation.

To accelerate any bullish tendencies Mr. Stone would like authorization to send part of the stabilization corporation's accumulation of wheat to China and Germany on easy credit terms. He would like to do this by July 1, so that for the first time in half a dozen years there would be a decline in the carryover.

Even though wheat has fallen to low levels Mr. Stone thinks that stabilization efforts have been partly successful, referring with pride to the fact that July wheat futures are as high as a year ago, whereas the general price index has declined sharply. Moreover, wheat prices are 20 per cent higher than last October. He also contends that the American price has been from 6 to 35 cents a bushel over the world price parity, and he implies that Farm Board efforts are responsible.

Mr. Stone told me that, though the public seems interested only in hearing about how much money the Farm Board has lost, the agency has made undramatic progress in heightening the co-operative marketing movement and in setting up co-operation agencies to extend longer credit to farmers than the ordinary commercial bank.

MANIFOLD SCHEMES

The board of strategy headed by Owen D. Young for translating freer credit supply into better business, is considering numerous projects. One of the members has suggested that strong corporations use cash and credit to augment their low inventories taking advantage of prevailing cheap prices and thus helping to break the ice. Others have been considering inducing private companies to push forward permanent capital improvements. And it has, of course, been stressed that the banks should be urged to increase loans and investments. Instead of pleading futilely with individual banks it would be more practical to get up a round robin agreement modeled after the German standstill agreement in which banks would agree to stop reducing total loans and investments and perhaps to increase them 5 per cent in the next six months.

Conventional readers of the ticker tape are currently undervaluing the capacity of the country for economic recuperation. They are also failing to make allowance for latent leadership which at length is showing signs of becoming more alert.

Cotton Belt Bond Declared Operative

NEW YORK, May 27. (AP.)—Directors of the St. Louis Southwestern (Cotton Belt) Railway have decided to declare the refunding plan operative on condition that sufficient bonds be deposited under the plan by May 31.

The plan involves the $30,727,750 4 per cent consolidated bonds of the Cotton Belt, which mature on June 1. It had been announced that approval of 90 per cent of the holders of these bonds must be received by today if the refunding plan, which involves half payment in cash and half in new bonds, was to be carried through. Thus far, however, only 87 per cent have approved.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, May 27. The bond market continued its uncertain trend today. The United States government list was comparatively steady, most of the Liberties recording modest gains. Profit taking came into British 5½s after their yesterday's spurt. German government 5½s and Japanese 5½s added to their previous declines. French loans eased.

RESERVE CUTS U. S. BUYING

WASHINGTON, May 27. (AP.)—The Federal Reserve System slowed its purchase of government securities in the last week to $59,000,000, a drop from $81,000,000 the week before and from $98,000,000 two weeks ago.

For five weeks prior to last week the system had purchased approximately $100,000,000 in government securities each week to make available to member banks additional credit which could be used to aid business and industry throughout the nation. The total government securities held by Federal Reserve banks on May 25 was $1,525,000,000, which was $927,000,000 more than was held on the similar date a year ago. The statement also showed a decrease of $39,000,000 in money in circulation in the country, making the total on May 25 amount to $5,410,000,000. This was $776,000,000 more than was in circulation a year ago. Total Reserve bank credit on May 25 amounted to $2,048,000,000, an increase of $60,000,000 for the week.

Work Started by Gulf Oil on Development Of Barco Concession

By GEORGE H. SNYDER

WORK OF ESTABLISHING camps and making surveys on the Barco concession in Colombia by the South American Gulf Oil Company, subsidiary of the Gulf Oil Company, is underway.

The last obstacle in the way of the development of the famous oil land which has been under litigation for many years is reported to have been removed. Last summer legislation was passed confirming the arrangement with the Gulf interests. This was subject to the completion of a settlement with minority interests which is understood to have been arranged. The concession was first granted to Gen. Barco in 1905. It was acquired by Gulf in 1918 and was invalidated by the Colombian government in 1926. After a protracted dispute friendly negotiations were resumed in 1930 when President Herrera came into power.

While Gulf's dispute with the Colombian government, and the final settlement have been subject to widespread comment for many years, and the development may eventually require vast expenditures, the actual possibilities for producing oil still are uncertain. This is due to the fact that most of the 500,000 acres of land consists of unexplored jungle far removed from transportation facilities. It is located in the Eastern Andean range on the boundary of Venezuela.

* * *

Oil Men Believe Field Has Vast Possibilities

IN SPITE OF THE fact that the field has not been tested by actual drilling, oil men believe that it may become one of the world's greatest producers. This belief is based on large seepage of oil to the surface and its proximity to Venezuelan fields.

Present conditions would not make the development of a new oil field desirable but the nature and the remoteness of the country indicate that a long period of time will have to elapse before production can be developed and means provided for transportation. By that time the condition of the oil industry may be greatly changed.

* * *

Definite Program Is Provided in Agreement

THE CONCESSION will run for 50 years but, in order to keep its rights to operate, Gulf must carry out a definite program of development work. At least 125,000 acres must be exploited during the first five years and 375,000 more during the next five years.

Wells must be drilled until a certain minimum production has been reached and the company must then construct a pipe line to the coast. It has been estimated that this line would cost about $25,000,000. If production reaches a still higher level Gulf will have to build a refinery in Colombia. The Colombian Government is to receive royalties and, at the expiration of the concession, will receive all the equipment.

Brokers Pass Stamp Taxes to Customers

NEW YORK, May 27. (AP.)—Five leading odd lot houses announced that on June 6 they will tack an additional charge on stock purchases to cover increased stamp taxes. The announcement says:

"The changing rates of taxation on stock transfers imposed by the state and federal governments lead us to believe this method to be most equitable and fair to all concerned."

The exact amount of the tax will thus be borne by the stock purchaser instead of the broker who handles the transaction.

Central to Issue $75,000,000 of Bonds

WASHINGTON, May 27.—The New York Central Railroad has asked the Interstate Commerce Commission for authorization to issue $75,000,000 of its refunding and improvement mortgage 5 per cent series "C" bonds, dated October 1, 1921, and maturing October 1, 2013.

The road said it did not propose to sell the bonds at this time, but desired to have the necessary authorization in order that the bonds be available as security for any short term notes it may issue.

Dividend Notices

The J. BAKER BROTHERS, at the regular monthly meeting of the board of directors, declared a dividend of 3½ per cent on the preferred stock outstanding in stockholders of record as of May 31, and to be paid on same date.

This is the third consecutive dividend of its kind since incorporation.

COTTON PRICES STEADY, UP

NEW YORK, May 27. Cotton opened steady today 2 points up to 2 points off. Near months were steady on trade buying and covering, while later deliveries were easier, influenced by the easiness in cables.

General business was quiet and after the initial demand had been supplied, near months eased off with the rest of the list under comparatively small offerings. The market at the end of the first half hour was quiet and steady, with active months showing net losses of about 2 to 3 points.

The market steadied during the middle of the morning on a renewal of trade buying and covering with July advancing to 5.62 and December to 6.02, or about 2 to 3 points above yesterday's closing quotations.

Trading at midday was quiet and steady within a point or two of these prices.

Place Where Slain Girl Was Hidden Is Revealed by Police Authority

CHAPTER XLIV

"Dougherty!" remonstrated Thatcher Colt. "Could you wait to question Mr. Everett—"

"I'm sorry, Thatcher," rumbled Dougherty, his face a brick-red shade. "But the whole thing is getting clearer to me every second. Go ahead!"

Thatcher Colt was deliberately filling his pipe.

"I am sorry to take issue with you there, Dougherty. At this point everything gets very dark to me. I do not know what happened. All that I can safely say that I know is that Christine Quires was murdered. Somewhere in this apartment—which was not guarded at that time—an assassin was concealed. Now was the time Christine was killed. It is impossible at this stage to attempt to visualize the scene.

"We have to guess here. But from other facts that we know let us assume that we have the right to lay down a hypothesis. Then let us try to fill in the gaps and see if it all aids us."

GUESS-WORK

"Let us begin by accepting the fact that someone had a deep and malicious reason for murdering Lola. But that mysterious someone—possibly one among us here—played so deep a game that Lola was herself taken into the scheme. That is to say, the plotter told Lola that two of Lola's enemies should be killed, to avoid an expose.

"Sheer guess-work, most of that. But follow the notion and see where it leads us. Suppose that Christine had overheard this blood-thirsty temptation? She is terrified. She does not know whether to tell or not. She sends for her brother. She makes vague hints to Everett. She comes home. She finds the killer here—and the accusation is out. In the argument that follows, the killer denies everything. Christine's back is turned; the killer approaches with a box of death held high; the lid is opened and the scorpion springs upon the nearest victim. The death bite was in Christine's ear.

"So much I have to guess at—but all that follows is based on factual evidence which buttresses the rest of the story to a most convincing degree.

BODY CONCEALED

"At least, the box was thrown out of the window. But in the magic mirror of reconstruction the scene of what followed is too faint. We cannot make out the features of the killer. But from this moment on, certain other facts become more clearer. A part of the secret is being given to us, by virtue of the most common and ordinary virtues of everyday police work. By diligence and careful scrutiny we find definite indications. Mark you! When we found the body of Christine Quires, her clothes were soaking wet. Here was a clue which we could not overlook. There was no mistaking its importance. For some hours the dead body of Christine Quires had been exposed to last night's storm. Yet how was that possible? Remember that trained police operatives searched this apartment—and the terrace. Later we flooded the terrace with searchlights. Yet we found not the slightest trace. If the body of Christine had been lying out on the terrace we would have found it during our first search. But suppose even that we blundered and overlooked it. In our subsequent search we would have found in the sleet such traces of the body itself and the footsteps of those who dragged it there that we could not have overlooked them if we wanted to—especially with our blaze of searchlights. No such traces were there. The body was not concealed in this apartment. It was not on the terrace and it was not on the roof. Now where was it?

"Where was the body all those hours?" repeated the Commissioner. It was as if he were working the case out logically in his mind; as if, indeed, his thoughts had been wired for sound.

"A very simple bit of detective work has made it possible to answer that question. You will recall that certain strange marks were found on the throat of Christine Quires. They were brutal markings. The medical examiner definitely established that there was a constriction of the throat muscles sufficient to have caused death by strangulation.

"But death was not caused by strangulation. It was caused by the bite of the scorpion. The strangling of the throat had been done after death.

"Why should any murderer choke the throat of a body once it is dead? It is a waste of time, if nothing else.

"You will further recall the finding of a strap of leather, which under microscopic examination disclosed tiny particles of human skin. There then remained no further doubt in my mind that the neck of the dead girl had been encircled with a strap, tightly buckled. Why?

"There could be but one answer to that awful question.

"The body was to be suspended in some position where it could not be seen.

"Logically and inevitably then came the question: where was the body put up, to hang by its neck?

"The clue lay in the condition of the body. It was soaking wet. It had been hanging out in the storm. Not on the terrace, not on the roof, yet still out in the storm. Where could the hiding place be?

"When I found a hair of Christine wet on the floor of a room where she did not belong, the answer forced itself upon my mind. It was a horrible and ghastly answer, but inevitable.

"The body must have been hanging from one of the windows that open upon a sheer drop of 23 stories to the street.

"Once this solution was clear, confirmation was easy. One had only to look at the windows that did not open on the terrace. I found one window in Lola Carewe's room that told its own story. There was a support there for a flag pole, and through that the strap had been thrust and buckled. There were strands of wet hair from Christine's head caught in the iron stanchion, like that I had found on the floor.

"That much of the mystery was at least sufficiently clear.

Synopsis

Lola Carewe and Christine Quires are mysteriously murdered in the former's apartment. Scorpions were the instruments of death. The police suspect Guy Everett, an actor. Lola had blackmailed him. Police Commissioner Thatcher Colt learns that a young Paris bank clerk, named Basil Boucher, loved Lola. Edward Quires, Christine's brother, left his Rochester home for New York following the receipt of a telegram the day of the murders. Suspicion also points to Dr. Hugh Baldwin when it is disclosed that he purchased scorpions. Colt, calling to question Baldwin, finds him dead—from a scorpion bite. In Baldwin's desk Colt finds a statement in which the doctor says he accidentally poisoned Gaylord Gifford, Lola's husband. Lola's knowledge of this placed Baldwin in her power. She forced him to supply narcotics which she used to victimize her friends and later blackmail them. The statement says Vincent Rowland, aged attorney, was behind Lola's activities. Because of the lack of evidence against Rowland, Colt objects to his immediate arrest. A report from France says that Basil Boucher drowned himself after stealing money to buy Lola a ruby. Christine's brother, Edgar Quires, unaware of her death, is indignant when taken before Colt. After learning of the tragedy he accuses Everett. Colt calls all concerned to the Carewe home, where a physical reconstruction of the case is begun.

Now Go On

Heart of a Wife

By ADELE GARRISON

Veritzen Asks Madge to Sponsor Mrs. Arlen and Avis

So this was the boon Philip Veritzen wished me to grant him: the social sponsoring of Mrs. Arlen and her daughter, Avis, the two women for whom I had conceived, upon meeting them, a dislike greater than that I had ever felt for any other woman. Not even Grace Draper, the woman whose diabolical schemes had shadowed my life until her tragic death by suicide ended the menace, had so given me the feeling of repulsion amounting almost to loathing that I felt towards Avis Arlen, and in a lesser degree towards her mother.

There even had been a certain pity mingled with the fear of Grace Draper which always had been mine, but there was no pity, or any other feeling except loathing, in my heart for Avis Arlen. Grace Draper had had the excuse of a mad, destroying love for her actions. I knew that at any moment of her life the old simile of being "cut up into inch pieces" would have served as a symbol for what she would have been willing to sacrifice for Dicky. But Avis Arlen was as clammy and as bloodless as the cobra to which Mary had likened her on that memorial evening when she tried to assume an ownership of Noel that we all knew was false and which Mary had challenged in a vehement, highly effective, though somewhat amusing outburst.

STUDIED AVIS

If I read Avis Alen aright, and my long experience with girls of her age told me that I did, she was absolutely incapable of a real emotion, except an overweening self-love. Vanity was the mainspring of all her actions, and I was sure that she found the most satisfying expression of it in trying to lure a man from whatever feminine allegiance was his at the time of her meeting with him.

Of course I knew the reason for his anxiety to have me on friendly social terms with Avis Arlen and her mother. I knew that he was trying in every way possible to break up the engagement between his son and Mary, without stultifying the letter of the promise he had made to me to interfere with them.

But did he mean really to substitute her for Mary, or was he using her only as a means to an end? Would he sacrifice her in turn as ruthlessly as he now appeared determined to sacrifice Mary?

I could not credit this latter premise, for the girl was the daughter of his dearest friend who had died within the last two years. Yet I knew how strong had been his fantastic half-mad desire to have Noel marry the Princess Olina who had lived incognito at The Larches near the farmhouse during the preceding summer. If he cherished this hope, Olina's marriage to King Georges of Trees had not yet been solemnized; nothing was too bizarre or too ruthless to credit him.

QUESTIONS VERITZEN

It was a desire rooted in his own origins, for the same blood ran in his veins as in those of the young princess who had fancied herself in love with Noel before she found her real romance in King Georges of Trees, after that engaging youth had been given his conge by Mary. But the bar sinister was upon Philip Veritzen's birth, and he in his youth, madly loving the girl who was now Queen Olga of Transvania and the mother of Olina, had been compelled to see her won by his own cousin upon the "right hand" of the royal family.

That the experience had left a slight twist in his mentality was the interpretation I was compelled to give to the psychology which had found expression in the barbarous persecution—there were no other words to describe it—which he had shown toward Noel and Mary.

To what extent Avis Arlen figured in his future plans I could not determine. He had voiced his belief that she was a "sweet, naive child," when I had taxed him with preferring her to Mary. I had smothered a grin at his fatuity, but I wondered again if he had been deeper than I thought, if he saw through the girl, and was simply using her as a bait to lure Noel away from Mary.

In any case, I must know just where I fitted into these plans of his, and I lifted my eyes and looked at him steadily.

"I do not wish to seem ungracious," I said, "but I must know why you wish to do these things."

SUN-TELEGRAPH-WARNER THEATERS JUNIOR KOMIC CLUB

Members of the Enright Chapter of the Sun-Telegraph-Warner Theaters Junior Komic Club have many thrilling surprises in store for them at their regular meeting tomorrow morning, and every member is urged to be on hand to participate in the fun.

In addition to the dancing school for the boys and girls, there will be an added feature of great interest to the boys. We know what it's going to be, but we promised "Bill" Zeilor, manager of the Enright, we wouldn't tell, so boys come out early and see for yourself.

An organ song-fest of popular songs will give every boy and girl an opportunity to exercise their lungs. Games, with prizes for the winners, will complete the activities of the meeting.

HOW TO JOIN

If you are not a member of the Sun-Telegraph-Warner Theaters Junior Komic Club, you can join tomorrow at any of the theaters listed below and receive your membership card and button immediately from the manager. Or, if you are unable to attend the regular meeting tomorrow, send your name and address, name of your parents, school you attend, date and year of your birth, to the Secretary, Junior Komic Club, Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa., and a membership card and button will be mailed to you.

OH NOTHING MUCH. I SIMPLY MADE A LITTLE HOUR SPEECH THIS EVENING ON THE MONROE DOCTRINE, OUR GOLD SUPPLY, THE TARIFF, AND SO FORTH
A SPEECH? WHY GEORGE YOU KNOW NOTHING AT ALL ABOUT THOSE SUBJECTS. I'VE OFTEN ASKED YOU QUESTIONS AND COULD TELL YOU DIDN'T UNDERSTAND..
OH I GOT SOME HELP FROM A TYPED SPEECH THAT WAS TO BE MADE BY SENATOR YODLER, WHOSE TEETH SHIMMIED OUT OF A TAXICAB WINDOW WHILE HE WAS COMING TO THE HALL.
YOU MEAN YOU SIMPLY READ THE OTHER MAN'S SPEECH?
SOME OF IT. I USED HIS FIGURES AND SO FORTH, BUT THE REAL HOT STUFF WAS MY OWN IDEAS. AND THE BOYS LOVED IT. THEY WANT ME TO GO TO THE CONVENTION
GEORGE, YOU CAN'T IMAGINE WHAT AN IMPORTANT AIR YOU HAVE! SUCH A PUFFED-UP LOOK! YOU GET THAT WAY SO EASILY; IT'S SO SILLY!
SILLY? YOU MEAN BEING A DELEGATE IS SILLY? HELPING TO NAME THE NEXT PRESIDENT IS MERELY..? MY WORD, JO WHY EVEN ARGUE ABOUT A THING LIKE THAT?

In times like these we need faith and courage. Everything's going to be all right, and if you don't think so just read the following dispatch:

WASHINGTON — House of Representatives yesterday passed Congressman Barton's bill to pay the State of Missouri 43 cents. The estimated cost of printing and passing the measure was $20.

It isn't the first cost of Congressmen—it's the upkeep.

Q. AND A. DEPARTMENT

Dear Sympathetic A. Bella—

Do you prefer bachelors or widowers? Curious.

Ans.—Aunt Bella plays no favorites, dearie, but her experience has been that a bachelor walks a girl to death and a widower talks her to death.

AND IS HIS FACE ALSO RED?

Soviet Russia's comic monthly, The Crocodile, managed to slip a letter in the to-be-signed basket of Comrade Iskhanov, director of a State shoe factory at Tiflis. Then the magazine printed the letter as follows—

To the Editors of The Crocodile:

I consider it my duty to inform you, most respected Comrade Crocodile, that through some misunderstanding I was promoted to the post of factory director which I continue to occupy.

I seldom go to the workshops. I do everything that I should not do, and do not do what I should. I am a fool. Everybody knows that and I inform you as well. I am ready to sign any paper without reading it. I am proving this to you herewith.

If I could change my general plan
I'd be an India rubber man,
And at the motion picture show,
Then at a visit to the zoo
Rub noses with the kangaroo,
And if I got into a fight,
I'd run, then turn and use my right!
And think of all the girlish charms
That I could hold within my arms!
The little that I'd eat and drink
Would go a long way, don't you think?
A long long way for you will note
'Twould travel through a lot of throat
Yes, I'd like nothing better than
To be an India rubber man.

Wharf Improvements

Widening of Duquesne Way and Water Street Would Furnish Jobs and Make the City More Attractive.

At the recent election the people of Pittsburgh voted $2,000,000 of bonds for work relief and $3,000,000 for direct relief of the unemployed.

A delegation from the Chamber of Commerce called upon City Council Wednesday and recommended that the wharves be improved, not only because the improvement is desirable in itself, but also for the sake of furnishing jobs to idle men.

The consensus of Council appeared to be that the proposal was meritorious. Doubt was expressed, however, as to the city's ability to raise the necessary money.

Is there any reason why the $2,000,000 bond issue authorized by the people should not be used for the purpose?

The bond issue will necessitate an increase in the property tax; but the people presumably took that into consideration in authorizing it.

And regrettable as any increase to the taxpayers' burden is, it is to be borne in mind that they will get something in return for their money if it is spent on public improvements instead of being disbursed as a dole.

Protect Bank Deposits

The measure is now before the House with a favorable report from its Committee on Banking and Currency.

This fund would be created out of $167,000,000 in franchise taxes paid by banks of the reserve system, $150,000,000 from surpluses now in the hands of the banks, and an assessment of $200,000,000.

This fund would be administered by a board to be composed of the Secretary of the Treasury, the Comptroller of the Currency, and three members appointed by the President and confirmed by the Senate.

Authority to liquidate closed banks and pay off depositors in full at any time after a bank is closed would be delegated to this board.

Upon payment of an assessment of double the amount required of member banks of the reserve system, state banks not members of the Federal Reserve system would be permitted to contribute to, and participate in, the guarantee fund provided by the Steagall bill.

All national banks, numbering about 6,300, are now required by law to be members of the Federal Reserve system. Membership in the system, however, is optional with state banks.

Although the Federal Reserve was inaugurated 18 years ago, less than 8,000 out of 20,000 banks in this country are today members of the system.

By the enactment into law of the Steagall bill, Congress will provide better protection for all depositors in banks which are members of the Federal Reserve system and encourage all state banks to follow federal banks into the Federal Reserve system.

And until all banks in the United States receive the effective national supervision now enjoyed by member banks of the Federal Reserve, there can be no unified control over the banking resources of the United States.

Patriotism Stimulated

The Washington Essay Contest Sponsored by William Randolph Hearst Is a Great Success.

The Sun-Telegraph, a Hearst newspaper, is proud of the great success of the George Washington bicentennial essay contest sponsored by William Randolph Hearst.

Patriotism must have been greatly stimulated in the Pittsburgh district by the study given the address by so many of the young people.

Miss Mary Louise Holzapfel, a junior in Holy Rosary High School, who has been awarded the first prize, a gold cup and $100, has done creditable work.

Winners of the other medals will be announced in the Sunday Sun-Telegraph.

Hope for Clean Streams

The Method Found by Pennsylvania Engineers for Stopping Mine Drainage Pollution Is Promising.

More than anything else, the pollution of Western Pennsylvania's streams is due to the sulphuric acid in the drainage from coal mines.

The sulphur in mine drainage kills fish and makes the streams unfit even for bathing. It is ruinous to use such water in the boilers of steam engines; in a short time the boilers are destroyed.

The coal operators have protested that it would drive them out of business to forbid them to let their drainage enter the streams, since the expense would be prohibitive.

Now, however, comes the announcement that Pennsylvania engineers have found a way by which the mine water can be made alkaline, and so harmless, before it is released into the streams. Gov. Pinchot issued a hopeful statement on the subject yesterday.

Fulfillment of this promise will be a blessing.

When visionaries in Congress, putting selfish interests above the needs of the nation, pass confiscatory tax laws, such as the "soak-the-rich" bloc has attempted to do at Washington, they defeat the very purposes of the enactment—the raising of revenue to meet governmental costs.

For the wealth of the country suddenly turns its holdings into tax-exempt securities and escapes taxation, leaving the revenue, if it is to be raised at all, to be raised by cruel and unjust imposts on the poor, by hampering levies on business and by nuisance taxes.

A general manufacturers' sales tax (fairest, surest, least burdensome of all) would solve the tax problem for the national budget balances.

Canada Reduces Taxes By Control of Liquor

By M. GRATTAN O'LEARY,
Noted Canadian Journalist.

This is the first of a series of three articles prepared specially for the New York American and other Hearst newspapers by this noted Canadian observer. The others will follow shortly.

TO advise the United States on its fiscal policy is not the task of Canadians. But the American taxpayer, faced with a $2,500,000,000 Treasury deficit, and mounting taxation, may be interested in a report by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics dealing with the financial workings of government liquor control in Canada. This authoritative survey analyzes the financial aspect of government control in the different provinces, and, among other things, shows:

1. That during the past 10 years the Dominion has secured from liquor control profits a revenue of $339,130,083.

2. That during the past two years of depression, Dominion revenue from liquor taxes has far exceeded income from the sales tax, been almost as great as income from the income tax.

3. That the amount of federal liquor revenue last year was almost sufficiently large to take care of the Dominion's share of expenditure on unemployment relief.

4. That liquor revenue, or profit on sales, has operated to keep down the debts and the tax rates of all Canadian provinces; that it is presently being used to take care of their share of unemployment relief; and that without it all of the provinces would be facing heavy deficits.

5. That notwithstanding all of these things the past two years have seen a decline in the total and per capita liquor consumption of the Canadian people.

THE survey of the bureau of statistics shows that in the year 1931 alone the net revenue of eight provinces from liquor sales exceeded $30,000,000; that the net revenue of the same provinces from five years of liquor sales totaled $152,634,926. This, roughly, was 20 per cent of their total incomes.

What this liquor revenue means to the financial position of these provinces, to their tax rate, to their escape from debt and deficits, may be seen by a glance at the public accounts of the largest province, Ontario.

In 1927 Ontario had a SURPLUS of $542,000; without liquor revenue it would have had a DEFICIT of $4,212,000. In 1928 the province had a surplus of $228,000; without liquor revenue it would have had a DEFICIT of $8,500,000.

In 1929 there was a SURPLUS of $2,642,000; without liquor revenue there would have been a DEFICIT of $8,000,000.

In 1930 there was a DEFICIT of $646,000; without liquor revenue the DEFICIT would have been $10,900,000.

In 1931 there was a DEFICIT of $456,000; without liquor revenue IT WOULD HAVE BEEN $9,823,000.

Taking the five year period, Ontario's SURPLUS was $2,310,000. Without liquor revenues there would have been a deficit of $41,485,000. Ontario either would have been compelled to forego considerable expenditure on social and progressive legislation, or to increase the general taxation of her people, or to have added some $40,000,000 to her debt, with consequent heavier fixed charges.

And as in Ontario, so with the other provinces.

In all Canadian provinces general taxation has been kept at a reasonably low level, on a substantially lower plane than would have been the case had there been no system of government liquor sales. The position may be illustrated by what took place this year in the province of Ontario, where the government increased taxation by about $4,000,000. Without liquor revenue, and in order to balance its budget, it would have had to increase taxation by at least $8,000,000.

LIQUOR profits, in fact, constitute the largest single item of revenue collected by the provinces, being greater than the gasoline tax, greater than the motor vehicles tax. Moreover, like all other forms of taxation, it is ONLY PAID BY THOSE WHO WISH TO PAY IT, who voluntarily buy liquor; and a great deal of it is contributed not by the people of the provinces themselves, but by the tourist trade.

The plain truth is that in Canada the control and sale of liquor has ceased to be a moral question, has become a purely financial question. It has become a question of diverting to the treasury liquor profits that USED TO GO TO PRIVATE LIQUOR AND BOOTLEGGING INTERESTS; a problem of using these profits to promote social and progressive legislation, while, at the same time, maintaining general taxation at a reasonable level and avoiding debts and deficits.

For all of the provinces, indeed, revenue from government liquor control has been enormously beneficial. During the past 10 years, and almost wholly because of liquor profits, there has been built up a system of magnificent highways, these, with their promotion of the tourist trade, now Canada's second largest industry, contributing toward the general prosperity.

In addition, the provincial governments have used liquor revenue to provide old age pensions, to give state allowances to widows with young children, to finance a workmen's compensation act, to heighten grants for education.

Even the most uncompromising of prohibitionists admit that in all spheres of social service and of advanced legislation, tremendous improvements have been made since the advent of liquor control.

Admittedly, too, the liquor systems maintained by the provinces have been in large measure responsible for the Canadian tourist trade. This trade last year left $250,000,000 in Canada—with the exception of the three previous years, the biggest tourist year in the Dominion's history.

The Ingenious Female

Somebody is always rising to remark that women are not creative—and that no woman has ever written, painted or invented anything original or immortal. That no woman has ever done anything that some man has not done or could not do better.

* * *

Cock-a-doodle-do! Leaving Rosa Bonheur, Mme. Curie and George Eliot out of the picture, we'll admit for the sake of argument, that, thus far, woman has not done much along creative and inventive lines. But give her a CHANCE. Ever since Eve made a snappy spring ensemble without needle and thread, most of the female ingenuity has been consumed in doing without things.

YOU know how it is. Whatever a man does, from inventing a machine to cleaning the car or painting the piazza, putting on a tire or getting up a meal, he must have all the tools, fixings and mechanical contrivances with which to do it.

* * *

* * *

But, all a woman needs in an emergency is her own wit and ingenuity and any implement at hand. A little thing like the lack of a screwdriver or a hammer cannot balk her purpose.

* * *

When a man fixes a lock or hangs a picture or puts up the portieres it takes the whole family to wait on him. He yelps for nails, a hammer, a ladder and "the old screwdriver." But a woman can hang a picture with a piece of string, a few thumbtacks and the hairbrush, or make a lock work with a bent hairpin or an old nail-file. Or she can climb up on a kitchen chair and the dictionary and put up the new portieres with a paper of pins.

A man will walk a mile in order to have his hair trimmed by an expert, but almost any woman can cut her own hair with the garden shears.

* * *

A man's hat must be a HAT, properly cut, blocked, shaped and sized by a professional, but a woman can wind an old piece of crepe-de-chine around the remains of a wire basket and make a snappy little turban in 20 minutes.

* * *

A man's idea of making a home is to build a house and fill it with plumbing, furnaces, electric wires and furniture. But a woman can take an army tent or a dingy back room in a cheap hotel and string a few draperies, cushions and photographs around it and make a "home" of it—if she's born with the "homing instinct."

* * *

When a man tries to get a one-course breakfast there isn't a clean dish or pan or spoon left in the place, and the kitchen looks like a battlefield. But a woman can cook a five-course dinner on a one-burner electric grill and serve it on a tea-wagon.

* * *

Of course, men have invented all the ingenius implements and labor-saving devices. They HAD to—because they NEEDED them!

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, May 27.—Thoughts while strolling: The Ozark Tea Room. Should attract the ridge hoppers. Ann Pennington suggests cherry blossoms. Overheard: "Every now and then I have a glimmer of consciousness." Arthur Klein's tight collars.

Few names sound so soapy as Cyril Hume's. Unless it's that of the chorus girl, Eddlish Foame. One-word description of Ed Wynn—fluttery. Jack Pulaski of Variety. The chalky vapor of a midsummer drizzle. Like the gray-white of Havre. Peggy Joyce should abandon that platinum effect.

Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick, a Buffalo (N. Y.) boy, who made good in the city. The desolation of those blue-stockinged clubs. I could stand all day before the ornate windows of the fancy food shops. Buns, jams, tarts, sausage rolls, spiced hams. Let me stand here and bleed!

Nothing looks smarter than those pert little cabs with the sleek combed horses. George McManus is a spat wearer, too. Wonder if others feel humble before those piously embroidered mottoes. Such as "Fear God Above Every Thynge." That aristocratic movie called "The Little."

People wander these days, whereas they used to gallop. And the snarl is a smile. Maybe the panic was good for us after all. But I don't care for another, thanks. Bicycles everywhere. Tony Biddle's minstrel collar. Something coquettish about the name Kathleen. Richard Dix reminds me of Milton Sills.

Side street grogs. With capers standing a few feet away. Robert Milton's flaming red hair. The Broadway Tabernacle—the spot of calm in the hurricane's vortex. Boy, am I getting off philosophy. Flappers leading Great Danes by collars. Irony: Cunard ships were once in African slave trade.

The bewildered blinking of those leaving matinees. Lenny Bergman has a different tie pin for every day in the year. I'm always mixing up Walter Dean Goldbeck and Dan Sayre Grosbeck. Wonder if Islam is right—all blue-eyed people are sinners? Tony Wons always sounds as though he just woke up.

She was a daguerreotype lady with widely spaced innocent eyes and long auburn hair twisted in a mid-Victorian knot. To the casual passerby she suggested arbored archways and crinolines. At Forty-ninth street and Fifth avenue she obeyed a policeman's come-on wave and escaped taxi wheels by an eyelash. In the rasping croak of a water-front harridan she let go a volley of epithets that even brought a flush to the crossing cop. Then she walked daintily on. New York!

* * *

The veteran minstrel, Willis P. Sweatman, spent his declining years at the Lambs. Most of the time he lounged in valetudinarian ease in the card room. For many days a quick-stepping actor would pass behind his chair with: "Hello, Willis, what's new?" Before the octogenarian could turn, the questioner was gone. This went on for months with increasing irritation. One day following "Hello, Willis, what's new?" he gave a sudden turn and screamed: "New York, New Haven and neuritis, you blankety-blank."

* * *

Sweatman trouped in the halycon days of Hoey and Evans. Old Hoss Evans was a dazzling figure in the theater of that day. Especially for his pink striped shirt. Roscoe Peacock, grandest of the current recallers, revives a memory of him in "A Parlor Match." Evans was stealing a red hot stove and running across the stage with it. Then he galloped across with a stolen pullet, producing an egg almost as large as the chicken itself, exclaiming "I don't believe it." My father used to try to tell of the incident to his nightly gang of pitch players. But laughter always overcome him.

* * *

On 8th avenue, in a single block are a Greek barber shop, an Italian restaurant, a Swedish massage parlor, a British tobacco shop, a Hindu crystal gazer's office, a French drug store and an Indian relic shop.

And someone tells me Chinatown has not only a red-haired Chinaman, but a Chinese flapper with a chignon of blonde hair. At the moment, however, I am notched to 103 over a lady with jet black hair and a white cockatoo streak in a soda cashier's cage in West 41st street. My next leap through an emotional hoop may be for an Albino from Cuba. I'm fickle that way.

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

Speakeasy or saloon—which is the greater evil to a land?

We asked for answers.

That they BOTH are evil we did not deny. That drunkenness in any form, from any source, is abominable and tragic we never doubted. But—

So how about it? Is the speakeasy as vile as the old-fashioned saloon, or more so? And, since it seems that we haven't the gumption to swear off entirely, which is the lesser evil—speakeasy or saloon?

Here's a letter giving one woman's opinion. I don't know whether it's on your side of the fence or not, but whichever side you're on, this is a sincere bit of evidence worthy of your consideration.

My Dear Miss Robinson—

I am much interested in your comparison of the conditions in this country before and since prohibition. I am a white-haired grandmother now, and I remember very distinctly what pre-prohibition days were like, for at 17 I worked as office assistant in a wholesale liquor house.

I literally worked in the midst of liquor, all the time. There were rows and rows of barrels filled with whisky. The walls were lined with bottled goods and the cellar filled with casks containing hundreds of gallons of wine.

The working force were all young people. The force consisted of two floor salesmen, two traveling men, one shipping clerk, the bookkeeper and myself, all under 30 years.

IN ALL THE TIME I WAS EMPLOYED IN THIS ESTABLISHMENT I NEVER SAW ONE OF THOSE YOUNG PEOPLE UNDER THE INFLUENCE OF LIQUOR.

The shipping clerk and I often went on sleighing parties 10 or 12 miles out of town, in zero weather, with every opportunity and excuse to take any amount of any kind of beverage.

Why? I didn't analyze it then, because I saw nothing unusual in our temperance. But now I know that we were withheld by a public opinion so deep that it became an unconscious law to every decent young person. It was simply unheard of for young people to drink. Drinking was a thing that had its certain place and standing. People who did it to excess had a certain name. People took that so for granted that it wasn't even discussed.

I ASK YOU TO COMPARE THAT WITH CONDITIONS AS YOU AND I KNOW THEM TODAY.

I have always been a believer in temperance and a worker toward that end, not because the evil of excessive drink ever touched my own fireside, but out of sympathy for others less fortunate. The five years after prohibition did not bother me, one way or the other. Then tragedy fell on me. My husband became tubercular. He needed liquor, the doctor said, as a stimulant to counteract his exhaustion.

I WANTED TO KEEP THE LAW OF MY COUNTRY, BUT I COULD NOT AFFORD TO BUY THAT LIQUOR LEGALLY. I HAD TO OBTAIN IT IN SOME OTHER WAY. SO I WOULD PLACE THE PRICE UNDER A BRICK ON THE FRONT PORCH AND THE LIQUOR WOULD BE THERE IN THE MORNING.

Prohibition made me a law breaker for the sake of the man I loved. It made me think, too.

I saw that what is denied the poor man as a medicine on his death bed can be purchased openly and easily by anyone possessing the price.

I SAW THAT A LAW THAT, WHICH PERMITS DISCRIMINATION BETWEEN THE RICH AND THE POOR, IS A ROTTEN LAW AT HEART AND MUST HAVE ROTTEN RESULTS. AND SO I BECAME ONE OF PROHIBITION'S MOST BITTER ENEMIES.

I am an old woman now, but I shall fight as long as I live to put the liquor traffic where it belongs. I would rather see liquor wiped off the face of the earth, but since it can't be, I say put drink and drinkers where they belong—out in the open—and let the public price them and judge them as they deserve to be priced and judged.

Then, perhaps, we'll get honest trade back again, and restore the old shame that people felt about drinking.
